Drivers Return To Work

Normal operations in the trucking lines directly serving Sikeston are expected to be resumed by the end of the week spokesmen for the three firms said today.

Some of the truckers were called in to resume work today following settlement of the Trucking Employers Association shutdown called during the weekend.

Ross Milburn, terminal manager of Tucker Trucking Lines, Industrial Drive, said six of the company's 22 truck drivers were returned to work today.

John Stewart, union steward at Tucker's for Teamsters 574 in Cape Girardeau, said normal operations here would probably be resumed by Friday.

Twelve truckers employed by Righter Trucking Co., Inc., 1115 West Malone, were returned to work today, Dean Righter, terminal manager said.

Some backlog of orders has accumulated, but normal operations are expected to be resumed tomorrow, Righter said.

Gordon Hart, manager of trucking terminals in Sikeston, Dexter, Malden and Poplar Bluff, reported that about 35 truckers who work out of the terminals returned today.

Truck Strike Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trucks began hauling the nation's goods to market again today after a national contract agreement with the Teamsters Union ended a three-day industry lockout.

The three-year contract including an estimated 50-cent wage hike must still be ratified by 450,000 workers in some 12,000 trucking firms, but Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons urged the industry to immediately "get our people back to work."

Details of the pact were not announced.

Agreement by Trucking Employers Inc. got trucks rolling again within hours after the 1 a.m. settlement and was expected to end scattered panic buying, mass layoffs in some industries and a nationwide scare of growing shortages of many commodities.

Trucking Employers Inc. had called the lockout by some 1,500 of the nation's biggest firms in response to a rash of small Teamsters strikes that involved a few hundred men in a dozen or so cities.

"We are calling off our defensive shutdown," M. M. Gordon, president of TEI, said after the

SEMO Mining Boom Has Unlimited Promise

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) —The mineral boom in Missouri's southeastern Ozarks is so vast it is hard to grasp.

Its eventual economic impact is still a matter of conjecture. But the effects are beginning to be felt already.

When all of the mines, mills and smelters get into production some of the experts think Missouri will be the leading lead producing area in the world.

It could mean as much as approximately $400 million added to the state's economy.

Flying over the area, generally in Dent, Reynolds and Iron counties, you see one development after the other—all costing millions of dollars and all evidence of the confidence that huge companies in the mineral industries have in the area.

Australia is the leading lead producer in the world now, with about 400,000 tons a year.

By 1970, Missouri's production is expected to approach that figure according to Dr. Wallace B. Howe, assistant state geologist. He thinks lead production in the United States will increase so rapidly in the next few years that the nation no longer will have to import any lead.

Always assuming, of course, that market conditions hold up. Current prices are well over the break-even point on production costs.

Missouri has been the biggest lead producer in the United States for 58 of the last 59 years. It's getting bigger all the time.

And you have to add the increasing production of high grade iron ore plus the byproducts such as zinc, copper, silver, cadmium and sulphuric acid.

Earlier this year, Heyward Wharton, economic geologist with the Missouri Geological Survey, figured the new capital investment in the iron industry at $86.3 million, lead smelters at $37 million and lead mines and mills at $125.5 million.

That was based on $25 million estimated for a new iron pellet plant at Pilot Knob, scene of a bloody Civil War battle. But even before the first phase of construction was completed, the company boosted that by $10 million to $53 million.

By 1968 the estimated annual production would amount to around $164.5 million from both iron and lead, compared with $66.5.

He estimated the annual payroll would be about $30.8 million for some 4,300 employes.

Eight Streets Will Receive Asphalt Coats

Asphalt seal surfaces will be added to eight Sikeston streets in the next few days, City Manager W. Raymert Miller said today.

Work has begun on repairing Davis Road from Baker Lane to Wakefield. Allen Boulevard from Baker Lane to Wakefield also will be graded for a six inch soil cement base, and topped with an asphalt seal.

Other streets to receive asphalt seal toppings are, Baker Lane from Allen to Davis Road; Helen street from Kingshighway to Main; Broadway from Kentucky to Ables; Ruth street from the railroad to South West street; School street from Murray Lane to William, and North street from Frisco to North West street.

Weather permitting the whole resurfacing can possibly be accomplished in about a week, Miller said.

W. S. McMullin Construction Co., route two, has the contract.

Young Dexter Father Dies Beneath Auto

A young Dexter father, Jackie Wayne Jones, 22, was killed Tuesday at 6 p.m., when he was pinned under his 1956 Pontiac that left route F, two miles south of Aid in Stoddard county and overturned in a ditch.

Jones lost control of his speeding car on a curve skidded on and off the road before leaving it again and stopping in the ditch.

Jones had been employed in Michigan and had returned for a visit with his family.

He was born Oct. 28, 1944 in Ottawa, Kan., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones. He was married in Dexter to Paulett Sanders March 21, 1966. She and an infant son, Tony Wayne Jones, survive.

Johnson Uses Jet Speed To Head off Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, operating with jet plane speed in a ground transport crisis, signed into law today the resolution barring a nationwide railroad strike for an extra 20 days.

The National Mediation Board announced it had received word the President, at a hemispheric summit meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, had affixed the signature that made the measure effective. Almost simultaneously word of the signing came in dispatches from Punta del Este.

Congress. showing its own strong burst of speed, had passed the measures only Tuesday.

Early morning action by the chief executive made it clear the document had been hurried to him in an overnight flight to make sure of heading off the proposed walkout of railroad shopcraft workers at 12:01 a.m. Thursday. Flight time is 10 hours or more.

Johnson Begins Conference With 18 Latin American Chiefs of State

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—In a converted gambling casino, President Johnson faced 18 Latin American chiefs of state today for the first session of a summit conference on the economic future of the nations south of the U.S. border.

The chiefs of state began what unquestionably will be two days of hard bargaining over how to shape the future of Latin America's 230 million people and the role the United States will play in it.

Their first full meeting was an informal one but all were aware their foreign ministers had been obliged to leave over for them, for lack of agreement, the touchiest of the issues this summit conference must tackle.

Most of Latin America's leaders wanted from Johnson more than just promises and some of what they wanted he was not in a position to give.

The presidents entered the swank San Rafael seaside hotel between lines of grenadiers resplendent in 19th century style blue and red uniforms.

Glittering sabers flicked stiffly to attention each time a chief of state passed down a long hall to shake the hand of the host, President Oscar D. Gestido of Uruguay.

In the meeting room, the presidents took their assigned places at a huge, wooden circular table covered with green felt, occupying an area that only a short time before had throbbed with the excitement of gaming tables.

Before the first full informal session, Johnson continued his series of face-to-face meetings with individual chief executives.

He must deal with Latin American demands, which the United States is resisting, and he lacks advance blanket approval from the U.S. Congress to increase commitments to the rest of the hemisphere.

The U.S. President had a breakfast meeting with President Arthur da Costa e Silva of Brazil and shortly after met with President Fernando Belaunde Terry of Peru. They talked about the broad scopes of the problems with which this summit must deal. Johnson recalled that Belaunde had studied in Texas, where he was a friend of Mrs. Johnson. He told reporters he and Costa e Silva talked about common problems and "the leadership the presidents of Latin America are giving to this hemisphere."

In advance of the first formal summit session, the foreign ministers agreed on a preamble to the final conference declaration calling for economic integration of Latin America and creation of a common market. The preamble carried a U.S. pledge to support the common market.

Even this draft — a synthesis of Brazilian and U.S. proposals plus several dozen amendments — was heading into shoals. Representatives of a number of nations said they wanted another look at it before giving their final approval.

Despite four days of preliminary discussion, the foreign ministers were obliged for lack of agreement to leave the touchiest issues for their chiefs to deal with. President Johnson was faced by Latin-American demands which he has to resist because he lacks blanket approval from the U.S. Congress to increase U.S. commitments to the southern part of the hemisphere.

The United States, while strongly supporting the move for gradual creation of a common market, also is pushing the idea that if Latin America is to emerge into the 20th century free of violent revolution, it must be largely a do-it-yourself proposition.

A number of Latin-American nations have been demanding that the United States give preferential treatment to their goods in the U.S. market and that Washington permit the use of Alliance for Progress dollars in the world market, rather than restrict them to purchases in the United States. With its unfavorable balance of payments problem, the United States cannot bow to these demands.

A U.S. government source has said that Johnson's individual talks with the Latin-American presidents will probably be more important than the formal summit sessions. The U.S. President spent a busy day Tuesday.

Significantly, Johnson went to the headquarters of President Raul Leoni of Venezuela and talked with him for an hour and 20 minutes, more time than he devoted to private conversation with any of the other chiefs of state.

Leoni is a key figure. He represents the democratic left and is the head of a country with bright economic prospects. He is dead set against the inclusion in the preamble to the final declaration of any political phraseology, such as avowed continental resistance to Communist subversion. Evidently, President Johnson has been eager to have such language incorporated in the preamble.

The preamble draft covers subjects on which the United States and Latin nations can speak with a single voice, subjects on which the Latins speak for themselves and subjects on which the United States stands alone. Thus the preamble, if accepted in this form, would represent division as much as unity in the inter- American family.

The United States strongly supports the idea of the Latin-American common market and has offered to help tide over the American nations while they adjust their trade patterns. But resisting U.S. efforts to share in launching the common market.

President Johnson faced some tough bargaining. However, he made known that he was on hand primarily to listen, a statement reminiscent of those he made in Manila during the Vietnam summit meeting last October.

President Johnson was scheduled to meet with President Arturo Costa e Silva of Brazil and with President Fernando Belaunde Terry of Peru during the day.

Punta del Este was off limits to the public for the duration of the conference, but 70 miles away in Montevideo police broke up an attempt by about 200 members of a Communist-controlled student group to march down the main street in protest against the summit meeting.

A ring of police kept teachers, students and other pedestrians away from the university and the demonstrators said a student protest strike they had called was a success. The group remained inside the campus today, where police may not go because of the university's autonomous status.

House Approves Bill Changing Copyright Laws

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON AP -- The House has overwhelmingly approved the first general overhaul of the nation's complex copyright laws since 1909.

Compromise agreements eliminating a section relating to community antenna television — CATV — systems and revising a provision covering juke boxes paved the way toward the 379-29 roll-call vote passing the bill Tuesday and sending it to the Senate.

Hearings began last month before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee. Final action on the bill is expected later this year.

The Senate panel heard sultry singer Julie London demonstrate Tuesday her contention that the new copyright law should provide long - term record royalties for performers as well as composers.

The vehicle for Miss London's demonstration of song styling was the theme song of television's Mickey Mouse Club. She played a recording of that marching song for children, then one of her own which transformed the song into a sad ballad.

In other Capitol Hill action, the House Judiciary Committee okayed a bill that could force reapportionment in many states by 1972. The measure would limit deviations in size of congressional districts to 30 per cent in 1968 and to 10 per cent in 1972.

The House-passed copyright bill extends coverage time for authors, playwrights, composers and lyricists and takes into account technological advances since 1909. For example, it provides copyright coverage for material fed into computers and stored there.

Patrolman Encounters Experience

POPLAR BLUFF (AP) - Highway Patrolman Ronald Jones had an illuminating experience when he stopped three vehicles near Poplar Bluff recently.

He wrote a warning notice to the driver of a pickup truck which had no tail light. As he was writing, another pickup truck passed with only one headlight. It was the brother of the first driver.

Down the road trooper Jones flagged a car with only one headlight. It was the mother of the first two drivers. She said she was glad her husband stayed home that night.

House Bill Calls for School Bus Issue Vote

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- The Missouri House today passed a proposal that could settle one of its most pressing problems over the past 20 years -- whether state aid should be allowed toward the transportation of students of private and parochial schools.

The vote was 91-71. It now goes to the Senate.

If passed there it would go on the general or a special election ballot as a change in the 1945 Missouri constitution. Now, only students of public schools may get free transportation, financed by the state.

The major argument was to let the voters decide the years -long issue although some opponents stuck to their old arguments that it would eliminate the constitutional separation of church and state.

Sponsors said it was a safety and welfare measure.

There is a bill pending which would put the proposal into immediate effect if the voters approved.

Some of the dozen or so who spoke against the measure today insisted it was an explosive issue which would split components of the state's citizens for years to come. One member said it would "cause bitterness and strife and a division in many families."

The Senate passed, 20-13, a bill to raise to pay of all elective state officials.

The governor's pay would go from $25,000 to $37,500, lieutenant governor from $12,000 to $16,000, attorney general from $15,000 to $25,000 and the other elected state officials from $15,000 to $20,000.

Legislators would be paid $7,200 instead of the present $4,800 and supreme court judges would be increased from $22,500 to $26,500.

The cost of the bill is estimated at $1.5 million a year.

Also sent to the House was a bill to raise the pay of National Guardsmen on active duty to $14 a day. Enlisted men now get $3 to $8.

In a bill passing mood the Senate also sent to the House with little or no opposition bills to:

Set the time limit on felony paroles at 10 years and on misdemeanors at four years.

Allow milk to be sold in half-gallon containers or multiples thereof,

Raise the pay of St. Louis election judges and clerks from $15 to $18 a day.

Clear the way for construction of a state office building in St. Louis County with a provision that some of the space could be rented to county agencies to help pay off the bonds.

Allow St. Louis County police to arrest on suspicion of a misdemeanor the same as in St. Louis and Kansas City.

The Senate Judiciary Committee decided to draft a substitute bill for a House passed measure designed to ban fraud-

170 New Houses Built In Madrid County

NEW MADRID -- Results of an inventory of community development activities in New Madrid County were announced by Richard T. Bartlett, chairman of the county technical action panel, which conducted it.

The panel is made up of representatives of state and federal agencies.

The inventory showed there are 12 groups in New Madrid county working on community improvement projects. Projects completed during the year were overall development plan, feasibility study on pulp mill, and food preparation component of economic opportunity.

No new industries or businesses were established in 1966. 170 new houses were built in the county with a value of $1,700,000. The Farmers Home Administration furnished financing for 100 of them.

One industry or business in the county went out of business. This had an investment value of $300,000.

Projects expected to be completed during the year are comprehensive planning, three new water systems, and a new low cost housing project.

In the opinion of panel members, these areas of development represent the greatest potential for community improvement: public housing, watershed work, obtaining additional industry, community betterment program, and city dumping areas.

Powell Wins By Landslide

NEW YORK (AP) - For the second time in four months, the House of Representatives faces the sticky problem of what to do with Adam Clatyon Powell, who won a lopsided election victory in absentia in his Harlem constituency Tuesday.

While the free-wheeling congressman fished in Gulf Stream waters off his Bimini island retreat, 32,000 Harlem voters gave him an 86 per cent margin over his closest opponent. Lucille Pickett Williams, a Republican.

Unofficial returns gave Powell 27,900 votes to 4,091 for Mrs. Williams and only 427 for the third candidate, the Rev. Ervin F. Yearling, a Conservative. The 22-year House veteran, who may be forced to come back as a freshman, lost only 11 of 214 election districts, and those in a predominantly white corner of his 18th Congressional District.

The 86 per cent vote was a record for Powell. Last fall he received 74 per cent of 61,287 votes cast. In the 1964 general election he took 82 per cent of 111,012 ballots cast.

CASE HISTORY: THE PATIENT BECOMES ILL

Stated simply, socialized medicine is government-financed "free," compulsory medical care for the people. While every nation in Europe, except Switzerland, has a system of government-controlled, tax-financed health care, the medical system closest in comparison to our own is in Great Britain. Prior to July, 1948, when the Beveridge Plan was turned into law in England, the British had a record of fierce independence in their medical program.

Today, 12 percent of the total tax income to the British government is spent on hospital and doctor care in a program that is out of control, tremendously wasteful, and gravely inefficient. During the 16 years of British socialized medicine, the British taxpayer has been all but milked dry. The British National Health Service costs many times more than its estimates.

Some patients must wait as long as six years for surgery. Non-emergency surgical cases are delayed at least 100 days. Emergency cases often become critical in the hours of delay before a hospital bed is available. Hundreds of doctors have left Britain and socialized medicine to practice in nations without government control of medical care.

Management, control, experimentation, and financing have been removed from the hands of thousands of local and community Boards of Directors and Trustees, and concentrated into the hands of the vast Ministry of Health.

There are always more than half a million patients on waiting lists for admission to hospitals. The London Sunday Times, November 12,-1961, reported "There are 2,699 hospitals in England and Wales. Two-thirds were built before the Boer War (1899-1902), one fifth were built more than a century ago, and one in twelve was erected during the reign of King George IV, who died in 1830."

In the period between 1948 and 1961, only one new hospital was constructed in England and Wales. (724 hospitals were built in the United States in that period.)

Some of the evils flowing from the British National Health Service are sound warnings against tampering with the superior American system. England is saddled with a health service which, being "free" for all gives much help where it is not needed, and therefore, less help where it is needed. That, in turn, consumes available tax dollars so rapidly the system cannot afford decent hospitals. Government intervention and control over hospitals leads to exploitation of physicians and dentists and to patient and doctor discontent. Through arbitrary price and fee practices, professional excellence drops, drugs and medicines declines in quality and quantity, and research all but vanishes for the lack of manpower and financing.

To those who protest that it is humiliating for a citizen in need of health care to deal with a government agency to obtain medical help, it should be apparent that in Britain today almost everyone is enduring that humiliation.

Professional services in the average British hospital are inferior to those in the United States. When the medical-surgical staff of a hospital must be drawn from the medical colleges; when more than one-fourth of England's doctor-graduates migrate to free lands; and, when the gaps thus created must be filled at all costs, professional quality has to be diminished. A guaranteed practice - with government-guaranteed fees and lowering of standards for graduation-attracts men who might otherwise have gone into less strenuous vocations. More than 4,000 foreign physicians are practicing in England today. Most of these came from India and Pakistan where medicine is still decades behind that of England and the United States.

The British welfare state is terribly expensive and has undermined individual initiative in the health professional who remains. The socialized medicine vehicle is unfair to large sections of the population and is being openly and boldly used by politicians to buy votes.

The unfortunate British experience should serve as a warning and an object lesson to the United States: projections and estimates of 10 years ago attempted to anticipate the cost of socialized medicine for each of the next ten years, but have been tragically low each succeeding year. Actual expenditures have been more than double the estimates, and for more than one annual period, cost increased two-fold over the expenses of the preceding year.

The British people simply are not that ill. Those in real need of care are penalized and made to suffer by overloading the health vehicle with millions who want nothing more than to have someone pay brief attention to them, or to get the care which they paid for in taxes.

No less an authority than Mr. Graham Hutton, British economist, attorney and sociologist stated, "If the United States ever got into the same situation as Great Britain, the welfare state would cost, in total taxes, well over $100 billion a year."

While Britain, Austria, Sweden, Germany, France and other countries have been establishing a dismal record for socialized medicine, the United States has forged ahead in medical science and medical care.

In league with independent physicians, American hospitals have discovered, extended, or implemented breakthroughs in medical science. They have conquered most killer diseases. No institutions in America have worked so valiantly to put themselves out of business. American hospitals are front-runners in attempts to make the hospital a place of immediate recovery. Unlike many segments of our economy, hospitals struggle to reduce, not increase, the volume of needed services and length of stay of each patient-customer. They are tremendously successful.

American private enterprise and personal initiative have supplied all the medical schools, most of the hospitals and doctors, and most of the nurses that built this humanitarian medical system. Driven by typical American philosophies, these medical warriors fought the common enemy, disease, and they are winning.

The system built hospitals when this nation was a lot poorer than it is today. It covered the nation with a network of colleges, universities, clinics, and hospitals for use by the individual medical practitioner and his patients.

Private and voluntary associations, community and church auxiliaries, unpaid volunteers, and funds from private accounts and insurance programs made it all possible. In the face of all these successes, why should America suddenly find itself unable to think, unable to plan, and unable to administer health care for a small segment of citizens?

This initial attempt at socialized medicine is an outcropping of the socialist, collectivist, "let-the-government-do-it" school of Fabian thought which says we are incapable of providing for ourselves. Let's look, listen and learn. The National Health Service Act of Great Britain, the official title of the Beveridge Plan, can teach us much.

Americans have already been warned by avowed socialists that government-financed medical care for one group of citizens is a first long step toward socialized medicine. They have told us that after the first step, complete socialization of medicine can be accomplished easily.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Redheads have more fun than either blondes or brunettes because men are more vulnerable to them. No man feels he has lived life utterly unless he has been in love at least once with a red-haired girl.

TEENAGERS' FIVE SLIMMING RULES

Teen-agers are informed as to how they can lose weight and still eat their favorite foods, in a Pocket Book by Lester David entitled. Slimming for Teen-Agers.

Mr. David suggests that a physician should be consulted before starting on a diet and he suggests these questions be considered: (1) Are you really overweight?; (2) Are you motivated to lose weight; (3) Do you have friends with whom you could form a club to lose weight?; (4) Do you exercise? (5) Do you think about food constantly?

In providing the answers Mr. David sums up with the recommendation, "Stop thinking about food. If you can get yourself in the right psychological frame of mind, you're halfway there. Join the dramatics club or the school chorus; become a member of the school newspaper staff. It doesn't matter what you do as long as it makes you forget about eating.

MAKING THE DOLLAR GO FURTHER

It is not uncommon to overhear the American housewife, after breezing up and down the aisles of her favorite shopping place, exclaim: "The cost of everything is up!" But, some forces in the economy are still holding prices down.

Since 1958, railroads have managed to cut their average freight charges by 13 per cent, while the cost of living, as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, has increased 12 per cent. This reduction of freight rates during a period of growing inflation has been one of the elements helping to keep the cost of living from going even higher. According to the Association of American Railroads, the cuts in freight charges will mean a saving in shipping costs of nearly $1.5 billion for this year alone. Since rail and other transportation costs must be included in the price of goods sold, the billion and one half dollar saving will mean smaller price increases to consumers. These rate reductions over the past seven years are the end result of the railroad's $22 billion postwar modernization programs, automation, merger-incuded efficiencies, gradual updating of work rules and new customer services.

The driving force of competition in a free economy makes it imperative for business, big or little, to search out and adopt the most efficient way to produce a better service or product. Although their freedom to progress is still hampered, in many instances by 19th century regulatory policies open to them. Their success, in the form of lower freight rates, has been of tangible benefit to everyone in the country who buys anything.

Capitalism: You have two cows. You go buy a bull.

Seems like the big rich what's been tossing in their extortion money for campaign purposes have cooled off a bit since the conviction of Dodd, Baker, Powell and Co. Seems they can't see their money go that way.

Now some wise boys propose a one dollar lug on all taxpayers at an estimated 60 million a year. With an election each 4 years that could mean 240 million in the kitty. A guy getting the nod of the organization could put it on the soft pedal and salt away his share and forget about the office.

When the people lose confidence in public officials, time is short for that nation. It has happened over and over again in the past half century, but it seems like no one learns from other's mistakes. That, under the same circumstance it does not always happen to the other nation and people.

Its very doubtful that consumers could pay the interest on all debts public and private now and live. As we all know consumers pay it all. All others tack it on and pass it on to consumers, taxes, interest profits, insurance and what have you.

There is where the buck stops. There is no one to pass it on to. It maybe the boys are hoping to disarm John Q before he wakes up in a boxed-canyon of debt with only one avenue of escape.

H. L. Hunt Says

ELECTORAL COLLEGE REFORMS via CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

A reform in the Electoral College system is badly needed and long overdue. A movement which would cause State Legislatures to pass resolutions leading to the enactment of a Constitutional Amendment for an Electoral College, called by some the "district plan" could sweep the nation.

The "district plan" is substantially the Electoral College Reform plan proposed many years ago. It would provide a presidential elector from each Congressional District, and two elected from each State at-large. These presidential electors would be elected by the Constituents of the Members of Congress whose tenure in office is responsible for the creation of their electoral seat. The plan would give each State the number of electors as at present who would be closer to the people and would be far more representative of the people.

The present Electoral College system has on occasion permitted a President to be chosen without a majority, or even plurality of the vote, and in 1824, 1860, 1876, 1888 and 1912, candidates lacking either a majority or plurality succeeded in winning the office.

However great is the need for electoral reform, those favoring reform by any available means are making a mistake if they conceivably burden this Nation with far worse than anything to be found in the present Constitution which has made our Nation great. Calling a Constitutional Convention for the purpose of reforming the Electoral College system could well result in a situation where the treatment was more deadly than the disease. Then another amendment could be requested which could satisfy the distaste for the one head, one vote edict on proportion from the Supreme Court. HLH.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- The summit conference, opening today in Uruguay, can successfully reorient American policy in this hemisphere, or it can be a disappointing flop.

The importance of what it does lies in the fact that many Europeans would like to see us retreat from Europe, and many Americans would like to see us retreat from Asia. Latin Americans, on the other hand, have long complained that we have neglected them in favor of both Europe and Asia.

They also point out that during World War II we relied heavily on them for tin, coffee, sugar, hemp, quinine--the food and raw materials cut off by the Japanese from French Indochina and Indonesia. Now that the world war is over, however, we spend billions fighting a minor war in the same area to protect raw materials which they could supply us much closer to home and without the loss of human life.

Most people in North America have forgotten what South Americans remember, namely that it was President Eisenhower who, having secured a precarious truce in Korea in the spring of 1953, warned the American people at the Seattle Governors' Conference the following summer that China would move her troops from Korea to French Indochina, thus threatening the rubber, tin and raw materials of that area.

THE DOMINO THEORY

This was the beginning of the Domino theory -- that one country after another in Southeast Asia would fall like a set of dominoes if we did not intervene. The theory overlooked the intense 1,000-year-old anti-Chinese battle for independence by the Vietnamese. Furthermore it was based on sheer American self-interest -- the protection of raw materials-- not any idealistic goal to plant democracy on the shores of Tonkin Bay. This was a theory dreamed up by John Foster Dulles later.

All this is why Latin Americans, who patriotically kept their World War II prices low, are now unhappy over the fact that coffee, sugar, cocoa, tin--the lifeblood of their trade--are at one of the lowest price ebbs in history; while we are spending one billion dollars a week on a war in a distant part of the world which produces many of the same rival raw materials. Simultaneously the Senate Foreign Relations Committee refuses to pledge one and one half billion dollars for Pan American development, to be spent not in one week but spread over five years.

Most Latins see a difference between a billion dollars a week and one and a half billion in five years; so you can understand why those who watch the summit conference opening today have their fingers crossed.

Nevertheless, much can be done at Punta Del Este.

JEFFERSON PREACHED UNITY

WHEN Thomas Jeffersn was helping to mold the future of the United States, he proposed a federation between the thirteen young states struggling out from under British rule in North America with the young republics struggling out from under Spanish rule in South America.

Simultaneously, Simon Bolivar, No. 1 liberator of South America, proposed a similar federation with North America. He also proposed that the Viceroyalties of Argentina, Peru, Colombia, et al., remain united in one strong country, not split up into weak rival republics.

His advice was ignored on both counts; just as Jefferson's advice was ignored in the United States. Latin America is now split up into 19 separate republics, none of them strong, all battling against poverty and revolution.

It is too late to accept Bolivar's advice completely on South American unity, just as it is too late to accept his and Jefferson's advice completely on a federation between North and South America.

Nevetheless, there can be moves in this general direction, and if President Johnson can inspire such moves the summit conference can be one of the great political landmarks of western hemisphere history.

The moves can take the following directions:

1. Economic unity on the South American continent through a "Common Market" patterned after the highly successful Central American Common Market.

2. Cultural and political cooperation between Latin nations themselves and with the United States.

This has already been started through educational and cultural exchange, but Johnson would like to expand it on a really large scale.

Political cooperation is more delicate. There has long been the fear of North American encroachment on the weak nations of the Caribbean. Memory of our bombardments of Vera Cruz and Tampico in 1917 were revived after our occupation of the Dominican Republic in 1965.

But by strengthening the Organization of the American States through the appointment of top Ambassadors and a strong, statesmanlike Secretary General, the federation goal of Thomas Jefferson and Simon Bolivar can be partly achieved.

President Johnson has already taken a step in this direction by appointing a top American business leader, Sol Linowitz, former head of XEROX, as Ambassador to the OAS. The next move is up to Latin American governments to appoint equally able men and a new secretary general.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Republican Senators Launch Nutcracker Drive To Cut Down Labor's Power.

Washington, D. C.: -- Some time this summer there really will be a rail crisis. Paralysis will seep across the nation when the roads start laying off thousands of locomotive firemen who -- say the lines -- should have gone out with the Apache and Sioux Indian wars.

The firemen originally were coal stokers but now sit in the Diesel cab and watch beautified America roll by. But they'll picket.

Food and fuel, war planes and pleasure cars, munitions for Vietnam and grain for starving India -- as well as commercial cargo by the billions-- will be backed up.

The public will scream. The White House will move -- but it will have no laws to crack dangerous strikes or walkouts threatening the health and safety of the nation.

And the Republicans -- from Jack Javits to Chuck Percy, from Ev Dirksen to Tom Kuchel -- are right now planning not to let President Johnson forget they told him so.

Republicans -- conservatives and liberals in tandem -- are mounting a truly massive attack on this front -- and it is significant to see Illinois' Charles Percy among them. At the moment, he's the "in" '68 G.O.P. presidential hopeful where the sophisticates gather.

This offensive spreads beyond the demand for swift anti-strike laws. It's a pincer movement aimed at cutting sharply into the organizational and political influence and power of American labor.

It began rolling the other day amid public agitation over threatened strikes -- on rail and road transportation, electronic even in the untouchable Wall Street.

On the left flank was Sen. Javits angrily pointing out that he and almost a score of other Senators could not even get a resolution passed to get a hearing on what should be the law to handle dangerous strikes.

On the right flank is Michigan's new Sen. Robert Griffin (of Landrum - Griffin fame) whose contingent -- including Chuck Percy -- seeks to wipe out labor's most sacred temple, the National Labor Relations Board.

"One of the most abysmal failures of this administration," Javits tartly told me, "is the failure to come to grips with the problem of national or regional emergency strikes."

Javits talked of the "Katzenbach task force" which allegedly has been working on some anti-strike formulas for months for the White House. The "team" in addition to its chief, consists of Professors J. Keith Mann, of Sanford Law School; Prof. John Dunlop of Harvard; Ben Aaron, Director of the Labor-Management Institute at UCLA Law School; Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Under-Secretary of Labor Jim Reynolds, a most popular chap inside labor.

But they've sent nothing down the pipeline to the President. White House aides have not even seen a draft or memo on the team's work.

Since Javits and his colleagues believe this will "be the worst year" on the labor-management front, he now is pushing a bill which would empower the government to seize a strategic struck property and operate it while the two sides battle it out.

At least the public will ride, or fly or sail or move its cargo and vital munitions to Vietnam.

Senator Griffin's legislative legions would replace the NLRB with a 15-judge U.S. Labor Court -- somewhat like the tax or customs courts.

Actually there's more firepower here than on the Javits front. Here the conservatives really are hitting hard. Here Percy has joined with such Senators as Wallace Bennett, Carl Curtis, Peter Dominick, Paul Fannin, Frank Lausche and Strom Thurmond.

Their plans calls for a national network of regular courts, $33,000-a-year judges; $26,000-a-year commissioners to replace the NLRB trial examiners, and a chief administrator to replace the NLRB General Counsel.

This apparatus would be the final court of appeals on what an unfair labor practice is -- and just what the unions and the corporations can do and say and print and distribute and communicate during organization drives.

Though the public is more interested in the anti-strike legislation -- the final conflict will be on the NLRB front. That's where labor power rises or dies.

But union leaders are not disturbed by the two-front war. They believe no restrictive labor laws will get passed and the NLRB will stay untouched -- just so long as there is no real crisis affecting the people directly -- like a "long" rail strike.

Even at that, they believe the Congress and the White House will show solidarity.

Undoubtedly, they are right.

Hello! Have you ever had a shock? Last Thursday Harold and I were on the way to Cape and were listening to the radio. To suddenly hear your neighbor's house is on fire is bad enough and then for another report to come on that it is your house is even more of a shock. We were very lucky that we had alert neighbors who reported the smoke and the firemen got right here and there is damage but not as much as there would have been.

As soon as we could get to a phone I called home and Mother and Daddy were here so I took Harold on to the doctor and came right back home. When I got here Kay Jackson and Mother were mopping the floor and Jean Wilson had been here and gotten the laundry and brought it home clean. Sure is nice to have friends!

Virginia Babikian

Soprano Soloist Featured In Season's Last Concert

The Delta Community Concert association will present Virginia Babikian in the last concert of the season Thursday in the junior high school auditorium. Miss Babikian is a soprano soloist and artist-in-residence at Houston Baptist college.

To Leopold Stokowski and Boris Goldovsky belongs the distinction of recognizing the greatness of Virginia Babikian. Following her appearance with the famed maestro Stolowski for the first performance in Houston of Carmina Burana and the American premiere of the Triumph of Aphrodige, she was urged to devote full time to a career of singing. Since then Virginia Babikian's musical destiny has never been in doubt. Whenever and wherever the names of the world's great sopranos are mentioned the name of Virginia Babikian is included as a matter of course.

Known as a conductor's singer because of her outstanding musicianship, Virginia Babikian is frequently called upon to sing difficult scores on a short notice. Born in Everett, Mass., Virginia Babikian attended Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J. Holding a bachelor of music with majors in voice and cello and master of music with a major in choral conducting, Virginia Babikian received the coveted Baumgartner Award as well as the Williamson Award.

In rapid succession Miss Babikian won the Wallace Opera Award, the Dreyfus Award at the Berkshire Music Festival, a Fulbright Scholarship for study at the Rome Opera Company in Italy, and a Ford Foundation Award for Professional Opera Singers.

Miss Babikian has been soloist with the New York Philharmonic, the Boston Symphony, the National Orchestra of Colombia, South America, the Vienna Symphony and performed leading roles in the opera companies of Rome, Spoleto, Washington, Chautauqua, San Antonio, and Houston.

She has made 12 concert tours to Europe and three each to South America and the Caribbean. Each season in addition to her operatic roles, guest performances with symphonies, she is delighting concert associations, university and college audiences all over North America and frequently follows a recital with a lecture-demonstration for the benefit of students.

We have a big distilling industry in my state, and it pays a million dollars a day in revenue tax."

"But, Ev," his questioner went on, "foreign countries don't have pints."

"Then let them buy pint bottles from us," Dirksen said. "We also have a big glass industry in Illinois."

Gibson Hurls 5-Hitter

Brock, Gagliano Connect For Birds

By RON JAYNES
Standard Sports Editor

By Ron Jaynes

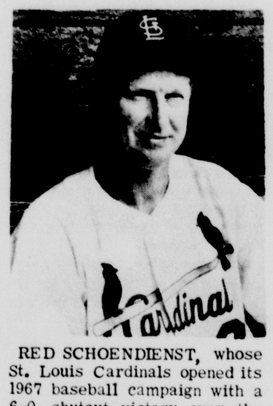
ST. LOUIS - Bob Gibson, deftly mixing his pitches, and the St. Louis Cardinals' powerful lineup, lambasting the baseball, teamed last night at Busch Memorial Stadium to take a giant step over San Francisco in the first game of the season, 6-0.

The Cardinals, winning their season opener, horsewhipped the Giants and their $100,000 right handed hurler, Juan Marichal.

Leftfielder Lou Brock sparked a three-run second by hitting a three-run homer in deep right field. He went two for three at the plate, driving in three runs and scored once. He narrowly missed another homer in the seventh but Willie Mays hauled in the ball on the warning track in deep center field.

LOU BROCK sparked the Cardinals 6-0 victory over San Francisco in St. Louis last night. Brock's three-run homer was the big blast for the Cards, who pounded Juan Marichal for 14 hits, the most he has ever given up in one game.

THE CARDINALS Phil Gagliano, who came into the game in the fifth inning when third baseman Mike Shannon aggravated a pulled muscle, slammed a solo homer to give the Cards a 5-0 lead in the seventh. The Birds won, 6-0.



RED SCHOENDIENST, whose St. Louis Cardinals opened its 1967 baseball campaign with a 6-0 shutout victory over the San Francisco Giants and Juan Marichal, smiles and hopes for bigger things to come.

FIREBALLER, Bob Gibson, struck out the first five men he faced, tying a National League record, and fanned 13 Giants in the Cards 6-0 opening game victory.

Phil Gagliano added a solo blast in the seventh inning to add to Marichal's woes - a 400-foot thrust over the left field wall to start off the inning and give the fans an extra seventh inning stretch.

Gibson was brilliant in his four-inning stunt. He struck out 13 men, the first five in succession to tie a National League record dating back to 1900 and become one of nine to do that in an opening game. He allowed five hits, all singles.

The $100,000 arm of Marichal absorbed its worst defeat in history by suffering through a 14-hit barrage before 38,117 persons, who sat through the 50-degree temperatures.

St. Louis collected a hit in each inning off Marichal before he was relieved in the eighth by Lendy McDaniel, who retired the side, allowing only a base on balls.

The Red Birds opened the bottom half of the first inning, after Gibson had retired the side with strikeouts, with two back to back singles by Brock and Curt Flood along with a steal by Brock, but the Cards failed to push a run across as Roger Marris followed with a ground out, Orlando Cepeda was passed intentionally, to load the bases and Marichal retired the next two batters in order. Mike Shannon struck out. Tim McCarver flied deep to right field.

After striking out the side in the top of the first, pitcher Gibson fanned the next two and forced Tim Haller to pop out for six up - six down in two innings.

Gibson got behind on the first batter, Henderson, 2-0 but threw three straight strikes to retire the rookie. Henderson returned to collect three of the Giants five hits.

The Red Birds opened the second inning the same as they did in the first with back to back singles with the next batter striking out, but Brock, with a one-ball count, teed off on Marichal's high fast ball for a three-run homer and a Card 3-0 lead. Flood followed with a ground out for the second and Maris started off another threat with a double, but Cepeda ended the inning by grounding out to the shortstop.

After the three-run second, the Cardinals added one in the fifth and two in the seventh.

Cepeda put a stopper on the Giants' only threat in the third inning.

Jim Davenport started the inning by flying out to center, but three back to back singles loaded the bases and with one out were threatening, but Cepeda picked up a slow bounder down the first base line, tagged the base and threw to home for a double play to end the Giants' threat. Lanier collected the first hit off Gibson, a drive down the left field line.

Good fielding in that inning prevented base runners from advancing.

Mike Shannon left the game in the fifth with an aggravated injury in a leg. He pulled a muscle in spring training and reinjured it in the fifth.

Dal Maxville was the batting star for the Birds with a three for four performance.

Julian Javier scored twice and collected two hits for the Cardinals. Brock, Flood, Maris and McCarver, each collected two hits. Gagliano collected one.

O'Finley's White Shoe Club Wins AL Opener 4-3

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The fashionable Kansas City A's have countered the miniskirt rebellion with a new style of their own, and it was enough to touch off another Charles O. Finley colorful controversy.

The American League doormats of the past have foresaken their former drab existence and Tuesday night stepped into first place wearing white shoes that left the Cleveland Indians kicking.

The A's opened their 1967 season by beating the Indians 4-3 on Fred Whitfield's error with the bases loaded in the seventh inning in Kansas City, and joined Baltimore, California and New York in first place.

The Orioles, looking the same as they did as world champions last season, clubbed Minnesota 6-3 and the Angels dropped Detroit 4-2 to grab their share. The Yankees beat Washington 8-0 Monday.

The only other AL game, the Chicago White Sox at Boston, was postponed because of cold weather.

The A's unveiled their fashion show in the first inning when they took the field. Their wedding-gown white, Fort Knox gold and sea-foam green uniforms of last season were a notch brighter, but the main addition was the rare albino kangaroo white shoes with kelly-green laces.

The uniforms, of course, were the idea of Kansas City owner Finley, who in past years stirred the league with his pennant porch in right field, his mule mascot and his sheep grazing area beyond the outfield.

Joe Adcock, making his debut as Cleveland manager, did not take kindly to the white shoe idea, not that he isn't fashion-minded. Adcock claimed the white shoes worn by Kansas City pitcher Jim Nash distracted his hitters and protested the game after the first pitch.

"I want to get this settled right away," Adcock said.

However, American League President Joe Cronin and Cal Hubbard, supervisor of umpires, already had given the A's permission to start the season with their classy and colorful footwear.

"White shoes aren't going to bother a hitter," said A's Manager Alvin Dark. "A pitcher has both feet on the ground when he releases the ball. A hitter is going to be following the ball, not the shoes."

Whether or not the shoes helped, Nash stopped the Indians on five hits and three runs for seven innings before leaving for pinch hitter Ramon Webster with the bases loaded on two walks and a wild pitch third strike that put Joe Rudi on base.

Matthews Sparks Astros Victory

By RON RAPOPORT

In his many years with the Boston - Milwaukee - Atlanta Braves, Eddie Mathews used to specialize in great opening-day performances. But it is his debut in a Houston uniform that the slugging first baseman may remember the longest.

A mighty triple against the center field wall in the seventh inning Tuesday night gave Mathews' new club a 1-1 tie against his old one and soon afterwards the Astros had a 6-1 opening-day victory over the Braves.

"Are you kidding," Mathews said later when asked if he'd particularly enjoyed playing a decisive part in beating his ex-teammates. "I'm playing the team I was with for 15 years."

When the Braves traded Mathews on Dec. 31, 1966, the thing that rankled him most was that the club told the press before it told him.

"I'll remember this opener," Mathews said. "I've had some good opening days. I hit a couple of home runs two or three times in the past in the opener, but I'll settle for his one."

In other National League games Tuesday, all season openers, Pittsburgh beat New York 6-3, Chicago took Philadelphia 4-2 and St. Louis blanked San Francisco 6-0. Cincinnati and Los Angeles had an open date.

In American League opening games, Baltimore bounced Minnesota 6-3, Kansas City edged Cleveland 4-3 and California beat Detroit 4-2. Chicago at Boston was postponed because of cold weather. New York and Washington were not scheduled.

THE SUB-DISTRICT baseball playoffs will be played, starting Monday and run through Friday, at VFW stadium in Sikeston.

Seven teams are entered in this district meet, along with Sikeston, Advance, Bloomfield, Bell City, Richland, Matthews and Scott County Central.

Two games are scheduled for Monday. Bell City and Richland open action at 1 p.m. followed at 3:30 p.m. by the Matthews - Scott County Central game.

Sikeston drew a first round bye and is in the top bracket and will meet the winner of Tuesday's 3:30 p.m. game between Bloomfield and Advance.

One game is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday with the finals Friday, these games are scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

THE TWO - TIME 20 -game winner, Bob Gibson struck out the first five men to face him in the National League opener for the two clubs, tying a league record, and went on to post a 6-0 victory.

En route, Gibson struck out 13 and followed only 5-hits while his teammates cuffed Juan Marichal for 14 hits in seven innings, including Lou Brock's three - run homer in the second.

"I like to beat any club, but I always pitch good against them (the Giants) and get beat," Gibson said. "It's refreshing to beat them."

The record supports Gibson's comment. He pitched three times against the Giants last year and lost each game despite a 2.35 earned run average.

Brock said he didn't know what he hit for the home run. "Marichal's got so many pitches I just look for the ball," Brock said. "It was low and away and pow, I gave it a ride."

MARICHAL SAID he didn't think his spring hold-out affected his pitching, although it was the most hits he had ever allowed in a major league game.

"I felt good. They were hitting my good stuff," Marichal said.

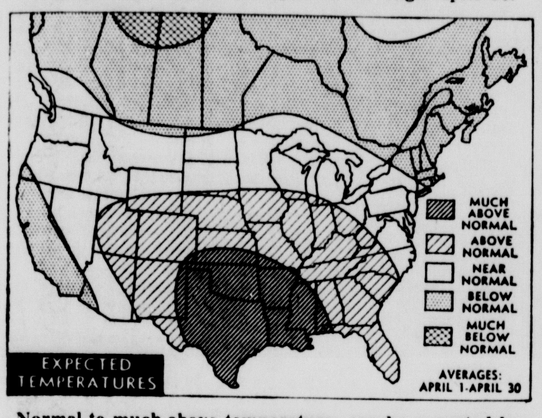
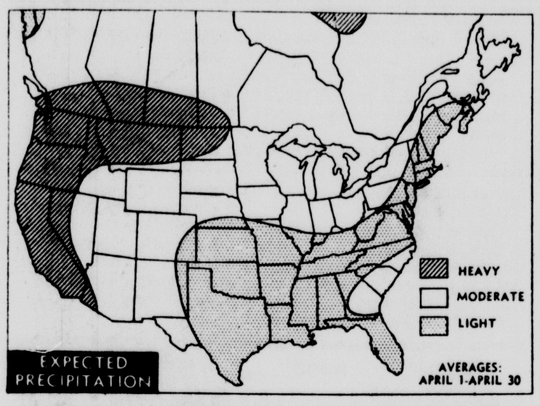
April A-Go-Go

Maps show Weather Bureau's estimated forecasts of average temperature, precipitation through April 30.



Normal to much-above temperatures can be expected by much of the nation. Exceptions will be California and the north Atlantic Coast states.



Subnormal precipitation is the prospect for most of the East, the South and the Central Plains while totals should be above normal in the West.

Private Enterprise And Public Responsibility In A Free Economy

Yet education is an area where business has tremendous resources and could contribute effectively to the learning process. By some estimates, corporations spent more than $4½ billion last year on their educational efforts. Taken as a whole, U.S. companies are far ahead of those anywhere else in the world in the training of staff and line people at all levels. If this accumulated know-how could be channeled beyond the individual companies and out to meet the general public needs, the results could not be anything but beneficial.

General Electric alone teaches more people than any other institution in New York State, public or private. Now G. E. is working with Time Inc., in a fascinating new enterprise to blend electronic capability with editorial and educational materials. Similarly, other electronics firms are joining with publishing houses to create and market educational materials incorporating new texts, audio-visual aids, language laboratories, classroom television and other advanced features.

Some idea of the vast potential here were suggested not long ago when RCA assigned fifteen of its top scientists and engineers to deliver weekly classroom lectures at four Brooklyn high schools. They discussed and illustrated the latest developments in nuclear physics, jet propulsion and space technology. The idea caught on quickly and now eight other industrial companies have pooled their resources with RCA to conduct regular lectures and demonstrations on contemporary science for New York City high school students. Outstanding scientists, coming directly from the laboratory, bring to the classroom an element that cannot be duplicated in the experience of even the most dedicated teacher -- a glimpse of activities at the frontiers of sciences and an insight into the scientist's private world of exploration.

This, of course, is only one experiment. But imagine the good that might be accomplished if businesses from coast to coast made their talent and techniques available to schools in their own communities. What a resounding response this could be to those critics who are forever complaining that business is luring the most promising teachers away from the classroom.

A third factor that should be considered in this creative competition with government is personal involvement.

In my view, businesses, small and large, should actively set an example of good citizenship and do everything possible to encourage more of their people to participate in civic and political activities. Each of us here today should try to persuade our business associates to take a more active role in the affairs of the local community.

I was distressed to read in The Wall Street Journal a while back about one businessman who openly boasted of his ability to evade his civic and political responsibilities. "I find," he told the interviewer, "that a $1,000 donation will get practically anybody off your back."

Those of us who have taken on fund-raising chores would be happy, I'm sure, to get the $1,000. But, actually, no amount of money can substitute for the personal involvement of a dedicated man or woman in a local project. The French philosopher Rousseau said it well when he remarked: "As soon as public service ceases to be the chief business of the citizens, and they would rather serve with their money than with their persons, the State is not far from its fall."

Perhaps I'm inclined to exaggerate local problems these days. My fellow New Yorkers and I have recently lived through a water shortage, a dock strike, a newspaper blackout, a power failure and a transit tieup!

Yet by any reckoning, state and local problems are becoming increasingly important. The phenomenal growth of our cities is reflected in the fact that today 70 per cent of our people live on only 1 per cent of our land area. Public spending by state and local governments has more than doubled in the past decade, a much sharper rise than even that of the Federal budget. These government units are already spending more than $70 billion a year, and the figure is expected to top the $100-billion mark by 1970.

Share the Wealth -- The way the U.S. is scattering money (originally yours and ours) around over the world -- and succeeding only in losing friends and winning trouble -- reminds us of this:

"Let's buy Junior a bicycle," suggested Mother.

"Do you think it will improve his behavior?" asked Father.

Sharp Drop In Cotton Ginnings

WASHINGTON -- Cotton ginnings in Missouri from the 1966 crop were less than half of those in 1965, the department of commerce, bureau of census, reported today.

The totals were 164,573 and 393,091.

An even sharper drop in production of cotton was reported in Scott county, Mo., and other Missouri Bootheel counties.

Ginnings in Scott county totaled 3,663 bales, more than a four fold decline, compared with 15,879 bales in 1966.

The comparative figures for other Missouri counties:

Butler 4,969 and 18,581, Dunklin 44,249 and 90,442, Mississippi 8,467 and 33,018, New Madrid 39,931 and 99,527, Pemiscot 54,255 and 106,635, Stoddard 7,823 and 27,024 and all other 1,216 and 1,985.

Rehearsal of Musical in Third Week

Sikeston's Little Theater is in the third week of rehearsal for its presentation of "South Pacific."

The play will be staged April 21-22 and 28-29 at the junior high school.

The musical production of James Michener's Pulitzer Prize winning, "Tales of the South Pacific" is set to the music of Rodgers and Hammerstein.

On its New York opening critics proclaimed it "One of the greatest musical plays in the history of the American Theatre."

"South Pacific" holds the record for the longest run on Broadway.

The action takes place on two islands of the South Pacific and the time is a lull during the fighting in the war with Japan. The colorful characters are marines, seabees, nurses, sailors and islanders.

The plot is formed of two romantic themes. Most important is the love affair between Ensign Nellie Forbush, played by Patsy Mitchell, a charming and high-spirited young nurse from Little Rock, Ark., and the gallant middle-aged French planter, Emile de Beque, played by Jim Moore III.

Nellie and Emile fall in love, and the varying moods of their affection are represented in such songs as "A Wonderful Guy", "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair", and "Cockeyed Optimist".

Nellie has another ardent admirer, a Seabee named Luther Billis (Doug Morrison), a wheelin-dealin comic who is Nellie's "Honey Bun" in the G. I.'s Thanksgiving show.

The tragic subplot of South Pacific is the touching romance between Lt. Joseph Cable (Dan Norton) and the lovely Tonkinese girl, Liat (Linda Norton). The romance is engineered by Liat's mother, the shrewd, scheming Bloody Mary (Vivian Boyer). She has her daughter's marriage in mind as she sings, "Happy Talk."

Cable and Liat are sincerely in love, but Cable feels their lives are too different for them to be happy together. He leaves Liat and the island, but he is always haunted by the memory of "Bali Hai".

Nellie's love for the planter cools on learning Emile had married a Polynesian woman on first coming to the island and that he has two children by her. Seeing that Nellie is avoiding him, he volunteers to go on a dangerous spy mission with Lt. Cable. Emile feels he has lost everything as he sings, "This nearly Was Mine".

Lieutenant Cable is killed on the mission, but Emile returns to find Nellie caring for his young native children. The happy conclusion is their romantic reunion in "Some Enchanted Evening."

The role of Nora Malone will be played by Kathy Morris; Officer Tim McGrill by Joe Buchanan; Larry Elliott by Danny Lape . Charlie Hopps is played by Rita Burch; Mrs. Caroline Smythe - Kersey by Marlene Davidson; Mortimer Smythe-Kersey by Joe King; and Mrs. Farnham by Jeanice Griffin.

Prompters are Barbara Johnson, Peggy Lathum, Nancy Mydlowski, James Stobaugh and David Schnieder. Entertainment between acts will be given by member of the senior class.

The high school band, directed by Harold Smith, received a II (excellent) rating at the Southeast Missouri District music contest at Cape Girardeau April 1. The band participated in the parade at the New Madrid County 4-H barrow show and sale at New Madrid April 8. That evening band members enjoyed a party at the community center.

Members of the senior class, accompanied by Supt. Lester M. King, went to Memphis, Saturday and saw "Holiday on Ice."

The annual honors banquet sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association, will be held in the cafeteria Tuesday evening. Guest speaker will be the Rev. James Hackney of the Sikeston First Baptist church.

Mt. and Mrs. Herschel Yates spent the weekend at Jefferson City where he attended a meeting of industrial arts instructors.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: Where do you get off saying all 16-year-old boys are interested in sex? I am 16 and I am interested in lots of things, but sex is not one of them.

I am getting sick and tired of hearing you tell girls to be careful because every boy is out to get whatever he can. I'm not, and I am sure there must be other guys around just like me.

Females make up about one half of the world's population and there must be some awfully nice people in this group. One of these days I'd like to get to know some of these people better, but I am in no hurry.

There are plenty of interesting things fellows my age can do besides chasing girls. So please stop telling people that every 16 - year - old boy is trying to trap some innocent chick in the back seat of a car. As a matter of fact, some guys I know have had to fight off girls. Please set the record straight. And you can print my name and city if you want to. -- KANSAS

Dear Kansas: I wouldn't dare print your name and city. You'd be deluged by calls, fella. Not from girls, but from their mothers! You sound like the kind of guy every teen-age girl's mother is looking for.

It would be foolish to say ALL 16-year-old boys are interested in sex. What I said was, "Most teen - age boys are not thinking about love. The juices are flowing and they are becoming mighty curious." That statement still stands.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has taken a job with a fine organization. It means more money and an opportunity for advancement. The only problem is the plant is located in a small town which I hate. I have told my husband I am not moving.

The major factor in my decision not to pull up stakes is my parents. I am an only child and my folks are very dear to me. They are in good health and I want to enjoy them as long as I can.

I know many women whose husbands travel during the week and come home weekends. My husband could do this, too. But he is stubbornly opposed to my staying here. Who is wrong? -- BLUE GRASS TROUBLE

Dear Trouble: You are.

If your parents were ill and you had to help care for them it would be a different matter, but refusing to move to the city where your husband makes his living because you want to enjoy mama's and papa's company is not only selfish, it is childish.

Wives like you are the first to scream "The louse" when a husband becomes involved with another woman. Hang onto my address, I think you may be writing again soon with another kind of problem.

Confidential to Scared To Death: No one can force you to marry the girl against your will. Furthermore, if I understand your letter correctly, you are still married to "Mona Lisa." From the description you give of "Mudfence's" father you would be lucky if the parole officer got to you first. You need a lawyer.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's Right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE
By Jack Strass L.L.D.

THE CASE OF THE BIG BONANZA

Albert was a pushover for any salesman. Consequently, he was loaded with insurance policies. And, as it turned out, owning so much insurance was the best policy for him, since he dreamed one night that he was out with a beautiful blonde and fell out of bed while lunging for her. With eight different accident and health policies, the accident took on all the happy aspects of a windfall. Albert filed claims to collect on all eight of them.

"Not so fast," responded the insurance companies. "Under the law, insurance policies are legal only so long as there is no element of gambling. In your case, there is. While accident and health policies are merely intended to compensate a person for medical expenses and loss of wages, with eight policies you stood to make a bundle if you got hurt. That's gambling! Therefore, the policies are illegal and void."

"Nonsense," was Albert's answer. "I never gambled in my life. The fact is, I get nervous when I have to select an hors d'oeuvre."

Demanding payment on all eight policies, Albert took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Albert to reap a financial bonanza on his accident?

This is how the judge ruled: Albert collected on all eight policies. The judge held that in the absence of a clause in an insurance policy to the contrary, a person has the right to insure himself for as much as he wants and with as many insurance companies as he can find.

Dark Bourbon:
It's not the kind of whiskey you learn on.

This isn't beginner's whiskey.
This is dark, deep-flavored Bourbon. Bourbon the way it used to be. Prime, copper-stilled whiskey.
Fixed with lots of handwork. And nothing but pure, fresh goods. With more of the small grains. And a sour mash that goes back more than 75 years.
Hill and Hill Preferred. It isn't beginner's Bourbon.

Farmer Dies on Way to Hospital

MORLEY -- Elmo Gunter, 59-year-old farmer, died at 10:45 p.m. last night while enroute to the Missouri Delta Community hospital after suffering a heart attack.

The body was taken to the Jackson Funeral Home in Sikeston.

Gunter was born in Sikeston Feb. 27, 1908 son of James Henry and Mamie Gunter.

He married Mary Lindsey Nov. 11, 1942.

Gunter attended the Silent Hill Baptist church.

Besides his wife, he is survived by five sons, Billy Gene Gunter, McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey; Roy, Stanley, James and Danny Gunter; two daughters, Mrs. Brenda Stroder, Cape Girardeau; Sharon Gunter, Sikeston; one brother, Carl Gunter, St. Louis; three sisters, Mrs. Wilma Dark, Los Angeles; Mrs. Roberta Bretzel, Chicago, and Mrs. Catherine Dukes, Dexter.

But in a speech at Ironton last week, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said he had received information that 8,000 new employes would be added which might bring the payroll to something like $60 million.

Based on the Pilot Knob expansion and the Governor's pay roll estimate, that would bring the total to something over $400 million—a big shot in the arm for one of the poorest areas of the state and a shot that would affect the economy of the state as a whole through increased sales and other taxes.

An Ironton businessman's comment reflected the fact that the impact is already beginning to be felt.

"It's already getting hard to find help around here," he said.

Wharton put it this way in his discussion of the economic effects:

"The impact of the new mining developments on a number of small and somewhat isolated communities in southeast Missouri is perhaps the most interesting factor of all. The creation of so many jobs in the sparsely populated areas is bound to give a strong impetus to the regional economy.

"An urgent need is anticipated for new housing, schools, medical facilities, roads, goods and services in some of the expanding communities.

"The imaginative role of the St. Joseph Lead Co. in establishing the new town at Viburnum is well documented. Principal expansions henceforth are expected to take place near Pilot Knob, Ironton, Salem, Viburnum, Bixby, Bunker, Reynolds and Ellington.

"At the same time that money is being pumped into these small communities for goods and services, other monies are being siphoned off in the form of county, state and federal sales, property and income taxes.

"Tax revenue from the area includes major shares from the mining companies themselves. Funds are thereby supplied for expanding newly required public services, not only in these communities, but for the region as a whole."

He estimated that refunds from collections in the Clark National Forest, where many of the developments are located, might mean as much as $250,000 to the counties by 1970.

With the boom comes the need for better highways -- as a prime concern in the area as heavy ore trucks move over the existing hill country roads.

In his speech last week, the Governor assured the people of Ironton that he and the State Highway Commission are well aware of the need. But he cautioned that everything can't be done overnight, particularly with the current shortage of highway funds.

It gave him a chance to put in a new plug for the need of toll turnpikes to supplement the money available for improvement of existing state roads.

Highway Commission Chairman Jack Stapleton Sr. of Stanberry was there and the Governor said he had warned Stapleton not to promise more than he could deliver.

Add it all up and it comes to this:

The mineral boom is going to be a tremendous thing for all of Missouri. No one knows yet how big the impact will be because expansion and further exploration are still going on.

The area has been called the Rhur Valley of America. It might turn out even bigger than that.

nouncing the signing, also said it had sent out telegrams requesting the unions to cancel their strike authority. The board said the effect of the resolution is that no walkout can be called before May 3.

Even before formally receiving the resolution for signature, Johnson had called on management and the workers to make maximum use of the new 20-day period to avoid "the terrible consequences" of a nationwide rail stoppage.

He praised Tuesday's swift and overwhelming passage of the resolution in both houses. The Senate vote was 81 to 1 after a 90-minute debate. The House debated just 20 minutes before its 396-8 vote of approval.

The resolution was shipped by air to Uruguay for the President's signature.

The 20-day breather would extend a current 60-day truce that has blocked a strike by six railroad shopcraft unions which would hamstring railroads which account for 95 per cent of the nation's rail freight.

Johnson, asking Congress for the extension, had warned of the catastrophic effect of a prolonged rail strike on the nation's economy.

He said it could boost unemployment as high as 15 per cent, force nearly immediate layoffs of 40,000 coal miners and cripple attempts to supply U.S. fighting forces in Vietnam.

group's board of directors had met nearly three and a half hours.

"We are notifying all our associations and carriers around the country, requesting that they go back to work," Gordon said.

An exception, he said, is the Chicago area, where Teamsters are on strike and the trucking firms are not represented by TEI.

In calling the lockout last Saturday at midnight, TEI had broadly hinted that President Johnson should invoke the Taft-Hartley Act with an 80-day cooling-off injunction.

But high government officials made it clear they wouldn't recommend an injunction unless the lockout effects became more severe. The contract announcement quickly followed.

Gordon said the industry policy committee will meet Thursday. The board of directors of TEI will recommend to its policy committee that it accept the contract agreement, he said.

"This has been a real case of collective bargaining. This has been no case of government pressure," said chief federal mediator William E. Simkin, who worked for weeks with fellow mediators Walter Maggiolo and Gilbert Seldin to win the settlement.

In Chicago, one of the hardest hit cities during the lockout, a wave of panic buying stripped some supermarket shelves of canned goods and produce.

More than 20,000 auto workers in numerous cities were laid off at least part of a day because of a shortage of parts. A Boston food chain switched to rail shipment for its perishables and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce had predicted "a complete breakdown in our distribution system."

There was little effect in the New York City-New Jersey metropolitan area where trucking contracts do not expire until next August. But numerous drivers in upstate New York were laid off as were about 4,000 auto workers at Ford Motor Co's Mahway, N.J., assembly plant.

Shortages in some other ma- and Miami, were negligible because of the lockout's short duration.

ulent and misleading advertising. The substitute, based on a model consumer protection law recommended by the Council of State Governments, will be considered next week.

Another committee approved a bill to require absentee ballots to be counted along with regular ballots.

A House committee approved a bill to permit any city to adopt a model traffic ordinance and another to tighten the point system on drivers' licenses.

The House debated a bill to prevent job discrimination because of age. Jobs where health and safety require age consideration would be exempt. The bill was moved into position for passage.

Also moved forward was one to set up a board of medico-legal examiners to investigate mysterious deaths. Only a qualified person could determine the cause of death.

The House also argued but took no action on a bill that would raise the legal driving age from 16 to 18. But youths over 16 could get limited permits if they were taking an approved driver training course or if they were accompanied by a qualified adult driver.

Another bill put into position for passage would allow Missouri to exchange employes with other states and the federal government.

COFFEE CORNER
by Cherie

I was far luckier than most children, for not only have I enjoyed my four grandparents, but I can also remember two of my great-grandparents well. Not long ago I lost a grandfather, and now this past week in an unfortunate car accident, I lost a good friend and a wonderful grandmother. I don't know quite how to describe her, except perhaps to say she was always busy, always pushing and prodding the rest of us, always helping and remembering others, and always in love with life and the living of it. I thought today, who will drop in for just a minute with a bagful of apples for the great grandsons, advice on their up - bringing for the mother, the latest score she and her partner had made at duplicate bridge, and just that quickly leave with another bagful of apples and advice for another child. She was my whirlwind grandmother, all helter-skelter, full of fun and giving, and going places, and I feel that Heaven must have been sorely in need of a good organizer when they called her -- if not, they're going to be quite surprised, for I feel sure that in record time, even for that Celestial Timekeeper, reorganized they will be! I will miss her, and the only good that has come to me from these recent losses is the realization that we are all here for such a short time. Let us live, as she did, this time to the fullest, and appreciate each other while we are together.

Lee has called them, "the car driving grandmother", and "the one who only knows how to drive a horse and buggy." I still have the buggy driver left. She is our gentle, calm, and comforting grandmother, the one who has always mended my clothes and my hurts. And, until the day that Heaven needs just such a gentle lady to alter the robes of it's Angels -- and I pray that that day be far off-- we still have her with us to enjoy and to love, and we shall do so both freely and fully. Yes, I was luckier than most children, for I knew all my grandparents. I have remained so, for I still have two wonderful ones with me. And although this has been a hard and painful lesson to learn, I do know now, that instead of grieving for those who are gone, we must rejoice with those we have left, not only grandparents, but mothers, fathers, children, aunts, uncles and friends. And I hope, when something displeases me in the future, and a sharp retort comes to my lips, that I stop and think of just these things. I remember with deep regret other such incidents for which I can now never ask forgiveness and, perhaps, if all of us would stop and do just this, the world would truly be a better place to live in and God would indeed be Love.

African Boers

Boer is a Dutch word which means "farmer." Most of the Dutch settlers of South Africa became farmers or Boers and the rest of the world gave the name Boers to these people and their descendants

TOTE BAGS FOR AUTO TRIPS

A tote bag is ideal on automobile trips, according to the American Oil Company Women's Representative. "It can pass for a handbag," she says, "yet it's roomy enough to hold extra shoes, overnight, gear--even a change of clothes. Carried in tote bags en route essentials are far easier to get to than if they were packed away in the luggage. The bags come plain -- in solid - color vinyl, plastic, or simulated leather, for example -- or you can choose fancy needlepoint and tapestry styles. Tote bags are lightweight, sturdy, and easy to keep clean. Most of them are plastic-lined, accommodating anything from wet watchcloths to just-used bathing suits."

Missouri Press Report
Sen. Edward Long

New housing for Missouri's senior citizens is moving ahead with assistance from the U. S. Housing and Urban Development Department, according to the latest report.

In recent years, 38 Missouri projects have received Federal assistance to provide 3,731 living units for the elderly.

Under the program of direct loans to aid housing for the elderly and the handicapped, Missouri has received $8,414,000 to provide 724 units. Each of these projects was sponsored by a private non - profit organization.

Missouri also received approval for $12,929,000 in mortgages to provide 944 senior citizens units at 5 different projects.

The Housing and Urban Development Department also reports approving loans for 28 projects including 3,836 units of which 2,063 are designed for the elderly. Total cost of developing these 28 projects is $65,582,000.

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman has just signed agreements to provide assistance to two more Missouri and water conservation districts. The districts are in Laclede and Bollinger counties.

Missouri now has 77 districts serving over 35,000 landowners. Eight more are today in the process of forming, according to Harold Owens, Executive Secretary of the Missouri State Soil and Water Districts Commission, University of Missouri, Columbia. Mr. Owens and Howard Jackson, Missouri Conservationist, were both in Washington recently reporting on the outstanding progress Missouri is making in soil and water conservation.

In Washington, D. C., recently were Dean and Mrs. Earl English, of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Brown, Editor of the CASS COUNTY DEMOCRAT - MISSOURIAN, Harrisonville. Dean English and Mr. Brown were judges of the "Newspaper Safety Writing Competition" sponsored by the American Trucking Association. Also on the judges panel was Hamilton Thornton, Editor of the Editorial Page of the ST. LOUIS GLOBE DEMOCRAT.

MAY WILL BE NATIONAL SENIOR CITIZENS MONTH

As a member of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, want to take this opportunity to congratulate all Missourians working to provide better health and living opportunities for our senior citizens.

Our Committee this year has been reviewing all problems facing the elderly in search of ways in which our Federal, state and local programs can be improved. We have a new subcommittee on which I am serving to study retirement problems and how to make the retirement dollar go further.

"HE PROVIDES"

I'm lonely in the wintertime
When all the flowers have gone
The trees are green no longer
The bird sings not his song.

As sweetly as in spring time
When he's busy as can be
Working making preparations
For the nest up in the tree.

They bill and coo and work away
And sing throughout the day
Knowing that our Lord above
Will provide - for them a way.

For food each day and rest at nite
They never worry for
They know that he will care for them

And where they are.

Should we but trust him just as they

For happiness and health
Our life would be much richer Here
Without a world of wealth.

ACTION NEEDED TO REVERSE TREND ON FARM PRICES

Along with the farmers in Missouri and nationally, members of the Senate from agricultural states are concerned about the drop in farm prices since August of last year.

The fact that realized net income in 1966 averaged $5,024 per farm, a 70 per cent increase over 1960, is no reassurance for the farmer who has seen his prices in the market place go down from 81 percent of parity last August to 74 percent on February 15, the lowest level since 1939.

In that period, wheat dropped from $1.70 per bushel to $1.49; corn from $1.34 per bushel to $1.26; soybeans (Missouri's biggest cash crop last year) from $3.49 per bushel to $2.71; and hogs from $24.50 per hundred - weight to $18.80. At the same time costs of production were going up.

The vice - like pressure of increased costs and lower selling prices is nowhere more evident than on milk producers.

Last week, here in Washington, Secretary of Agriculture Freeman told visiting farmers of steps he had taken in recent months to try and meet the dairyman's economic problem. He also announced a series of regional hearings, one of which is being held in St. Louis Wednesday, April 12, to consider price increases in the fluid milk markets of the nation.

A bill to limit importation of milk and milk products, of which I am sponsor, is now awaiting Senate Agriculture Committee hearings.

At the Secretary's request, the President has already asked the Tariff Commission to hold hearings on this same problem. I am urging that the Administration also take immediate steps, under authority previously granted, to impose quotas while the Commission conducts its hearings. I am also requesting that consideration be given to increased loan rates for wheat export certificates and increased loan rates for feed grains.

With farm surpluses at the lowest levels in many years, effective steps must be taken now to assure the farm people of Missouri and the nation that we are not trying to feed and clothe the world at their expense, and that we do not expect the farmers to accept sub - standard incomes in order to subsidize the best-fed, most prosperous nation in the world.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

A woman emerged from a supermarket pushing a cart containing two small children, and followed by a boy with a cartload of groceries. He loaded the groceries in the car, then took the children and put them in the back seat. A child in an auto nearby watched all the circumstances with fascination, then exclaimed, "Look, daddy! That lady just bought some children in that store."

To The Editor:

ALL 50 STATES' LEGISLATURES ALLOWED OF OUR U.S. CONSTITUTION DESTRUCTION

Starting in 1913 - and increasingly since 1932 (the so-called NEW DEAL), ALL States' Legislatures - who - under our U. S. Constitution - were hired (elected) TO BOSS and CONTROL - the Constitutionally - LIMITED, Federal Government - which the States created - after successfully eliminating the monarchical tyranny of King George III - spinelessly and treasonably - betrayed their people who elected them - by meekly allowing - the formation in Washington - of a new - BUT AGE OLD - Federal - Centralized Monarchy - to usurp ALL Constitutional powers of the Sovereign States - and CONTROL over ALL possessions, earnings, education and freedoms of their people - in their respective States.

Never - has there been a larger number, of irresponsible, history-ignorant politicians - thousands of States' Legislators, since 1913 - fiddling with petty local politics - WHILE AMERICA BURNED.

How - the thousands of our States' Legislators, can sleep at nights - with no remorse about ignoring their promise to God, with their hands upon His Holy Bible - to "uphold and defend the Constitution of our United States" - Betraying All of the people in their respective States - and thoughtlessly condemning our and their own descendants - to bondage - or slavery - is beyond comprehension.

Let us look at their ignominious, careless, immoral record. Their FIRST big mistake - was - three fourths of the States Legislatures ratified the 1913 income tax - sixteenth amendment - which they knew - or should have known - that our learned Founding Fathers refused to even consider. Why? Because our forefathers were familiar with ALL history. They knew - that from the days of Jesus Christ - down to the flight of the Pilgrims - ruthless State-Church tyrants, enslaved the masses, with the income tax - which always was increased to confiscation - of everything - the people owned.

The second freedom - destroying, devastating uneconomic, inexcusable Blunder - was Unconstitutional. And - our States' Legislatures NEVER asserted their RIGHTS - of three fourths of them agreeing thereto - in accordance with Article V of our Constitution. It is the so-called "Federal Reserve System."

Under our Constitution-ONLY our U.S. Congress - is charged with handling our MONEYS. Our U. S. Congress unconstitutionally ABDICATED their DUTY AND TRUST - and handed upon a platter - to a group of wealthy individuals - the control of ALL money - of our millions of people. This Goliath of money - changers - since 1913 - has milked untold billions of dollars - from ALL of our people.

And - our elected Presidents - 535 Congressmen and 50 States' Legislatures - never even ask these money-changers - for periodical reports of their billions of dollars in profits - at the expense of you and me - all taxpayers.

The third, freedom-destroying mistake - was ratification of the 17th Amendment to our Constitution - by three fourths of our States' Legislatures. Our original Constitution - wisely provided - that our Congressional Senators be selected by our Sovereign States' Legislatures. ONLY the Congressional Representatives - were to be elected by popular vote - every two years.

Our States' Legislatures, meekly gave up their control over their two Congressional Senators - by three fourths of the States' agreeing thereto. The result - our Congressional - now uncontrolled Senators - with six years tenure - sold our people DOWN THE RIVER - by doing everything demanded - by our new, Washington - controlled monarchy - even to subordination of our U. S. Constitution - our freedoms - and the lives of our military men and boys - to the dictates of an ungodly conglomeration of a hundred odd, atheist, neutral, illiterate, scheming countries - and their self - interest - only politicians - all over the world - the so-called United Nations.

The fourth "Breach of Trust" - by our States' Legislatures - ignoring their promise to God - and the people in their respective States - was their failure to YELL TO HIGH HEAVEN - when our U. S. Congress, unconstitutionally rammed through the 14th Amendment - which was never ratified by three fourths of our States' Legislatures. This Unconstitutional Amendment has been blatantly - and satanically used - by our Presidential, purposely - appointed, atheist - thinking, politicians - on our so-called Supreme Court - as a basis - for many of their unconstitutional decisions.

The fifth Breach of Trust - by our States' Legislatures - was playing dead - and saying nothing - when President Roosevelt - and his VASSAL majority of Congress - destroyed our Gold-Standard in 1934 - and even repudiated America's printed promise in its Government bonds - to redeem them in gold at maturity.

The result - elimination of Government obligation to escrow 30% to 40% of gold in America's vaults - for guaranteed payment of our currency and maturing U. S. Bonds. This allowed unlimited printing of fiat Government Bonds - to be used as money - in deficit - spending our America - into national bankruptcy.

The sixth - and ON AND ON - up to hundreds of States' Legislatures "breaches of trust" - are the MANY, unconstitutional Federal Bureaucracies - set up by our new, monarchical dynasty in Washington - to CONTROL - EVERY FACET of the possessions, incomes, lives and FREEDOMS - of EVERY man, woman and child in EVERY State. Not one word in our Constitution - ALLOWS ANY OF THEM. And - our States' Legislatures did not say "boo" - and don't even peep today - about their right - to first ratify all constitutional changes.

President Johnson - in practically every television broadcast - insults the intelligence of all of us - by telling of new unconstitutional Bureaucracies, Commissions and Boards - that HE has appointed - to do all things - for all of us - because we - are too dumb and ignorant to take care of ourselves - as we did in our respective sovereign states - over our first 130 years - after winning our independence - from the socialist - state - monarchy - of King George III.

All of this leads up to a ray of hope - toward saving our Christian, Constitutional America - from going down into slavery and oblivion.

For the FIRST time - since 1787 - some of our States are petitioning for a "Constitutional Convention" - to protest the Supreme Court's unconstitutional decision on "legislative apportionment."

Never - since our Declaration of Independence - have our people been so completely controlled - by a scheming, centralized, power and tyrannical hungry - oligarchy - generally, unthinkingly, ignorantly and worshiply - called our Federal Government. Throughout all history - centralized - Government - has been the worst enemy of the Peoples - by usurpation of their possessions and freedoms.

TODAY - for the second time in American history - we must have a resurrection of our original "Declaration of Independence". Our people must demand from their once Sovereign - States' Legislatures - A Constitutional Convention - not just to protest one or two unconstitutional, Supreme Court decisions - but to resurrect our U. S. Constitution in its entirety. It is the ONLY, slavery - preventing - man - made laws - IN ALL HISTORY.

Number ONE on the agenda for the Constitutional Convention - is Repeal of our Income Tax - 16th Amendment - with the LIBERTY AMENDMENT - already passed by seven States' Legislatures.

Number TWO on the agenda - is the exercise of U. S. Government option - to purchase from the MONEY CHANGERS - ALL stock of the unconstitutional Federal Reserve banks - for approximately three hundred million dollars - thereby liquidating them - and demand that Congress take back their power and trust of the peoples' moneys - subject to the DEMANDS of our Sovereign - States' Legislatures.

Number three - repeal the 17th Amendment - and return to the Sovereign - States' Legislatures - their Constitutional Rights to select their own two Senators in our originally - intended - limited, Federal Congress.

Number four - demand resubmission of the 14th Amendment - to our 50 States' Legislatures - for approval or rejection. This amendment was never ratified by three fourths of our States' Legislatures - even though our power - hungry, Federal Government - forcibly ousted the Legislatures of a number of Southern States - and replaced them with vassal Carpetbaggers.

Number five - demand a stop - to deficit spending - at home and all over the world - except - if necessary - only for National Defense. Demand - working back - to balanced budgets - return to the gold-standard - and paying off our national debt - which is one and one-half times the amount - owned by all the rest of the world - instead of loading it upon the shoulders of our children - grand and great-grandchildren - and millions of the unborn.

Number six - elimination entirely - of all unconstitutional, Federal Bureaucracies - and return to each and every State - their Sovereign-States' rights to handle their own problems.

Our nearly two hundred million people don't know - can't know - are lied to - and purposely kept in the dark - about most everything our new, scheming, Federal Monarchy is doing - to enslave all of us. The people in their respective, fifty, once-sovereign States - are close to their States' Legislatures - and can keep tab on - and know - what they are doing - quickly vote out those who ignore the wishes of the people.

Let our people - by the millions - demand their respective State Legislatures - to convene a "Constitutional Convention" - to nullify all of the foregoing - including replacing the majority of satanic politicians on our Supreme Court - with experienced, Constitution - believing, God-fearing Judges - selected by our States - with instructions to rescind all past, Supreme Court unconstitutional decisions.

And - all States must reject the ungodly United Nations - which they never had a chance to ratify - and each state Legislature - working with their people - select and elect - new congressional senators and representatives - to replace all spineless, vassal congressmen - who have sold American and our People - down the river - into bondage.

Key Club Treasure Steaks

Treasures as good as the steaks are the fresh mushrooms filled with a blue cheese stuffing and the gay little cherry tomatoes that are used for the garnish. Swift's Premium ProTen Key Club Steaks (or you might use Key Strip, Imperial, Porterhouse, or Sirloin) cut 1 to 1¼ inches thick assure tender, juicy steaks for charcoal or ovenbroiling. The rich blue cheese flavor in the unique stuffing of the mushrooms comes from Treasure Cave Blue Cheese.

The stuffed mushrooms on skewers are placed in the broiler about 5 minutes before the steaks are done. The cherry tomatoes are served chilled on skewers because tomatoes only fall off during broiling. To make Blue Cheese Stuffed Mushrooms combine 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine with 1 tablespoon blue cheese, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and 1 cup soft bread crumbs. Wash 14 to 16 large fresh mushrooms and remove the stems. The stems may be chopped fine and added to the stuffing. Fill half of the mushroom caps with stuffing, cover with another mushroom cap and place on skewers, alternating with small squares of green pepper. Brush all with melted butter and place on broiler rack with steaks. ProTen steaks 1¼ inches thick will require about 15 minutes to bring to rare. Add 5 minutes for medium and 10 minutes for well-done steaks.

BEEF BURGERS A LA BLUE

Yield: 4 servings

4 ounce package Treasure Cave Blue Cheese
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine ground beef, salt, and pepper. Shape into 4 thick patties and broil until rare, medium, or well done. Just before serving, top hot beef burgers with crumbled blue cheese.

Variation: Shape ground beef into 8 patties. Place a spoonful of crumbled blue cheese on each of 4 patties. Top with remaining beef patties and seal edges. Broil.

TURKEY SALAD SANDWICHES

Yield: 8 sandwiches

2 packages (4 ounces each) Treasure Cave Blue Cheese, crumbled
2½ cups cooked, cubed turkey
2 cups finely chopped celery
½ cup chopped blanched almonds
½ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
8 slices of toast

In a large bowl combine turkey, celery, almonds, green pepper, pimiento, onion, salt, and lemon juice. Add mayonnaise and blend well. Spread salad mixture on 8 slices toasted bread. 8 toasted English muffin halves or 8 toasted buns. Sprinkle about 2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese over each sandwich. Serve cold. Or, to serve hot, place under broiler for 2 to 3 minutes, or until cheese bubbles.

'NEVER UNDERESTIMATE. '

We all remember the story of the strapping boy who helpfully held the lantern while his mother chopped the wood. And many of us have felt, when seeing pictures of women doing hard labor on the streets of Russian cities, that Soviet officialdom was too much like the inconsiderate son.

But things are changing. The newspaper Evening Moscow has urged its readers to remember that legal equality of the sexes does not mean that women should be treated just like men. It ran an article by the well-known author Vladimir Nemtsov, in which he expressed indignation at seeing women workers in a factory carrying heavy loads while a husky young man nearby was merely tending the snack bar.

This reaction is in line with many others of a similar nature in Russia. In recent years weddings, which used to be quick and drab affairs, have again been given romantic color. Women's fashions, formerly more suitable for tractor work, have now become feminine and attractive. Lipstick has even been encouraged in Communist publications.

We should like to think that all these improvements began with men's seeing on their own that things needed changing. But we suspect that they came about primarily through that irresistible pressure which women -- single or en masse -- know how to utilize when their hearts are set on something.

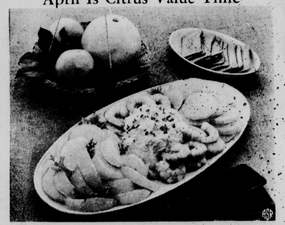
April Is Citrus Value Time



Come spring, a gal's mirror often reflects the need for a little calorie counting. Losing pounds needn't be a chore when you discover how many foods are not only low in calories but good tasting and good for you. High on the list are juicy Florida citrus fruits — oranges and grapefruit.

April is Florida citrus value time. Richly-flavored oranges and plump pink and white grapefruit offer healthful eating at low prices, so it makes good "cents" to enjoy them at least once every day. Both oranges and grapefruit are listed as plentiful foods by the U.S. Department of Agriculture this month.

Luscious Valencia orange slices and juicy grapefruit sections combine with shrimp and cottage cheese for a colorful, appetizing low-calorie salad. A perfect dressing for this, or any, fruit salad uses frozen Florida orange juice concentrate for tart-sweet, refreshing flavor.

Dressing For Citrus Salad

¼ cup frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
¼ cup plain yogurt
1 tablespoon honey
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon minced fresh tarragon leaves, or ½ teaspoon dried tarragon

In medium size bowl, combine undiluted orange concentrate, yogurt, honey and salt; blend until smooth. Add tarragon; refrigerate at least one hour until flavors blend. Pour 1 tablespoon per serving over salad.

CUT STATE PROPERTY TAX 3 CENTS

Senator T. D. McNeal's bill to repeal the state tax of 3 cents on real and personal property for general revenue purposes deserves strong support.

Property owners now carry by far the greatest load in supporting local governments and schools. In recent years they have had one increase after another. Now, at a time when Missouri has a surplus of more than $35,000,000, property owners should be given relief.

As Senator McNeal points out, the federal and state governments have pre-empted nearly all tax sources except the property tax. The state wants to recover part of its lost tax sources from the federal governments the same consideration its hopes to receive from Washington.

Reducing the present 6-cent state property tax to 3 cents (the state uses the other 3 cents of the tax to pay for pensions to the blind), will cost $2,500,000 in revenue. But it is apparent Missouri can well afford the cut at this time.

Drew Pearson Special

DREW PEARSON SAYS: John F. Kennedy is hero throughout Latin America; Colombia generally friendly to USA.

(Editor's Note: On the eve of the summit conference, Drew Pearson reports further on the likes and dislikes, the problems and policies of South Americans re the United States.)

WASHINGTON -- In December, 1961, when I accompanied President John F. Kennedy to Colombia, he dedicated a small cinder block foundation as the start of a new Alliance for Progress housing project. The Colombia government didn't tell him, but the fact was that the foundation had been laid only a few days before. It was a rush job to show that Colombia had done at least something toward the Alliance for Progress.

Today that lone cinder - rock foundation has expanded into a thriving suburb of 70,000 people on the outskirts of Bogota, now named "Ciudad Kennedy" in honor of the man who laid its cornerstone.

There are rows and rows of brick apartment houses built under a uniform design supplied by the Colombia government. There are also rows and rows of individual homes, built according to the owner's own design. But they are not shacks or makeshift tin-roofed slum dwellings. They are neat and orderly, and the people who live in them are proud of their homes.

I inspected a new schoolhouse where several hundred children swarmed over the playground playing soccer and shooting basketballs.

In the heart of the city, and rather difficult to locate because so many homes have been built up around it, is the house whose cornerstone Kennedy laid in 1961. It bears a plaque marking that memorable occasion.

As you walk down the main street, you pass a "Jacqueline Drugstone" and a "Jacqueline Panificadora," which means, "Jacqueline's Bakery."

There are green shrubs planted outside the buildings, curtains in the windows, and the lawns, though scanty in size, are neat and orderly, which is rare in any government housing project whether in Manhattan, San Juan, or Lima.

John F. Kennedy is a hero throughout Latin America. The Alliance For Progress he started did not get too far, but he is credited with good intentions. In Ciudad Kennedy, however, the late President is more than a hero, he is a saint. On the anniversary of his assassination, November 22, his picture is shown in the windows of Ciudad Kennedy, sometimes alongside the picture of Christ.

HATE - LOVE AMERICA

Bogota is a city where for many years the populace threw stones through the windows of the American Embassy on July 4 to punctuate their hatred of the United States over Teddy Roosevelt's seizure of Panama and the canal route.

Today Colombians have forgiven us most of our sins, and the atmosphere generally is friendly. We are both loved and hated, admired and envied, lauded and cussed. The United States is also imitated, both our good traits and our bad, which is the sincerest form of flattery.

In the heart of downtown Bogota is the "Centro Colombo-Americano," the largest Colombian - American student center in Latin America. It was built with money left in Colombia from the sale of surplus American wheat, and today four thousand Colombian students are members.

At its lunch counter you can buy "the largest hotdogs in Colombia" or "Hamburgers Pan American" or "Chile Con Carne, Texas style."

You can also read several thousand volumes of American books, study English, or just relax and get acquainted with your student neighbors. These English - language centers are maintained by the U. S. Information Service all over Latin America, are almost self-supporting, and are one of the most effective jobs the USIA has done. Even Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., the super - critical economizer, has been happy over them.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Bogota is preparing to welcome Pope Paul and the Eucharistic congress in 1968. As a result, Mayor Virgilio Barco, the very progressive executive of Bogota, is sprucing up the city. He is sodding the avenue of the Americas and planting new trees. Lady Bird would be pleased. . . . President Lleras is now preparing to resume diplomatic relations with the Sovet Union. This gripes some of the Colombian aristocracy, including Senora Zuleta, charming wife of the former Ambassador to Washington and former foreign minister. She says, "My husband broke relations with the Russians after the Communist riots in 1948. He wrote the Russians a strong letter saying we had no reason for relations with Russia anymore. We still don't have any reason for such relations--unless it's to irk the United States.". . . Lauchlin Currie, a former White House aide under FDR, is now living in Colombia, where he's become a citizen. Sen. Joe McCarthy staged a bitter campaign against Currie, as a result of which Currie found it more pleasant to become a Colombian citizen. He drafted farsighted plans for Colombia's successful economic progress and is now head of the economics department of the University of Bogota.

Five Cairo Taverns Named

CAIRO (AP) - A Dram shop suit against five Cairo tavern operators was filed Monday by a sixth tavern owner who was wounded in a shooting in his establishment a year ago.

Charlie D. Thompson, 51, owner of the Hub Lounge, alleged in a circuit court suit that the five taverns sold liquor to Paul Baykowski, 34, of St. Louis, prior to the shooting April 13, 1966.

David Caughlin, 37, of Cairo, was killed and Thompson was wounded in the shooting.

Baykowski and Vincent Gendron, 32, of East St. Louis, are serving identical 10 to 15 year prison terms. They were convicted of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the shooting.

Named in the suit are the Turf Club, Dover's Taver, Kentucky Tavern, Club 18 and the Tic Toc Club.

The Dram Shop Act makes a tavern operator responsible for actions of his customers if they are intoxicated when they leave his establishment.

Water District Petition Filed

KENNETT -- A petition was filed in the office of Dunklin County Circuit Clerk Brydon Ross, calling for the formation of a public water supply district in the North Dunklin area.

The district, to be known as Public Water Supply District No. 1 of Dunklin County, would involve 60 miles of water line and would have three storage tanks to serve about 350 users.

Water will be purchased from the City of Malden to serve the district, which will include all of Union and Cotton Hill Townships, except Campbell and Malden.

Metz Skelton, engineer for the project, is now working on plans and specifications and hopes to have them ready by July 1.

Sketon said a tentative commitment has been received from the Farmers Home Administration for a $440,000 loan on the system. It would be financed through a 35-year revenue bond issue.

The district also would include about 80,000 acres.

The Circuit Court has been asked to set a hearing on the petition for May 22 at 10 a.m. in the Circuit Court room in Kennett. Exceptions to the formation of the proposed district or to the boundaries outlined must be filed not less than five days prior to the date set for the hearing.

The court will then set a date for an election on the issue. If approved, a corporation will be formed. Another election will then be called to vote on the bond issue to finance the system.

EGGS:

PLENTY AND THRIFTY

This spring's abundance of eggs - already obvious to alert shoppers - is expected to stay with us awhile - and at increasingly attractive prices.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman recently pointed out that supplies of eggs now and during the coming months will make it possible to offer consumers this highly nutritious and outstanding protein food at bargain prices. Wholesale prices recently hit the lowest level in almost two years, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. Egg output, running some seven percent more than a year ago, will continue to provide larger than normal supplies at least through July.

As a result of all this abundance, eggs are at the top of USDA's Plentiful Foods List for April. And consumers should be finding prices on eggs increasingly attractive.

When considering the cost of eggs, remember that a carton weighs more than a pound (except for Peewees). For example, a dozen large size eggs - USDA graded - will weigh at less a pound and a half.

If these large eggs are selling for 60 cents a dozen, you are actually paying only 40 cents per pound - very reasonable for a pound of high protein food. At current prices, your egg purchase is even thriftier.

WHAT IS AN EGG?

What is an egg? Besides good eating and a cooking ingredient few homemakers would be without . . . an egg is a capsule of valuable nutrients.

Nature's "pre-packaged" food product is especially valued as a source of high quality protein, points out the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In fact, egg protein often is used as a standard to measure the value of protein in other foods.

The amount and quality of this protein make eggs a good alternate for meat. They can readily be "chalked up" as one of the two or more meat-type foods we should eat daily. And two eggs will supply as much as 20 percent of the high quality protein needed by an adult.

They also supply significant amounts of vitamin A, iron and riboflavin. Furthermore, eggs are one of the few foods that contain natural vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin.

Easily digested eggs make a valuable contribution to the food needs of growing children, adults and older people as well. For children, of course, growth promoting protein is essential; for older folks the same nutrient helps in repairs.

Even weight-reducers count on the capsule of nutrition. One large egg contains 80 calories - a reasonable "cost" for the food value supplied. More than half these calories, by the way, are in the yolk.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

EGGS IN HIDING

Eggs are indispensable to good cooking. Indeed, as those on special diets have found out, it is hard to cook without them.

Eggs may appear on breakfast, brunch, lunch, snack or dinner menus. Then again, the egg may be in these meals . . . but not appear.

They have the amazing ability to perform different jobs in different situations and many times it is a hidden role, explains the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In cakes, breads, souffles and omelets, eggs do the LEAVENING. That is, they make these food creations lighter and fluffier.

Clear soups and consummes gain a crystal-like appearance by the addition of an egg just before serving. In this case, the egg plays a CLARIFYING role, driving unwanted particles to the bottom.

The THICKENING in custards, puddings and many sauces is another job performed by eggs.

To retard CRYSTALLIZATION in candies and icings. . . look to eggs again.

Naturally eggs make a popular GARNISH for canapes, salads and main dishes.

How do you keep the COATING on breaded poultry, meat and fish? Beaten egg! Likewise, it helps BIND TOGETHER croquettes, meat loaves and similar dishes.

And, for that tricky job of holding together oil and vinegar -- in mayonnaise and salad dressings -- an egg in hiding is the emulsifier.

Coop Students' Banquet Set

The Sikeston chapter of the distributive education and cooperative occupational educational classes will hold its annual banquet at the Holiday Inn Thursday at 7 p.m.

Charleston chapter students also will attend the banquet.

Robert Crawford, Jefferson City, executive vice - president of Missouri Retailers Association, will speak on "Sikeston: 2,000 A. D."

Students will have their employers and wives as guests.

There are 35 students enrolled in the classes here. They receive business training and compensation while attending school.

Wheat Crop Estimated

WASHINGTON AP -- The Agriculture Department estimated this year's drought-plagued winter wheat crop at 1,162,348,008 bushels.

This compared with last year's crop of 1,056,821,000 bushels and the 1961 - 65 average of 969,971,000. But it falls short of the record 1,282,860,000 bushels indicated last December after the crop had been seeded on an acreage 26 per cent larger than for the 1966 crop.

The largest winter wheat crop ever produced was 1,173,538,000 bushels in 1958.

The indicated production of winter wheat by states included Missouri 56,970,000 bushels.

Stocks on farms April 1 in bushels included:

Missouri 70,531,000 bushels.

Soybeans -- Missouri 5,980,000 bushels.

PRESIDENT RENE BARRIENTOS ORTUNO OF BOLIVIA and Drew Pearson embrace in the traditional Latin American manner when Pearson arrives at Santa Cruz, Bolivia, on a swing around Latin America preceding President Johnson's trip to the Summit Conference at Punta del Este. The white flecks are confetti.

CHARLESTON -- S. C. -- A U. S. Air Force automotive repairman from Bernie, Mo., is a member of an airlift wing cited for setting an unofficial world's record for low-altitude airdrops by C-141 Lockheed Starlifter aircraft.

Airman Second Class Guy A. Brigman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brigman of Bernie, supported the 437th Military Airlift Wing at Charleston AFB, S. C., in its recent test airdrop of 34 tons of cargo.

The payload, a string of 28 loaded pallets connected by cables, was paradropped from a 500-foot altitude at 160 miles per hour. The cargo hit a 120-foot square bullseye on the Starlifter's initial flight over the target zone.

Wing members conducted the test - part of a demonstration for a Military Airlift Command (MAC) headquarters inspection team -- to prove the vast potential of the huge new C-141. The test, combined with other capabilities demonstrated by the airman's unit, brought the wing a successful rating from MAC headquarters observers.

Airman Brigman's wing was the first unit on the East Coast to fly the C-141 on operational missions.

The airman is married to the former Karen S. Zieg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zieg of Marshal, Minn.

BILOXI, Miss. -- Airman Second Class Johnny M. Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gardner of 707 Troy St., Sikeston, Mo., has been graduated at Keesler AFB, Miss., from the training course for U. S. Air Force navigation equipment repairmen.

The airman, a graduate of Matthews (Mo.) High School, is being assigned to Sewart AFB, Tenn., for duty with the Tactical Air Command.

His wife, Leaquieta, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lenord A. Lyons of Diehlstadt Rural Station, Diehlstadt, Mo.

Pearson Visit Precedes LBJ Latin Call

WASHINGTON -- The fact that Drew Pearson and Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren visited Latin America together preliminary to President Johnson's trip there for the summit conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay, focuses attention on the fact that Pearson is the most widely read columnist in the world.

Drew Pearson's column not only appears in almost 700 newspapers in the United States, twice as many as in any other Washington columnist, but also in 30 newspapers in foreign countries. While figures on the usage of other American columnists abroad are not available, it is believed that no other columnists matches the foreign circulation of the Merry-Go-Round by Drew Pearson and his associate, Jack Anderson.

The widespread publication of the column in Latin America caused Pearson to be recognized as a celebrity by officials, journalists and readers wherever he traveled.

The column appears in newspapers in La Paz, Bolivia; Santiago, Chile; Bogota and Cali, Colombis; Santo Domingo, the Republic of Santo Domingo; Guayaquil, Ecuador; Guatemala City, Guatemala; San Pedro Sula, Honduras; Laredo, Juarez, Merida, Obregon, Monterrey and Mexico City, Mexico; Panama; San Juan, Puerto Rico; San Salvador, El Salvador; Maracaibo and Caracas, Venezuela, all in Latin America.

In Mexico City and Caracus, his column appears in two papers, one in Spanish and one in English.

The Merry-Go-Round column always appears in Weisbaden, Germany; Saloniki, Greece; Shizuoka and two papers in Tokyo, Japan; Manila; Philippines; Geneva, Switzerland; and Luanda, Portuguese West Africa. It also appears in Spanish language newspapers in Miami and Los Angeles, which are widely circulated overseas.

In addition, Pearson and Anderson are frequently quoted in newspapers in Britain, France, Italy and other European countries and Israel.

UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES

The month of April, a time of beauty as spring breaks over the American landscape, this year may be marred by ugly political realities. At mid-month, for example, it is expected that anarchists and "peaceniks" in the Northeast will coverage on New York City to conduct massive demonstrations at the gates of the United Nations building against U.S. defense of freedom in South Vietnam.

According to reliable reports, these demonstrations are likely to be the largest ever carried out by radical elements in the nation. Among the prominent participants, it is believed, will be the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., who is shifting his attention from "civil rights" strife campaigns to the anti-Vietnam campaign.

The worsening of the battlefield situation of the communists in Vietnam lies behind the new urgency with which domestic radicals are approaching the April demonstrations. The homefront leftists realize that the communists troops in Vietnam are facing annihilation and that public pressure is mounting for stepped-up air and naval attacks against Communist North Vietnam. Thus they clearly intend to pull out all the stops in demonstrations inside the U. S. A. They are reported to be seeking bloody clashes with police authorities. In particular, they want a real clash at the gates of the U.N. building, in order to make the Vietniks here appear as martyrs. They also believe that massive anti-Vietnam demonstrations in the U.S.A. will produce even stronger anti-American declarations by the Afro-Asian bloc in the U.N. and by U Thant, Secretary-General of the U.N. U Thant already has clearly indicated that his sympathies lie with Hanoi, not Saigon.

The demonstrations planned for New York City are only part of a new drive by the pro-communist forces to gain power in the United States and to eliminate anti-communist activities on the part of the U.S. government.

Insufficient attention has been paid to what is known as "The States. Reference here is to the ultra-leftwing sheets which have begun to appear in several cities and on a number of campuses. These small newspapers have as their principal target the stopping of American efforts in Vietnam. To this end, they endorse every conceivable assault on public authority and public decencies. They approve the flight of young peaceniks to Canada, where they have a safe harbor as draft-dodgers. They recommend films produced by or in behalf of the Viet Cong. Among their various editorial proposals are projects that are utterly obscene and perverted, which cannot be described in family newspapers, but which are in effort to degrade public officials.

It should be realized, too, that "The Underground Press" stresses "free speech campaigns" involving filthy language and recommends the showing of pornographic films. Realistic observers of these gutter sheets understand that the endorsement of pornography in print and on film is a calculated effort to undermine the morality of the American people. In an effort to weaken the fabric of our nation, these journals and their sponsors hope to turn loose a flood of pornographic material.

In this connection, the national public should know that in recent months one of these "underground" papers distributed 70,000 copies of one of its filthiest issues to elementary school children on New York City's East Side. Now, it is obvious that printing and distribution of 70,000 copies of a gutter sheet is a costly proposition. Public agencies and private citizens should inquire as to the source of the money for this project. Indeed it is time that the House Committee on Un-American Activities, or other suitable agencies of Congress, conduct a full-scale investigation of the actions and financial backing of "The Underground Press". Some well informed journalists, who have devoted years to the study of Communists Party operations in the United States, are certain that the money for both the upcoming demonstrations and the continuing and accelerated pornography campaign is coming from communists sources.

The danger is that the public will imagine that the war in Vietnam is a one-front war. The truth is that the front is everywhere, including here on the home front. Among the targets of the communists are not only soldiers in the Pacific but the youth people of our nation, the students who will be the leaders of tomorrow. This is why it is imperative that there be an immediate investigation of what lies behind these new un-American activities.

Drivers Return ToWork

Normal operations in the trucking lines directly serving Sikeston are expected to be resumed by the end of the week spokesmen for the three firms said today.

Some of the truckers were called in to resume work today following settlement of the Trucking Employers Association shutdown called during the weekend.

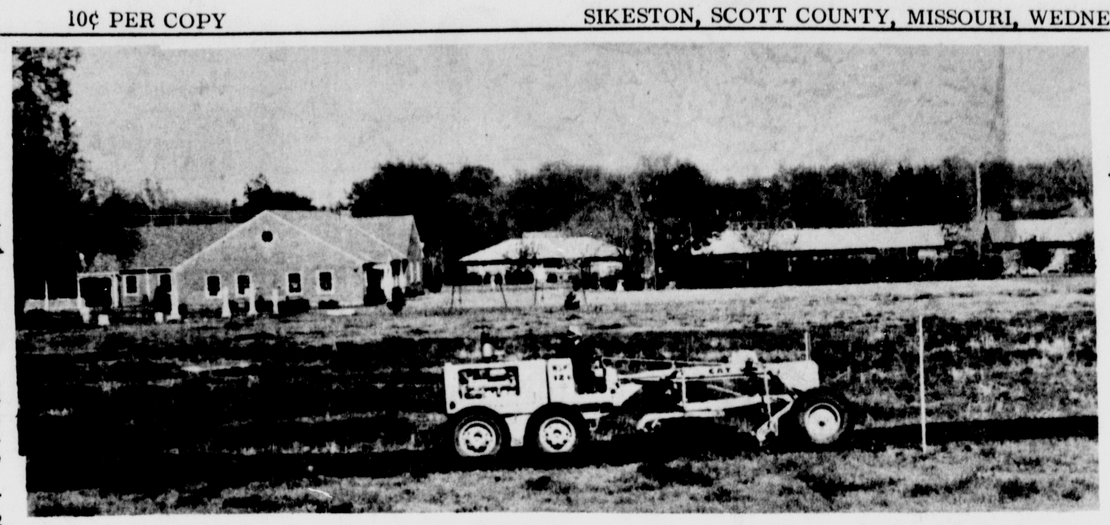
Ross Milburn, terminal manager of Tucker Trucking Lines, Industrial Drive, said six of the company's 22 truck drivers were returned to work today.

John Stewart, union steward at Tucker's for Teamsters 574 in Cape Girardeau, said normal operations here would probably be resumed by Friday.

Twelve truckers employed by Righter Trucking Co., Inc., 1115 West Malone, were returned to work today, Dean Righter, terminal manager said.

Some backlog of orders has accumulated, but normal operations are expected to be resumed tomorrow, Righter said.

Gordon Hart, manager of trucking terminals in Sikeston, Dexter, Malden and Poplar Bluff, reported that about 35 truckers who work out of the terminals returned today.



GRADING BEGAN Tuesday on Davis Road between Wakefield and Baker Lane. The street will have a six inch soil cement base laid , and an asphalt seal surface. W. S. McMullin Construction Co., route two, Sikeston, is doing the work. Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church is in the background at left.

SEMO Mining Boom Has Unlimited Promise

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) —The mineral boom in Missouri's southeastern Ozarks is so vast it is hard to grasp.

Its eventual economic impact is still a matter of conjecture. But the effects are beginning to be felt already.

When all of the mines, mills and smelters get into production some of the experts think Missouri will be the leading lead producing area in the world.

It could mean as much as approximately $400 million added to the state's economy.

Flying over the area, generally in Dent, Reynolds and Iron counties, you see one development after the other—all costing millions of dollars and all evidence of the confidence that huge companies in the mineral industries have in the area.

Australia is the leading lead producer in the world now, with about 400,000 tons a year.

By 1970, Missouri's production is expected to approach that figure according to Dr. Wallace B. Howe, assistant state geologist. He thinks lead production in the United States will increase so rapidly in the next few years that the nation no longer will have to import any lead.

Always assuming, of course, that market conditions hold up. Current prices are well over the break-even point on production costs.

Missouri has been the biggest lead producer in the United States for 58 of the last 59 years. It's getting bigger all the time.

And you have to add the increasing production of high grade iron ore plus the byproducts such as zinc, copper, silver, cadmium and sulphuric acid.

Earlier this year, Heyward Wharton, economic geologist with the Missouri Geological Survey, figured the new capital investment in the iron industry at $86.3 million, lead smelters at $37 million and lead mines and mills at $125.5 million.

That was based on $25 million estimated for a new iron pellet plant at Pilot Knob, scene of a bloody Civil War battle. But even before the first phase of construction was completed, the company boosted that by $10 million to $53 million.

By 1968 the estimated annual production would amount to around $164.5 million from both iron and lead, compared with $66.5.

He estimated the annual payroll would be about $30.8 million for some 4,300 employes.

Eight Streets Will Receive Asphalt Coats

Asphalt seal surfaces will be added to eight Sikeston streets in the next few days, City Manager W. Raymert Miller said today.

Work has begun on repairing Davis Road from Baker Lane to Wakefield. Allen Boulevard from Baker Lane to Wakefield also will be graded for a six inch soil cement base, and topped with an asphalt seal.

Other streets to receive asphalt seal toppings are, Baker Lane from Allen to Davis Road; Helen street from Kingshighway to Main; Broadway from Kentucky to Ables; Ruth street from the railroad to South West street; School street from Murray Lane to William, and North street from Frisco to North West street.

Weather permitting the whole resurfacing can possibly be accomplished in about a week, Miller said.

W. S. McMullin Construction Co., route two, has the contract.

Young Dexter Father Dies Beneath Auto

A young Dexter father, Jackie Wayne Jones, 22, was killed Tuesday at 6 p.m., when he was pinned under his 1956 Pontiac that left route F, two miles south of Aid in Stoddard county and overturned in a ditch.

A passenger, Jerry Gream, 23, Lavinie, Mich., received a fractured thumb, and was taken to Doctor's hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Jones lost control of his speeding car on a curve skidded on and off the road before leaving it again and stopping in the ditch.

Jones had been employed in Michigan and had returned for a visit with his family.

He was born Oct. 28, 1944 in Ottawa, Kan., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones. He was married in Dexter to Paulett Sanders March 21, 1966. She and an infant son, Tony Wayne Jones, survive.

Other survivors are his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Jones, and his stepfather, George O. Young, both of Dexter; three brothers, Dale Jones, with the army in the Canal Zone, Albert Lee Jones, Moberly, and Tommy Jones, Wappapello.; a half-brother, Ronald Young, Dexter; five sisters, Mrs. Barbara Payne, Puxico, Mrs. Betty Cox, address unavailable; Mrs. Shirley Hadley, Wappapello, Mrs. Mary Ester, St. Louis, and Miss Patsy Jones, Dexter; one half-sister, Miss Debra Young, Dexter; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Atchison, Cape Girardeau.

The body is at the Rainey Funeral Home.

Truck Strike Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trucks began hauling the nation's goods to market again today after a national contract agreement with the Teamsters Union ended a three-day industry lockout.

The three-year contract including an estimated 50-cent wage hike must still be ratified by 450,000 workers in some 12,000 trucking firms, but Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons urged the industry to immediately "get our people back to work."

Details of the pact were not announced.

Agreement by Trucking Employers Inc. got trucks rolling again within hours after the 1 a.m. settlement and was expected to end scattered panic buying, mass layoffs in some industries and a nationwide scare of growing shortages of many commodities.

Trucking Employers Inc. had called the lockout by some 1,500 of the nation's biggest firms in response to a rash of small Teamsters strikes that involved a few hundred men in a dozen or so cities.

"We are calling off our defensive shutdown," M. M. Gordon, president of TEI, said after the

Johnson Uses Jet Speed To Head off Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, operating with jet plane speed in a ground transport crisis, signed into law today the resolution barring a nationwide railroad strike for an extra 20 days.

The National Mediation Board announced it had received word the President, at a hemispheric summit meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, had affixed the signature that made the measure effective. Almost simultaneously word of the signing came in dispatches from Punta del Este.

Congress showing its own strong burst of speed, had passed the measures only Tuesday.

Early morning action by the chief executive made it clear the document had been hurried to him in an overnight flight to make sure of heading off the proposed walkout of railroad shopcraft workers at 12:01 a.m. Thursday. Flight time is 10 hours or more.

The mediation board, in an-

Johnson Begins Conference With 18 Latin American Chiefs of State

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—In a converted gambling casino, President Johnson faced 18 Latin American chiefs of state today for the first session of a summit conference on the economic future of the nations south of the U.S. border.

The chiefs of state began what unquestionably will be two days of hard bargaining over how to shape the future of Latin America's 230 million people and the role the United States will play in it.

Their first full meeting was an informal one but all were aware their foreign ministers had been obliged to leave over for them, for lack of agreement, the touchiest of the issues this summit conference must tackle.

Most of Latin America's leaders wanted from Johnson more than just promises and some of what they wanted he was not in a position to give.

The presidents entered the swank San Rafael seaside hotel between lines of grenadiers resplendent in 19th century style blue and red uniforms.

Glittering sabers flicked stiffly to attention each time a chief of state passed down a long hall to shake the hand of the host, President Oscar D. Gestido of Uruguay.

In the meeting room, the presidents took their assigned places at a huge, wooden circular table covered with green felt, occupying an area that only a short time before had throbbed with the excitement of gaming tables.

Before the first full informal session, Johnson continued his series of face-to-face meetings with individual chief executives.

He must deal with Latin American demands, which the United States is resisting, and he lacks advance blanket approval from the U.S. Congress to increase commitments to the rest of the hemisphere.

The U.S. President had a breakfast meeting with President Arthur da Costa e Silva of Brazil and shortly after met with President Fernando Belaunde Terry of Peru. They talked about the broad scopes of the problems with which this summit must deal. Johnson recalled that Belaunde had studied in Texas, where he was a friend of Mrs. Johnson. He told reporters he and Costa e Silva talked about common problems and "the leadership the presidents of Latin America are giving to this hemisphere."

In advance of the first formal summit session, the foreign ministers agreed on a preamble to the final conference declaration calling for economic integration of Latin America and creation of a common market. The preamble carried a U.S. pledge to support the common market.

Even this draft — a synthesis of Brazilian and U.S. proposals plus several dozen amendments — was heading into shoals. Representatives of a number of nations said they wanted another look at it before giving their final approval.

Despite four days of preliminary discussion, the foreign ministers were obliged for lack of agreement to leave the touchiest issues for their chiefs to deal with. President Johnson was faced by Latin-American demands which he has to resist because he lacks blanket approval from the U.S. Congress to increase U.S. commitments to the southern part of the hemisphere.

The United States, while strongly supporting the move for gradual creation of a common market, also is pushing the idea that if Latin America is to emerge into the 20th century free of violent revolution, it must be largely a do-it-yourself proposition.

A number of Latin-American nations have been demanding that the United States give preferential treatment to their goods in the U.S. market and that Washington permit the use of Alliance for Progress dollars in the world market, rather than restrict them to purchases in the United States. With its unfavorable balance of payments problem, the United States cannot bow to these demands.

A U.S. government source has said that Johnson's individual talks with the Latin-American presidents will probably be more important than the formal summit sessions. The U.S. President spent a busy day Tuesday.

Significantly, Johnson went to the headquarters of President Raul Leoni of Venezuela and talked with him for an hour and 20 minutes, more time than he devoted to private conversation with any of the other chiefs of state.

Leoni is a key figure. He represents the democratic left and is the head of a country with bright economic prospects. He is dead set against the inclusion in the preamble to the final declaration of any political phraseology, such as avowed continental resistance to Communist subversion. Evidently, President Johnson has been eager to have such language incorporated in the preamble.

The preamble draft covers subjects on which the United States and Latin nations can speak with a single voice, subjects on which the Latins speak for themselves and subjects on which the United States stands alone. Thus the preamble, if accepted in this form, would represent division as much as unity in the inter- American family.

The United States strongly supports the idea of the Latin-American common market and has offered to help tide over the American nations while they adjust their trade patterns. But resisting U.S. efforts to share in launching the common market.

President Johnson faced some tough bargaining. However, he made known that he was on hand primarily to listen, a statement reminiscent of those he made in Manila during the Vietnam summit meeting last October.

President Johnson was scheduled to meet with President Arturo Costa e Silva of Brazil and with President Fernando Belaunde Terry of Peru during the day.

Punta del Este was off limits to the public for the duration of the conference, but 70 miles away in Montevideo police broke up an attempt by about 200 members of a Communist-controlled student group to march down the main street in protest against the summit meeting.

A ring of police kept teachers, students and other pedestrians away from the university and the demonstrators said a student protest strike they had called was a success. The group remained inside the campus today, where police may not go because of the university's autonomous status.

Peter Myers Chosen Top Young Farmer in U.S.

CANALOU - Peter C. Myers, 35, has been selected as one of four of the nation's outstanding young farmers in 1967 by the National Awards Congress, sponsored by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He won the Missouri outstanding young farmer award of the state Jaycee organization in October.

Other outstanding young farmers chosen from 46 state winners and an original field of 12,000 entries were Joe Galleano, 35, Madera, Calif.; James E. Machek, 34, East Palatka, Fla.; and William J. Richards, 35, Circleville, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers will return from Virginia today.

Myers began full time farming in 1956, after spending summer vacations on the farm of his grandfather, Judge Xenifin Caverno.

He is the son of Sam Myers, a lawyer in Racine and married Mary Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Williamson of Racine. They have four children, Joseph 10, Peter nine, Christina five, and Gretchen, one.

House Approves Bill Changing Copyright Laws

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON AP -- The House has overwhelmingly approved the first general overhaul of the nation's complex copyright laws since 1909.

Compromise agreements eliminating a section relating to community antenna television — CATV — systems and revising a provision covering juke boxes paved the way toward the 379-29 roll-call vote passing the bill Tuesday and sending it to the Senate.

Hearings began last month before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee. Final action on the bill is expected later this year.

The Senate panel heard sultry singer Julie London demonstrate Tuesday her contention that the new copyright law should provide long - term record royalties for performers as well as composers.

The vehicle for Miss London's demonstration of song styling was the theme song of television's Mickey Mouse Club. She played a recording of that marching song for children, then one of her own which transformed the song into a sad ballad.

In other Capitol Hill action, the House Judiciary Committee okayed a bill that could force reapportionment in many states by 1972. The measure would limit deviations in size of congressional districts to 30 per cent in 1968 and to 10 per cent in 1972.

The House-passed copyright bill extends coverage time for authors, playwrights, composers and lyricists and takes into account technological advances since 1909. For example, it provides copyright coverage for material fed into computers and stored there.

House Bill Calls for School Bus Issue Vote

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- The Missouri House today passed a proposal that could settle one of its most pressing problems over the past 20 years -- whether state aid should be allowed toward the transportation of students of private and parochial schools.

The vote was 91-71. It now goes to the Senate.

If passed there it would go on the general or a special election ballot as a change in the 1945 Missouri constitution. Now, only students of public schools may get free transportation, financed by the state.

The major argument was to let the voters decide the years -long issue although some opponents stuck to their old arguments that it would eliminate the constitutional separation of church and state.

Sponsors said it was a safety and welfare measure.

There is a bill pending which would put the proposal into immediate effect if the voters approved.

Some of the dozen or so who spoke against the measure today insisted it was an explosive issue which would split components of the state's citizens for years to come. One member said it would "cause bitterness and strife and a division in many families."

The Senate passed, 20-13, a bill to raise to pay of all elective state officials.

The governor's pay would go from $25,000 to $37,500, lieutenant governor from $12,000 to $16,000, attorney general from $15,000 to $25,000 and the other elected state officials from $15,000 to $20,000.

Legislators would be paid $7,200 instead of the present $4,800 and supreme court judges would be increased from $22,500 to $26,500.

The cost of the bill is estimated at $1.5 million a year.

Also sent to the House was a bill to raise the pay of National Guardsmen on active duty to $14 a day. Enlisted men now get $3 to $8.

In a bill passing mood the Senate also sent to the House with little or no opposition bills to:

Set the time limit on felony paroles at 10 years and on misdemeanors at four years.

Allow milk to be sold in half-gallon containers or multiples thereof,

Raise the pay of St. Louis election judges and clerks from $15 to $18 a day.

Clear the way for construction of a state office building in St. Louis County with a provision that some of the space could be rented to county agencies to help pay off the bonds.

Allow St. Louis County police to arrest on suspicion of a misdemeanor the same as in St. Louis and Kansas City.

The Senate Judiciary Committee decided to draft a substitute bill for a House passed measure designed to ban fraud-

Powell Wins By Landslide

NEW YORK (AP) - For the second time in four months, the House of Representatives faces the sticky problem of what to do with Adam Clatyon Powell, who won a lopsided election victory in absentia in his Harlem constituency Tuesday.

While the free-wheeling congressman fished in Gulf Stream waters off his Bimini island retreat, 32,000 Harlem voters gave him an 86 per cent margin over his closest opponent. Lucille Pickett Williams, a Republican.

Unofficial returns gave Powell 27,900 votes to 4,091 for Mrs. Williams and only 427 for the third candidate, the Rev. Ervin F. Yearling, a Conservative. The 22-year House veteran, who may be forced to come back as a freshman, lost only 11 of 214 election districts, and those in a predominantly white corner of his 18th Congressional District.

The 86 per cent vote was a record for Powell. Last fall he received 74 per cent of 61,287 votes cast. In the 1964 general election he took 82 per cent of 111,012 ballots cast.

170 New Houses Built In Madrid County

NEW MADRID -- Results of an inventory of community development activities in New Madrid County were announced by Richard T. Bartlett, chairman of the county technical action panel, which conducted it.

The panel is made up of representatives of state and federal agencies.

The inventory showed there are 12 groups in New Madrid county working on community improvement projects. Projects completed during the year were overall development plan, feasibility study on pulp mill, and food preparation component of economic opportunity.

No new industries or businesses were established in 1966. 170 new houses were built in the county with a value of $1,700,000. The Farmers Home Administration furnished financing for 100 of them.

One industry or business in the county went out of business. This had an investment value of $300,000.

Projects expected to be completed during the year are comprehensive planning, three new water systems, and a new low cost housing project.

In the opinion of panel members, these areas of development represent the greatest potential for community improvement: public housing, watershed work, obtaining additional industry, community betterment program, and city dumping areas.

Drivers Return To Work

Normal operations in the trucking lines directly serving Sikeston are expected to be resumed by the end of the week spokesmen for the three firms said today.

Some of the truckers were called in to resume work today following settlement of the Trucking Employers Association shutdown called during the weekend.

Ross Milburn, terminal manager of Tucker Trucking Lines, Industrial Drive, said six of the company's 22 truck drivers were returned to work today.

John Stewart, union steward at Tucker's for Teamsters 574 in Cape Girardeau, said normal operations here would probably be resumed by Friday.

Twelve truckers employed by Righter Trucking Co., Inc., 1115 West Malone, were returned to work today, Dean Righter, terminal manager said.

Some backlog of orders has accumulated, but normal operations are expected to be resumed tomorrow, Righter said.

Gordon Hart, manager of trucking terminals in Sikeston, Dexter, Malden and Poplar Bluff, reported that about 35 truckers who work out of the terminals returned today.

Truck Strike Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trucks began hauling the nation's goods to market again today after a national contract agreement with the Teamsters Union ended a three-day industry lockout.

The three-year contract including an estimated 50-cent wage hike must still be ratified by 450,000 workers in some 12,000 trucking firms, but Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons urged the industry to immediately "get our people back to work."

Details of the pact were not announced.

Agreement by Trucking Employers Inc. got trucks rolling again within hours after the 1 a.m. settlement and was expected to end scattered panic buying, mass layoffs in some industries and a nationwide scare of growing shortages of many commodities.

Trucking Employers Inc. had called the lockout by some 1,500 of the nation's biggest firms in response to a rash of small Teamsters strikes that involved a few hundred men in a dozen or so cities.

"We are calling off our defensive shutdown," M. M. Gordon, president of TEI, said after the

SEMO Mining Boom Has Unlimited Promise

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) —The mineral boom in Missouri's southeastern Ozarks is so vast it is hard to grasp.

Its eventual economic impact is still a matter of conjecture. But the effects are beginning to be felt already.

When all of the mines, mills and smelters get into production some of the experts think Missouri will be the leading lead producing area in the world.

It could mean as much as approximately $400 million added to the state's economy.

Flying over the area, generally in Dent, Reynolds and Iron counties, you see one development after the other—all costing millions of dollars and all evidence of the confidence that huge companies in the mineral industries have in the area.

Australia is the leading lead producer in the world now, with about 400,000 tons a year.

By 1970, Missouri's production is expected to approach that figure according to Dr. Wallace B. Howe, assistant state geologist. He thinks lead production in the United States will increase so rapidly in the next few years that the nation no longer will have to import any lead.

Always assuming, of course, that market conditions hold up. Current prices are well over the break-even point on production costs.

Missouri has been the biggest lead producer in the United States for 58 of the last 59 years. It's getting bigger all the time.

And you have to add the increasing production of high grade iron ore plus the byproducts such as zinc, copper, silver, cadmium and sulphuric acid.

Earlier this year, Heyward Wharton, economic geologist with the Missouri Geological Survey, figured the new capital investment in the iron industry at $86.3 million, lead smelters at $37 million and lead mines and mills at $125.5 million.

That was based on $25 million estimated for a new iron pellet plant at Pilot Knob, scene of a bloody Civil War battle. But even before the first phase of construction was completed, the company boosted that by $10 million to $53 million.

By 1968 the estimated annual production would amount to around $164.5 million from both iron and lead, compared with $66.5.

He estimated the annual payroll would be about $30.8 million for some 4,300 employes.

Johnson Uses Jet Speed To Head off Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, operating with jet plane speed in a ground transport crisis, signed into law today the resolution barring a nationwide railroad strike for an extra 20 days.

The National Mediation Board announced it had received word the President, at a hemispheric summit meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, had affixed the signature that made the measure effective. Almost simultaneously word of the signing came in dispatches from Punta del Este.

Congress, showing its own strong burst of speed, had passed the measures only Tuesday.

Early morning action by the chief executive made it clear the document had been hurried to him in an overnight flight to make sure of heading off the proposed walkout of railroad shopcraft workers at 12:01 a.m. Thursday. Flight time is 10 hours or more.

Johnson Begins Conference With 18 Latin American Chiefs of State

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—In a converted gambling casino, President Johnson faced 18 Latin American chiefs of state today for the first session of a summit conference on the economic future of the nations south of the U.S. border.

The chiefs of state began what unquestionably will be two days of hard bargaining over how to shape the future of Latin America's 230 million people and the role the United States will play in it.

Their first full meeting was an informal one but all were aware their foreign ministers had been obliged to leave over for them, for lack of agreement, the touchiest of the issues this summit conference must tackle.

Most of Latin America's leaders wanted from Johnson more than just promises and some of what they wanted he was not in a position to give.

The presidents entered the swank San Rafael seaside hotel between lines of grenadiers resplendent in 19th century style blue and red uniforms.

Glittering sabers flicked stiffly to attention each time a chief of state passed down a long hall to shake the hand of the host, President Oscar D. Gestido of Uruguay.

In the meeting room, the presidents took their assigned places at a huge, wooden circular table covered with green felt, occupying an area that only a short time before had throbbed with the excitement of gaming tables.

Before the first full informal session, Johnson continued his series of face-to-face meetings with individual chief executives.

He must deal with Latin American demands, which the United States is resisting, and he lacks advance blanket approval from the U.S. Congress to increase commitments to the rest of the hemisphere.

The U.S. President had a breakfast meeting with President Arthur da Costa e Silva of Brazil and shortly after met with President Fernando Belaunde Terry of Peru. They talked about the broad scopes of the problems with which this summit must deal. Johnson recalled that Belaunde had studied in Texas, where he was a friend of Mrs. Johnson. He told reporters he and Costa e Silva talked about common problems and "the leadership the presidents of Latin America are giving to this hemisphere."

In advance of the first formal summit session, the foreign ministers agreed on a preamble to the final conference declaration calling for economic integration of Latin America and creation of a common market. The preamble carried a U.S. pledge to support the common market.

Even this draft — a synthesis of Brazilian and U.S. proposals plus several dozen amendments — was heading into shoals. Representatives of a number of nations said they wanted another look at it before giving their final approval.

Despite four days of preliminary discussion, the foreign ministers were obliged for lack of agreement to leave the touchiest issues for their chiefs to deal with. President Johnson was faced by Latin-American demands which he has to resist because he lacks blanket approval from the U.S. Congress to increase U.S. commitments to the southern part of the hemisphere.

The United States, while strongly supporting the move for gradual creation of a common market, also is pushing the idea that if Latin America is to emerge into the 20th century free of violent revolution, it must be largely a do-it-yourself proposition.

A number of Latin-American nations have been demanding that the United States give preferential treatment to their goods in the U.S. market and that Washington permit the use of Alliance for Progress dollars in the world market, rather than restrict them to purchases in the United States. With its unfavorable balance of payments problem, the United States cannot bow to these demands.

A U.S. government source has said that Johnson's individual talks with the Latin-American presidents will probably be more important than the formal summit sessions. The U.S. President spent a busy day Tuesday.

Significantly, Johnson went to the headquarters of President Raul Leoni of Venezuela and talked with him for an hour and 20 minutes, more time than he devoted to private conversation with any of the other chiefs of state.

Leoni is a key figure. He represents the democratic left and is the head of a country with bright economic prospects. He is dead set against the inclusion in the preamble to the final declaration of any political phraseology, such as avowed continental resistance to Communist subversion. Evidently, President Johnson has been eager to have such language incorporated in the preamble.

The preamble draft covers subjects on which the United States and Latin nations can speak with a single voice, subjects on which the Latins speak for themselves and subjects on which the United States stands alone. Thus the preamble, if accepted in this form, would represent division as much as unity in the inter-American family.

The United States strongly supports the idea of the Latin-American common market and has offered to help tide over the American nations while they adjust their trade patterns. But resisting U.S. efforts to share in launching the common market.

President Johnson faced some tough bargaining. However, he made known that he was on hand primarily to listen, a statement reminiscent of those he made in Manila during the Vietnam summit meeting last October.

President Johnson was scheduled to meet with President Arturo Costa e Silva of Brazil and with President Fernando Belaunde Terry of Peru during the day.

Punta del Este was off limits to the public for the duration of the conference, but 70 miles away in Montevideo police broke up an attempt by about 200 members of a Communist-controlled student group to march down the main street in protest against the summit meeting.

A ring of police kept teachers, students and other pedestrians away from the university and the demonstrators said a student protest strike they had called was a success. The group remained inside the campus today, where police may not go because of the university's autonomous status.

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- The Missouri House today passed a proposal that could settle one of its most pressing problems over the past 20 years -- whether state aid should be allowed toward the transportation of students of private and parochial schools.

The vote was 91-71. It now goes to the Senate.

If passed there it would go on the general or a special election ballot as a change in the 1945 Missouri constitution. Now, only students of public schools may get free transportation, financed by the state.

The major argument was to let the voters decide the years-long issue although some opponents stuck to their old arguments that it would eliminate the constitutional separation of church and state.

Sponsors said it was a safety and welfare measure.

There is a bill pending which would put the proposal into immediate effect if the voters approved.

Some of the dozen or so who spoke against the measure today insisted it was an explosive issue which would split components of the state's citizens for years to come. One member said it would "cause bitterness and strife and a division in many families."

The Senate passed, 20-13, a bill to raise to pay of all elective state officials.

The governor's pay would go from $25,000 to $37,500, lieutenant governor from $12,000 to $16,000, attorney general from $15,000 to $25,000 and the other elected state officials from $15,000 to $20,000.

Legislators would be paid $7,200 instead of the present $4,800 and supreme court judges would be increased from $22,500 to $26,500.

The cost of the bill is estimated at $1.5 million a year.

Also sent to the House was a bill to raise the pay of National Guardsmen on active duty to $14 a day. Enlisted men now get $3 to $8.

In a bill passing mood the Senate also sent to the House with little or no opposition bills to:

Set the time limit on felony paroles at 10 years and on misdemeanors at four years.

Allow milk to be sold in half-gallon containers or multiples thereof,

Raise the pay of St. Louis election judges and clerks from $15 to $18 a day.

Clear the way for construction of a state office building in St. Louis County with a provision that some of the space could be rented to county agencies to help pay off the bonds.

Allow St. Louis County police to arrest on suspicion of a misdemeanor the same as in St. Louis and Kansas City.

The Senate Judiciary Committee decided to draft a substitute bill for a House passed measure designed to ban fraud-

Powell Wins By Landslide

NEW YORK (AP) - For the second time in four months, the House of Representatives faces the sticky problem of what to do with Adam Clatyon Powell, who won a lopsided election victory in absentia in his Harlem constituency Tuesday.

While the free-wheeling congressman fished in Gulf Stream waters off his Bimini island retreat, 32,000 Harlem voters gave him an 86 per cent margin over his closest opponent. Lucille Pickett Williams, a Republican.

Unofficial returns gave Powell 27,900 votes to 4,091 for Mrs. Williams and only 427 for the third candidate, the Rev. Ervin F. Yearling, a Conservative. The 22-year House veteran, who may be forced to come back as a freshman, lost only 11 of 214 election districts, and those in a predominantly white corner of his 18th Congressional District.

The 86 per cent vote was a record for Powell. Last fall he received 74 per cent of 61,287 votes cast. In the 1964 general election he took 82 per cent of 111,012 ballots cast.

170 New Houses Built In Madrid County

NEW MADRID -- Results of an inventory of community development activities in New Madrid County were announced by Richard T. Bartlett, chairman of the county technical action panel, which conducted it.

The panel is made up of representatives of state and federal agencies.

The inventory showed there are 12 groups in New Madrid county working on community improvement projects. Projects completed during the year were overall development plan, feasibility study on pulp mill, and food preparation component of economic opportunity.

No new industries or businesses were established in 1966. 170 new houses were built in the county with a value of $1,700,000. The Farmers Home Administration furnished financing for 100 of them.

One industry or business in the county went out of business. This had an investment value of $300,000.

Projects expected to be completed during the year are comprehensive planning, three new water systems, and a new low cost housing project.

In the opinion of panel members, these areas of development represent the greatest potential for community improvement: public housing, watershed work, obtaining additional industry, community betterment program, and city dumping areas.

CASE HISTORY: THE PATIENT BECOMES ILL

Stated simply, socialized medicine is government-financed "free," compulsory medical care for the people. While every nation in Europe, except Switzerland, has a system of government-controlled, tax-financed health care, the medical system closest in comparison to our own is in Great Britain. Prior to July, 1948, when the Beveridge Plan was turned into law in England, the British had a record of fierce independence in their medical program.

Today, 12 percent of the total tax income to the British government is spent on hospital and doctor care in a program that is out of control, tremendously wasteful, and gravely inefficient. During the 16 years of British socialized medicine, the British taxpayer has been all but milked dry. The British National Health Service costs many times more than its estimates.

Some patients must wait as long as six years for surgery. Non-emergency surgical cases are delayed at least 100 days. Emergency cases often become critical in the hours of delay before a hospital bed is available. Hundreds of doctors have left Britain and socialized medicine to practice in nations without government control of medical care.

Management, control, experimentation, and financing have been removed from the hands of thousands of local and community Boards of Directors and Trustees, and concentrated into the hands of the vast Ministry of Health.

There are always more than half a million patients on waiting lists for admission to hospitals. The London Sunday Times, November 12,-1961, reported "There are 2,699 hospitals in England and Wales. Two-thirds were built before the Boer War (1899-1902), one fifth were built more than a century ago, and one in twelve was erected during the reign of King George IV, who died in 1830."

In the period between 1948 and 1961, only one new hospital was constructed in England and Wales. (724 hospitals were built in the United States in that period.)

Some of the evils flowing from the British National Health Service are sound warnings against tampering with the superior American system. England is saddled with a health service which, being "free" for all gives much help where it is not needed, and therefore, less help where it is needed. That, in turn, consumes available tax dollars so rapidly the system cannot afford decent hospitals. Government intervention and control over hospitals leads to exploitation of physicians and dentists and to patient and doctor discontent. Through arbitrary price and fee practices, professional excellence drops, drugs and medicines declines in quality and quantity, and research all but vanishes for the lack of manpower and financing.

To those who protest that it is humiliating for a citizen in need of health care to deal with a government agency to obtain medical help, it should be apparent that in Britain today almost everyone is enduring that humiliation.

Professional services in the average British hospital are inferior to those in the United States. When the medical-surgical staff of a hospital must be drawn from the medical colleges; when more than one-fourth of England's doctor-graduates migrate to free lands; and, when the gaps thus created must be filled at all costs, professional quality has to be diminished. A guaranteed practice - with government-guaranteed fees and lowering of standards for graduation-attracts men who might otherwise have gone into less strenuous vocations. More than 4,000 foreign physicians are practicing in England today. Most of these came from India and Pakistan where medicine is still decades behind that of England and the United States.

The British welfare state is terribly expensive and has undermined individual initiative in the health professional who remains. The socialized medicine vehicle is unfair to large sections of the population and is being openly and boldly used by politicians to buy votes.

The unfortunate British experience should serve as a warning and an object lesson to the United States: projections and estimates of 10 years ago attempted to anticipate the cost of socialized medicine for each of the next ten years, but have been tragically low each succeeding year. Actual expenditures have been more than double the estimates, and for more than one annual period, cost increased two-fold over the expenses of the preceding year.

The British people simply are not that ill. Those in real need of care are penalized and made to suffer by overloading the health vehicle with millions who want nothing more than to have someone pay brief attention to them, or to get the care which they paid for in taxes.

No less an authority than Mr. Graham Hutton, British economist, attorney and sociologist stated, "If the United States ever got into the same situation as Great Britain, the welfare state would cost, in total taxes, well over $100 billion a year."

While Britain, Austria, Sweden, Germany, France and other countries have been establishing a dismal record for socialized medicine, the United States has forged ahead in medical science and medical care.

In league with independent physicians, American hospitals have discovered, extended, or implemented breakthroughs in medical science. They have conquered most killer diseases. No institutions in America have worked so valiantly to put themselves out of business. American hospitals are front-runners in attempts to make the hospital a place of immediate recovery. Unlike many segments of our economy, hospitals struggle to reduce, not increase, the volume of needed services and length of stay of each patient-customer. They are tremendously successful.

American private enterprise and personal initiative have supplied all the medical schools, most of the hospitals and doctors, and most of the nurses that built this humanitarian medical system. Driven by typical American philosophies, these medical warriors fought the common enemy, disease, and they are winning.

The system built hospitals when this nation was a lot poorer than it is today. It covered the nation with a network of colleges, universities, clinics, and hospitals for use by the individual medical practitioner and his patients.

Private and voluntary associations, community and church auxiliaries, unpaid volunteers, and funds from private accounts and insurance programs made it all possible. In the face of all these successes, why should America suddenly find itself unable to think, unable to plan, and unable to administer health care for a small segment of citizens?

This initial attempt at socialized medicine is an outcropping of the socialist, collectivist, "let-the-government-do-it" school of Fabian thought which says we are incapable of providing for ourselves. Let's look, listen and learn. The National Health Service Act of Great Britain, the official title of the Beveridge Plan, can teach us much.

Americans have already been warned by avowed socialists that government-financed medical care for one group of citizens is a first long step toward socialized medicine. They have told us that after the first step, complete socialization of medicine can be accomplished easily.

TEENAGERS' FIVE SLIMMING RULES

Teen-agers are informed as to how they can lose weight and still eat their favorite foods, in a Pocket Book by Lester David entitled. Slimming for Teen-Agers.

Mr. David suggests that a physician should be consulted before starting on a diet and he suggests these questions be considered: (1) Are you really overweight?; (2) Are you motivated to lose weight; (3) Do you have friends with whom you could form a club to lose weight?; (4) Do you exercise? (5) Do you think about food constantly?

In providing the answers Mr. David sums up with the recommendation, "Stop thinking about food. If you can get yourself in the right psychological frame of mind, you're halfway there. Join the dramatics club or the school chorus; become a member of the school newspaper staff. It doesn't matter what you do as long as it makes you forget about eating.

MAKING THE DOLLAR GO FURTHER

It is not uncommon to overhear the American housewife, after breezing up and down the aisles of her favorite shopping place, exclaim: "The cost of everything is up!" But, some forces in the economy are still holding prices down.

Since 1958, railroads have managed to cut their average freight charges by 13 per cent, while the cost of living, as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, has increased 12 per cent. This reduction of freight rates during a period of growing inflation has been one of the elements helping to keep the cost of living from going even higher. According to the Association of American Railroads, the cuts in freight charges will mean a saving in shipping costs of nearly $1.5 billion for this year alone. Since rail and other transportation costs must be included in the price of goods sold, the billion and one half dollar saving will mean smaller price increases to consumers. These rate reductions over the past seven years are the end result of the railroad's $22 billion postwar modernization programs, automation, merger-incuded efficiencies, gradual updating of work rules and new customer services.

The driving force of competition in a free economy makes it imperative for business, big or little, to search out and adopt the most efficient way to produce a better service or product. Although their freedom to progress is still hampered, in many instances by 19th century regulatory policies open to them. Their success, in the form of lower freight rates, has been of tangible benefit to everyone in the country who buys anything.

Seems like the big rich what's been tossing in their extortion money for campaign purposes have cooled off a bit since the conviction of Dodd, Baker, Powell and Co. Seems they can't see their money go that way.

Now some wise boys propose a one dollar lug on all taxpayers at an estimated 60 million a year. With an election each 4 years that could mean 240 million in the kitty. A guy getting the nod of the organization could put it on the soft pedal and salt away his share and forget about the office.

When the people lose confidence in public officials, time is short for that nation. It has happened over and over again in the past half century, but it seems like no one learns from other's mistakes. That, under the same circumstance it does not always happen to the other nation and people.

Its very doubtful that consumers could pay the interest on all debts public and private now and live. As we all know consumers pay it all. All others tack it on and pass it on to consumers, taxes, interest profits, insurance and what have you.

There is where the buck stops. There is no one to pass it on to. It maybe the boys are hoping to disarm John Q before he wakes up in a boxed-canyon of debt with only one avenue of escape.

H. L. Hunt Says

ELECTORAL COLLEGE REFORMS via CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

A reform in the Electoral College system is badly needed and long overdue. A movement which would cause State Legislatures to pass resolutions leading to the enactment of a Constitutional Amendment for an Electoral College, called by some the "district plan" could sweep the nation.

The "district plan" is substantially the Electoral College Reform plan proposed many years ago. It would provide a presidential elector from each Congressional District, and two elected from each State at-large. These presidential electors would be elected by the Constituents of the Members of Congress whose tenure in office is responsible for the creation of their electoral seat. The plan would give each State the number of electors as at present who would be closer to the people and would be far more representative of the people.

The present Electoral College system has on occasion permitted a President to be chosen without a majority, or even plurality of the vote, and in 1824, 1860, 1876, 1888 and 1912, candidates lacking either a majority or plurality succeeded in winning the office.

However great is the need for electoral reform, those favoring reform by any available means are making a mistake if they conceivably burden this Nation with far worse than anything to be found in the present Constitution which has made our nation great. Calling a Constitutional Convention for the purpose of reforming the Electoral College system could well result in a situation where the treatment was more deadly than the disease. Then another amendment could be requested which could satisfy the distaste for the one head, one vote edict on proportion from the Supreme Court. HLH.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- The summit conference, opening today in Uruguay, can successfully reorient American policy in this hemisphere, or it can be a disappointing flop.

The importance of what it does lies in the fact that many Europeans would like to see us retreat from Europe, and many Americans would like to see us retreat from Asia. Latin Americans, on the other hand, have long complained that we have neglected them in favor of both Europe and Asia.

They also point out that during World War II we relied heavily on them for tin, coffee, sugar, hemp, quinine--the food and raw materials cut off by the Japanese from French Indochina and Indonesia. Now that the world war is over, however, we spend billions fighting a minor war in the same area to protect raw materials which they could supply us much closer to home and without the loss of human life.

Most people in North America have forgotten what South Americans remember, namely that it was President Eisenhower who, having secured a precarious truce in Korea in the spring of 1953, warned the American people at the Seattle Governors' Conference the following summer that China would move her troops from Korea to French Indochina, thus threatening the rubber, tin and raw materials of that area.

THE DOMINO THEORY

This was the beginning of the Domino theory -- that one country after another in Southeast Asia would fall like a set of dominoes if we did not intervene. The theory overlooked the intense 1,000-year-old anti-Chinese battle for independence by the Vietnamese. Furthermore it was based on sheer American self-interest -- the protection of raw materials-- not any idealistic goal to plant democracy on the shores of Tonkin Bay. This was a theory dreamed up by John Foster Dulles later.

All this is why Latin Americans, who patriotically kept their World War II prices low, are now unhappy over the fact that coffee, sugar, cocoa, tin--the lifeblood of their trade--are at one of the lowest price ebbs in history; while we are spending one billion dollars a week on a war in a distant part of the world which produces many of the same rival raw materials. Simultaneously the Senate Foreign Relations Committee refuses to pledge one and one half billion dollars for Pan American development, to be spent not in one week but spread over five years.

Most Latins see a difference between a billion dollars a week and one and a half billion in five years; so you can understand why those who watch the summit conference opening today have their fingers crossed.

Nevertheless, much can be done at Punta Del Este.

JEFFERSON PREACHED UNITY

WHEN Thomas Jeffersn was helping to mold the future of the United States, he proposed a federation between the thirteen young states struggling out from under British rule in North America with the young republics struggling out from under Spanish rule in South America.

Simultaneously, Simon Bolivar, No. 1 liberator of South America, proposed a similar federation with North America. He also proposed that the Viceroyalties of Argentina, Peru, Colombia, et al., remain united in one strong country, not split up into weak rival republics.

His advice was ignored on both counts; just as Jefferson's advice was ignored in the United States. Latin America is now split up into 19 separate republics, none of them strong, all battling against poverty and revolution.

It is too late to accept Bolivar's advice completely on South American unity, just as it is too late to accept his and Jefferson's advice completely on a federation between North and South America.

Nevetheless, there can be moves in this general direction, and if President Johnson can inspire such moves the summit conference can be one of the great political landmarks of western hemisphere history.

The moves can take the following directions:

1. Economic unity on the South American continent through a "Common Market" patterned after the highly successful Central American Common Market.

2. Cultural and political cooperation between Latin nations themselves and with the United States.

This has already been started through educational and cultural exchange, but Johnson would like to expand it on a really large scale.

Political cooperation is more delicate. There has long been the fear of North American encroachment on the weak nations of the Caribbean. Memory of our bombardments of Vera Cruz and Tampico in 1917 were revived after our occupation of the Dominican Republic in 1965.

But by strengthening the Organization of the American States through the appointment of top Ambassadors and a strong, statesmanlike Secretary General, the federation goal of Thomas Jefferson and Simon Bolivar can be partly achieved.

President Johnson has already taken a step in this direction by appointing a top American business leader, Sol Linowitz, former head of XEROX, as Ambassador to the OAS. The next move is up to Latin American governments to appoint equally able men and a new secretary general.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Republican Senators Launch Nutcracker Drive To Cut Down Labor's Power.

Washington, D. C.: -- Some time this summer there really will be a rail crisis. Paralysis will seep across the nation when the roads start laying off thousands of locomotive firemen who -- say the lines -- should have gone out with the Apache and Sioux Indian wars.

The firemen originally were coal stokers but now sit in the Diesel cab and watch beautified America roll by. But they'll picket.

Food and fuel, war planes and pleasure cars, munitions for Vietnam and grain for starving India -- as well as commercial cargo by the billions-- will be backed up.

The public will scream. The White House will move -- but it will have no laws to crack dangerous strikes or walkouts threatening the health and safety of the nation.

And the Republicans -- from Jack Javits to Chuck Percy, from Ev Dirksen to Tom Kuchel -- are right now planning not to let President Johnson forget they told him so.

Republicans -- conservatives and liberals in tandem -- are mounting a truly massive attack on this front -- and it is significant to see Illinois' Charles Percy among them. At the moment, he's the "in" '68 G.O.P. presidential hopeful where the sophisticates gather.

This offensive spreads beyond the demand for swift anti-strike laws. It's a pincer movement aimed at cutting sharply into the organizational and political influence and power of American labor.

It began rolling the other day amid public agitation over threatened strikes -- on rail and road transportation, electronic even in the untouchable Wall Street.

On the left flank was Sen. Javits angrily pointing out that he and almost a score of other Senators could not even get a resolution passed to get a hearing on what should be the law to handle dangerous strikes.

On the right flank is Michigan's new Sen. Robert Griffin (of Landrum - Griffin fame) whose contingent -- including Chuck Percy -- seeks to wipe out labor's most sacred temple, the National Labor Relations Board.

"One of the most abysmal failures of this administration," Javits tartly told me, "is the failure to come to grips with the problem of national or regional emergency strikes."

Javits talked of the "Katzenbach task force" which allegedly has been working on some anti-strike formulas for months for the White House. The "team" in addition to its chief, consists of Professors J. Keith Mann, of Sanford Law School; Prof. John Dunlop of Harvard; Ben Aaron, Director of the Labor - Management Institute at UCLA Law School; Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Under - Secretary of Labor Jim Reynolds, a most popular chap inside labor.

But they've sent nothing down the pipeline to the President. White House aides have not even seen a draft or memo on the team's work.

Since Javits and his colleagues believe this will "be the worst year" on the labor-management front, he now is pushing a bill which would empower the government to seize a strategic struck property and operate it while the two sides battle it out.

At least the public will ride, or fly or sail or move its cargo and vital munitions to Vietnam.

Senator Griffin's legislative legions would replace the NLRB with a 15-judge U.S. Labor Court -- somewhat like the tax or customs courts.

Actually there's more firepower here than on the Javits front. Here the conservatives really are hitting hard. Here Percy has joined with such Senators as Wallace Bennett, Carl Curtis, Peter Dominick, Paul Fannin, Frank Lausche and Strom Thurmond.

Their plans calls for a national network of regular courts, $33,000 - a - year judges; $26,000 - a - year commissioners to replace the NLRB trial examiners, and a chief administrator to replace the NLRB General Counsel.

This apparatus would be the final court of appeals on what an unfair labor practice is -- and just what the unions and the corporations can do and say and print and distribute and communicate during organization drives.

Though the public is more interested in the anti-strike legislation -- the final conflict will be on the NLRB front. That's where labor power rises or dies.

But union leaders are not disturbed by the two-front war. They believe no restrictive labor laws will get passed and the NLRB will stay untouched -- just so long as there is no real crisis affecting the people directly -- like a "long" rail strike.

Even at that, they believe the Congress and the White House will show solidarity.

Undoubtedly, they are right.

CASE HISTORY: THE PATIENT BECOMES ILL

Stated simply, socialized medicine is government-financed "free," compulsory medical care for the people. While every nation in Europe, except Switzerland, has a system of government-controlled, tax-financed health care, the medical system closest in comparison to our own is in Great Britain. Prior to July, 1948, when the Beveridge Plan was turned into law in England, the British had a record of fierce independence in their medical program.

Today, 12 percent of the total tax income to the British government is spent on hospital and doctor care in a program that is out of control, tremendously wasteful, and gravely inefficient. During the 16 years of British socialized medicine, the British taxpayer has been all but milked dry. The British National Health Service costs many times more than its estimates.

Some patients must wait as long as six years for surgery. Non-emergency surgical cases are delayed at least 100 days. Emergency cases often become critical in the hours of delay before a hospital bed is available. Hundreds of doctors have left Britain and socialized medicine to practice in nations without government control of medical care.

Management, control, experimentation, and financing have been removed from the hands of thousands of local and community Boards of Directors and Trustees, and concentrated into the hands of the vast Ministry of Health.

There are always more than half a million patients on waiting lists for admission to hospitals. The London Sunday Times, November 12,-1961, reported "There are 2,699 hospitals in England and Wales. Two-thirds were built before the Boer War (1899-1902), one fifth were built more than a century ago, and one in twelve was erected during the reign of King George IV, who died in 1830."

In the period between 1948 and 1961, only one new hospital was constructed in England and Wales. (724 hospitals were built in the United States in that period.)

Some of the evils flowing from the British National Health Service are sound warnings against tampering with the superior American system. England is saddled with a health service which, being "free" for all gives much help where it is not needed, and therefore, less help where it is needed. That, in turn, consumes available tax dollars so rapidly the system cannot afford decent hospitals. Government intervention and control over hospitals leads to exploitation of physicians and dentists and to patient and doctor discontent. Through arbitrary price and fee practices, professional excellence drops, drugs and medicines declines in quality and quantity, and research all but vanishes for the lack of manpower and financing.

To those who protest that it is humiliating for a citizen in need of health care to deal with a government agency to obtain medical help, it should be apparent that in Britain today almost everyone is enduring that humiliation.

Professional services in the average British hospital are inferior to those in the United States. When the medical-surgical staff of a hospital must be drawn from the medical colleges; when more than one-fourth of England's doctor-graduates migrate to free lands; and, when the gaps thus created must be filled at all costs, professional quality has to be diminished. A guaranteed practice - with government-guaranteed fees and lowering of standards for graduation-attracts men who might otherwise have gone into less strenuous vocations. More than 4,000 foreign physicians are practicing in England today. Most of these came from India and Pakistan where medicine is still decades behind that of England and the United States.

The British welfare state is terribly expensive and has undermined individual initiative in the health professional who remains. The socialized medicine vehicle is unfair to large sections of the population and is being openly and boldly used by politicians to buy votes.

The unfortunate British experience should serve as a warning and an object lesson to the United States: projections and estimates of 10 years ago attempted to anticipate the cost of socialized medicine for each of the next ten years, but have been tragically low each succeeding year. Actual expenditures have been more than double the estimates, and for more than one annual period, cost increased two-fold over the expenses of the preceding year.

The British people simply are not that ill. Those in real need of care are penalized and made to suffer by overloading the health vehicle with millions who want nothing more than to have someone pay brief attention to them, or to get the care which they paid for in taxes.

No less an authority than Mr. Graham Hutton, British economist, attorney and sociologist stated, "If the United States ever got into the same situation as Great Britain, the welfare state would cost, in total taxes, well over $100 billion a year."

While Britain, Austria, Sweden, Germany, France and other countries have been establishing a dismal record for socialized medicine, the United States has forged ahead in medical science and medical care.

In league with independent physicians, American hospitals have discovered, extended, or implemented breakthroughs in medical science. They have conquered most killer diseases. No institutions in America have worked so valiantly to put themselves out of business. American hospitals are front-runners in attempts to make the hospital a place of immediate recovery. Unlike many segments of our economy, hospitals struggle to reduce, not increase, the volume of needed services and length of stay of each patient-customer. They are tremendously successful.

American private enterprise and personal initiative have supplied all the medical schools, most of the hospitals and doctors, and most of the nurses that built this humanitarian medical system. Driven by typical American philosophies, these medical warriors fought the common enemy, disease, and they are winning.

The system built hospitals when this nation was a lot poorer than it is today. It covered the nation with a network of colleges, universities, clinics, and hospitals for use by the individual medical practitioner and his patients.

Private and voluntary associations, community and church auxiliaries, unpaid volunteers, and funds from private accounts and insurance programs made it all possible. In the face of all these successes, why should America suddenly find itself unable to think, unable to plan, and unable to administer health care for a small segment of citizens?

This initial attempt at socialized medicine is an outcropping of the socialist, collectivist, "let-the-government-do-it" school of Fabian thought which says we are incapable of providing for ourselves. Let's look, listen and learn. The National Health Service Act of Great Britain, the official title of the Beveridge Plan, can teach us much.

Americans have already been warned by avowed socialists that government-financed medical care for one group of citizens is a first long step toward socialized medicine. They have told us that after the first step, complete socialization of medicine can be accomplished easily.

TEENAGERS' FIVE SLIMMING RULES

Teen-agers are informed as to how they can lose weight and still eat their favorite foods, in a Pocket Book by Lester David entitled. Slimming for Teen-Agers.

Mr. David suggests that a physician should be consulted before starting on a diet and he suggests these questions be considered: (1) Are you really overweight?; (2) Are you motivated to lose weight; (3) Do you have friends with whom you could form a club to lose weight?; (4) Do you exercise? (5) Do you think about food constantly?

In providing the answers Mr. David sums up with the recommendation, "Stop thinking about food. If you can get yourself in the right psychological frame of mind, you're halfway there. Join the dramatics club or the school chorus; become a member of the school newspaper staff. It doesn't matter what you do as long as it makes you forget about eating.

MAKING THE DOLLAR GO FURTHER

It is not uncommon to overhear the American housewife, after breezing up and down the aisles of her favorite shopping place, exclaim: "The cost of everything is up!" But, some forces in the economy are still holding prices down.

Since 1958, railroads have managed to cut their average freight charges by 13 per cent, while the cost of living, as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, has increased 12 per cent. This reduction of freight rates during a period of growing inflation has been one of the elements helping to keep the cost of living from going even higher. According to the Association of American Railroads, the cuts in freight charges will mean a saving in shipping costs of nearly $1.5 billion for this year alone. Since rail and other transportation costs must be included in the price of goods sold, the billion and one half dollar saving will mean smaller price increases to consumers. These rate reductions over the past seven years are the end result of the railroad's $22 billion postwar modernization programs, automation, merger-incuded efficiencies, gradual updating of work rules and new customer services.

The driving force of competition in a free economy makes it imperative for business, big or little, to search out and adopt the most efficient way to produce a better service or product. Although their freedom to progress is still hampered, in many instances by 19th century regulatory policies open to them. Their success, in the form of lower freight rates, has been of tangible benefit to everyone in the country who buys anything.

Seems like the big rich what's been tossing in their extortion money for campaign purposes have cooled off a bit since the conviction of Dodd, Baker, Powell and Co. Seems they can't see their money go that way.

Now some wise boys propose a one dollar lug on all taxpayers at an estimated 60 million a year. With an election each 4 years that could mean 240 million in the kitty. A guy getting the nod of the organization could put it on the soft pedal and salt away his share and forget about the office.

When the people lose confidence in public officials, time is short for that nation. It has happened over and over again in the past half century, but it seems like no one learns from other's mistakes. That, under the same circumstance it does not always happen to the other nation and people.

Its very doubtful that consumers could pay the interest on all debts public and private now and live. As we all know consumers pay it all. All others tack it on and pass it on to consumers, taxes, interest profits, insurance and what have you.

There is where the buck stops. There is no one to pass it on to. It maybe the boys are hoping to disarm John Q before he wakes up in a boxed-canyon of debt with only one avenue of escape.

H. L. Hunt Says

ELECTORAL COLLEGE REFORMS via CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

A reform in the Electoral College system is badly needed and long overdue. A movement which would cause State Legislatures to pass resolutions leading to the enactment of a Constitutional Amendment for an Electoral College, called by some the "district plan" could sweep the nation.

The "district plan" is substantially the Electoral College Reform plan proposed many years ago. It would provide a presidential elector from each Congressional District, and two elected from each State at-large. These presidential electors would be elected by the Constituents of the Members of Congress whose tenure in office is responsible for the creation of their electoral seat. The plan would give each State the number of electors as at present who would be closer to the people and would be far more representative of the people.

The present Electoral College system has on occasion permitted a President to be chosen without a majority, or even plurality of the vote, and in 1824, 1860, 1876, 1888 and 1912, candidates lacking either a majority or plurality succeeded in winning the office.

However great is the need for electoral reform, those favoring reform by any available means are making a mistake if they conceivably burden this Nation with far worse than anything to be found in the present Constitution which has made our nation great. Calling a Constitutional Convention for the purpose of reforming the Electoral College system could well result in a situation where the treatment was more deadly than the disease. Then another amendment could be requested which could satisfy the distaste for the one head, one vote edict on proportion from the Supreme Court. HLH.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- The summit conference, opening today in Uruguay, can successfully reorient American policy in this hemisphere, or it can be a disappointing flop.

The importance of what it does lies in the fact that many Europeans would like to see us retreat from Europe, and many Americans would like to see us retreat from Asia. Latin Americans, on the other hand, have long complained that we have neglected them in favor of both Europe and Asia.

They also point out that during World War II we relied heavily on them for tin, coffee, sugar, hemp, quinine--the food and raw materials cut off by the Japanese from French Indochina and Indonesia. Now that the world war is over, however, we spend billions fighting a minor war in the same area to protect raw materials which they could supply us much closer to home and without the loss of human life.

Most people in North America have forgotten what South Americans remember, namely that it was President Eisenhower who, having secured a precarious truce in Korea in the spring of 1953, warned the American people at the Seattle Governors' Conference the following summer that China would move her troops from Korea to French Indochina, thus threatening the rubber, tin and raw materials of that area.

THE DOMINO THEORY

This was the beginning of the Domino theory -- that one country after another in Southeast Asia would fall like a set of dominoes if we did not intervene. The theory overlooked the intense 1,000-year-old anti-Chinese battle for independence by the Vietnamese. Furthermore it was based on sheer American self-interest -- the protection of raw materials-- not any idealistic goal to plant democracy on the shores of Tonkin Bay. This was a theory dreamed up by John Foster Dulles later.

All this is why Latin Americans, who patriotically kept their World War II prices low, are now unhappy over the fact that coffee, sugar, cocoa, tin--the lifeblood of their trade--are at one of the lowest price ebbs in history; while we are spending one billion dollars a week on a war in a distant part of the world which produces many of the same rival raw materials. Simultaneously the Senate Foreign Relations Committee refuses to pledge one and one half billion dollars for Pan American development, to be spent not in one week but spread over five years.

Most Latins see a difference between a billion dollars a week and one and a half billion in five years; so you can understand why those who watch the summit conference opening today have their fingers crossed.

Nevertheless, much can be done at Punta Del Este.

JEFFERSON PREACHED UNITY

WHEN Thomas Jeffersn was helping to mold the future of the United States, he proposed a federation between the thirteen young states struggling out from under British rule in North America with the young republics struggling out from under Spanish rule in South America.

Simultaneously, Simon Bolivar, No. 1 liberator of South America, proposed a similar federation with North America. He also proposed that the Viceroyalties of Argentina, Peru, Colombia, et al., remain united in one strong country, not split up into weak rival republics.

His advice was ignored on both counts; just as Jefferson's advice was ignored in the United States. Latin America is now split up into 19 separate republics, none of them strong, all battling against poverty and revolution.

It is too late to accept Bolivar's advice completely on South American unity, just as it is too late to accept his and Jefferson's advice completely on a federation between North and South America.

Nevetheless, there can be moves in this general direction, and if President Johnson can inspire such moves the summit conference can be one of the great political landmarks of western hemisphere history.

The moves can take the following directions:

1. Economic unity on the South American continent through a "Common Market" patterned after the highly successful Central American Common Market.

2. Cultural and political cooperation between Latin nations themselves and with the United States.

This has already been started through educational and cultural exchange, but Johnson would like to expand it on a really large scale.

Political cooperation is more delicate. There has long been the fear of North American encroachment on the weak nations of the Caribbean. Memory of our bombardments of Vera Cruz and Tampico in 1917 were revived after our occupation of the Dominican Republic in 1965.

But by strengthening the Organization of the American States through the appointment of top Ambassadors and a strong, statesmanlike Secretary General, the federation goal of Thomas Jefferson and Simon Bolivar can be partly achieved.

President Johnson has already taken a step in this direction by appointing a top American business leader, Sol Linowitz, former head of XEROX, as Ambassador to the OAS. The next move is up to Latin American governments to appoint equally able men and a new secretary general.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Republican Senators Launch Nutcracker Drive To Cut Down Labor's Power.

Washington, D. C.: -- Some time this summer there really will be a rail crisis. Paralysis will seep across the nation when the roads start laying off thousands of locomotive firemen who -- say the lines -- should have gone out with the Apache and Sioux Indian wars.

The firemen originally were coal stokers but now sit in the Diesel cab and watch beautified America roll by. But they'll picket.

Food and fuel, war planes and pleasure cars, munitions for Vietnam and grain for starving India -- as well as commercial cargo by the billions-- will be backed up.

The public will scream. The White House will move -- but it will have no laws to crack dangerous strikes or walkouts threatening the health and safety of the nation.

And the Republicans -- from Jack Javits to Chuck Percy, from Ev Dirksen to Tom Kuchel -- are right now planning not to let President Johnson forget they told him so.

Republicans -- conservatives and liberals in tandem -- are mounting a truly massive attack on this front -- and it is significant to see Illinois' Charles Percy among them. At the moment, he's the "in" '68 G.O.P. presidential hopeful where the sophisticates gather.

This offensive spreads beyond the demand for swift anti-strike laws. It's a pincer movement aimed at cutting sharply into the organizational and political influence and power of American labor.

It began rolling the other day amid public agitation over threatened strikes -- on rail and road transportation, electronic even in the untouchable Wall Street.

On the left flank was Sen. Javits angrily pointing out that he and almost a score of other Senators could not even get a resolution passed to get a hearing on what should be the law to handle dangerous strikes.

On the right flank is Michigan's new Sen. Robert Griffin (of Landrum - Griffin fame) whose contingent -- including Chuck Percy -- seeks to wipe out labor's most sacred temple, the National Labor Relations Board.

"One of the most abysmal failures of this administration," Javits tartly told me, "is the failure to come to grips with the problem of national or regional emergency strikes."

Javits talked of the "Katzenbach task force" which allegedly has been working on some anti-strike formulas for months for the White House. The "team" in addition to its chief, consists of Professors J. Keith Mann, of Sanford Law School; Prof. John Dunlop of Harvard; Ben Aaron, Director of the Labor - Management Institute at UCLA Law School; Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Under - Secretary of Labor Jim Reynolds, a most popular chap inside labor.

But they've sent nothing down the pipeline to the President. White House aides have not even seen a draft or memo on the team's work.

Since Javits and his colleagues believe this will "be the worst year" on the labor-management front, he now is pushing a bill which would empower the government to seize a strategic struck property and operate it while the two sides battle it out.

At least the public will ride, or fly or sail or move its cargo and vital munitions to Vietnam.

Senator Griffin's legislative legions would replace the NLRB with a 15-judge U.S. Labor Court -- somewhat like the tax or customs courts.

Actually there's more firepower here than on the Javits front. Here the conservatives really are hitting hard. Here Percy has joined with such Senators as Wallace Bennett, Carl Curtis, Peter Dominick, Paul Fannin, Frank Lausche and Strom Thurmond.

Their plans calls for a national network of regular courts, $33,000 - a - year judges; $26,000 - a - year commissioners to replace the NLRB trial examiners, and a chief administrator to replace the NLRB General Counsel.

This apparatus would be the final court of appeals on what an unfair labor practice is -- and just what the unions and the corporations can do and say and print and distribute and communicate during organization drives.

Though the public is more interested in the anti-strike legislation -- the final conflict will be on the NLRB front. That's where labor power rises or dies.

But union leaders are not disturbed by the two-front war. They believe no restrictive labor laws will get passed and the NLRB will stay untouched -- just so long as there is no real crisis affecting the people directly -- like a "long" rail strike.

Even at that, they believe the Congress and the White House will show solidarity.

Undoubtedly, they are right.

Hello! Have you ever had a shock? Last Thursday Harold and I were on the way to Cape and were listening to the radio. To suddenly hear your neighbor's house is on fire is bad enough and then for another report to come on that it is your house is even more of a shock. We were very lucky that we had alert neighbors who reported the smoke and the firemen got right here and there is damage but not as much as there would have been.

As soon as we could get to a phone I called home and Mother and Daddy were here so I took Harold on to the doctor and came right back home. When I got here Kay Jackson and Mother were mopping the floor and Jean Wilson had been here and gotten the laundry and brought it home clean. Sure is nice to have friends!

Kegler's Korner

By Hildred Poole

Hello! Have you ever had a shock? Last Thursday Harold and I were on the way to Cape and were listening to the radio. To suddenly hear your neighbor's house is on fire is bad enough and then for another report to come on that it is your house is even more of a shock. We were very lucky that we had alert neighbors who reported the smoke and the firemen got right here and there is damage but not as much as there would have been.

As soon as we could get to a phone I called home and Mother and Daddy were here so I took Harold on to the doctor and came right back home. When I got here Kay Jackson and Mother were mopping the floor and Jean Wilson had been here and gotten the laundry and brought it home clean. Sure is nice to have friends!

Peggy Swacker took both high game and series at the lanes this week. She rolled a 234 game and a 614 series.

FRIDAY BOWLETTES

Canvas 4- I.S. Co. no. 1-0, Proffers 4- Vogue 0, Ziegenhorn 3- I.S. Co. no. 2-1, Medical Arts 3- a local radio station 1, Pucketts 3- Potlatch 1, Nowells 3 Coleman 1.

Vera Gaston had high game and series again this week with a 551-190.

It was in this league that Peggy Swacker shot her high game and series.

DELTA KEGLERS

Only four teams rolled Tuesday night and the other two were to roll make up games later. Ziegenhorn 3- Barketts 1, El Capri 2- Reiss Dairy 2. Brenda Boardman rolled high game of 215 and Glenda Becker had high series with a 527. Brenda also had a good series of 506.

IMPERIALETTS

Progressive 4- Belltones 0, Auxiliary Police 4- Global 0, Kroger 3- Crown 1, L & A 3- A & B Cleaners 1.

Mary Meyer had both high game and series for this league with a 188-516. Mary has really been hitting in both of the leagues she bowls in and is just bringing her average right on up. Don't get it so high it is hard to carry Mary.

NEWCOMERS

Team no. 3 had both high game and series with a 799-2266. Evelyn Agnew had both high game and series with a 159-409. Most of these gals are new bowlers and they do a good job of bowling and then on top of that they have a real good time. Since our Tuesday morning league is over I don't get to see them as much and I miss it.

Splits picked up: 5-7 Irene Bruner, Ruby Andres and Bernice Sanders, 4-10 Joyce Dillender and 7-9-10, Carol Mercer, 5-8-10 Ruby Smith, Pat Happe the 5-10, Mildred Cockrell and Lois Cokenour the 3-10, and Jessie Young the 4-5.

The bowling season is fast coming to a close. To really finish it out with a bang come on out and sign up for the doubles tourney that will be Sunday at 1 p.m. We may not do any good this time but Kay Jackson and I are ready to go.

See you next week!

O'Finley's White Shoe Club Wins AL Opener 4-3

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The fashionable Kansas City A's have countered the miniskirt rebellion with a new style of their own, and it was enough to touch off another Charles O. Finley colorful controversy.

The American League doormats of the past have foresaken their former drab existence and Tuesday night stepped into first place wearing white shoes that left the Cleveland Indians kicking.

The A's opened their 1967 season by beating the Indians 4-3 on Fred Whitfield's error with the bases loaded in the seventh inning in Kansas City, and joined Baltimore, California and New York in first place.

The Orioles, looking the same as they did as world champions last season, clubbed Minnesota 6-3 and the Angels dropped Detroit 4-2 to grab their share. The Yankees beat Washington 8-0 Monday.

The only other AL game, the Chicago White Sox at Boston, was postponed because of cold weather.

The A's unveiled their fashion show in the first inning when they took the field. Their wedding-gown white, Fort Knox gold and sea-foam green uniforms of last season were a notch brighter, but the main addition was the rare albino kangaroo white shoes with kelly-green laces.

The uniforms, of course, were the idea of Kansas City owner Finley, who in past years stirred the league with his pennant porch in right field, his mule mascot and his sheep grazing area beyond the outfield.

Joe Adcock, making his debut as Cleveland manager, did not take kindly to the white shoe idea, not that he isn't fashion-minded. Adcock claimed the white shoes worn by Kansas City pitcher Jim Nash distracted his hitters and protested the game after the first pitch.

"I want to get this settled right away," Adcock said.

However, American League President Joe Cronin and Cal Hubbard, supervisor of umpires, already had given the A's permission to start the season with their classy and colorful footwear.

"White shoes aren't going to bother a hitter," said A's Manager Alvin Dark. "A pitcher has both feet on the ground when he releases the ball. A hitter is going to be following the ball, not the shoes."

Whether or not the shoes helped, Nash stopped the Indians on five hits and three runs for seven innings before leaving for pinch hitter Ramon Webster with the bases loaded on two walks and a wild pitch third strike that put Joe Rudi on base.

Matthews Sparks Astros Victory

By RON RAPOPORT

In his many years with the Boston - Milwaukee - Atlanta Braves, Eddie Mathews used to specialize in great opening-day performances. But it is his debut in a Houston uniform that the slugging first baseman may remember the longest.

A mighty triple against the center field wall in the seventh inning Tuesday night gave Mathews' new club a 1-1 tie against his old one and soon afterwards the Astros had a 6-1 opening-day victory over the Braves.

"Are you kidding," Mathews said later when asked if he'd particularly enjoyed playing a decisive part in beating his ex-teammates. "I'm playing the team I was with for 15 years."

When the Braves traded Mathews on Dec. 31, 1966, the thing that rankled him most was that the club told the press before it told him.

"I'll remember this opener," Mathews said. "I've had some good opening days. I hit a couple of home runs two or three times in the past in the opener, but I'll settle for his one."

In other National League games Tuesday, all season openers, Pittsburgh beat New York 6-3, Chicago took Philadelphia 4-2 and St. Louis blanked San Francisco 6-0. Cincinnati and Los Angeles had an open date.

In American League opening games, Baltimore bounced Minnesota 6-3, Kansas City edged Cleveland 4-3 and California beat Detroit 4-2. Chicago at Boston was postponed because of cold weather. New York and Washington were not scheduled.

THE TWO - TIME 20 -game winner, Bob Gibson struck out the first five men to face him in the National League opener for the two clubs, tying a league record, and went on to post a 6-0 victory.

En route, Gibson struck out 13 and followed only 5-hi while his teammates cuffed Jua Marichal for 14 hits in seve innings, including Lou Brock three - run homer in the se ond.

"I like to beat any club, b I always pitch good again them (the Giants) and g beat," Gibson said. "It's r freshing to beat them."

The record supports Gibson comment. He pitched thr times against the Giants la year and lost each game d spite a 2.35 earned run a erage.

Brock said he didn't kno what he hit for the home ru "Marichal's got so mar pitches I just look for the ball, Brock said. "It was low ar away and pow, I gave it ride."

MARICHAL SAID he didn think his spring hold-out a fected his pitching, although was the most hits he had ev allowed in a major league gam "I felt good. They were hi ting my good stuff," Marich said.

Gibson Hurls 5-Hitter

Brock, Gagliano Connect For Birds

By RON JAYNES
Standard Sports Editor

By Ron Jaynes

ST. LOUIS - Bob Gibson, deftly mixing his pitches, and the St. Louis Cardinals' powerful lineup, lambasting the baseball, teamed last night at Busch Memorial Stadium to take a giant step over San Francisco in the first game of the season, 6-0.

The Cardinals, winning their season opener, horsewhipped the Giants and their $100,000 right handed hurler, Juan Marichal.

Leftfielder Lou Brock sparked a three-run second by hitting a three-run homer in deep right field. He went two for three at the plate, driving in three runs and scored once. He narrowly missed another homer in the seventh but Willie Mays hauled in the ball on the warning track in deep center field.

Phil Gagliano added a solo blast in the seventh inning to add to Marichal's woes - a 400-foot thrust over the left field wall to start off the inning and give the fans an extra seventh inning stretch.

Gibson was brilliant in his four-inning stunt. He struck out 13 men, the first five in succession to tie a National League record dating back to 1900 and become one of nine to do that in an opening game. He allowed five hits, all singles.

The $100,000 arm of Marichal absorbed its worst defeat in history by suffering through a 14-hit barrage before 38,117 persons, who sat through the 50-degree temperatures.

St. Louis collected a hit in each inning off Marichal before he was relieved in the eighth by Lendy McDaniel, who retired the side, allowing only a base on balls.

The Red Birds opened the bottom half of the first inning, after Gibson had retired the side with strikeouts, with two back to back singles by Brock and Curt Flood along with a steal by Brock, but the Cards failed to push a run across as Roger Marris followed with a ground out, Orlando Cepeda was passed intentionally, to load the bases and Marichal retired the next two batters in order. Mike Shannon struck out. Tim McCarver flied deep to right field.

After striking out the side in the top of the first, pitcher Gibson fanned the next two and forced Tim Haller to pop out for six up - six down in two innings.

Gibson got behind on the first batter, Henderson, 2-0 but threw three straight strikes to retire the rookie. Henderson returned to collect three of the Giants five hits.

The Red Birds opened the second inning the same as they did in the first with back to back singles with the next batter striking out, but Brock, with a one-ball count, teed off on Marichal's high fast ball for a three-run homer and a Card 3-0 lead. Flood followed with a ground out for the second and Maris started off another threat with a double, but Cepeda ended the inning by grounding out to the shortstop.

After the three-run second, the Cardinals added one in the fifth and two in the seventh.

Cepeda put a stopper on the Giants' only threat in the third inning.

Jim Davenport started the inning by flying out to center, but three back to back singles loaded the bases and with one out were threatening, but Cepeda picked up a slow bounder down the first base line, tagged the base and threw to home for a double play to end the Giants' threat. Lanier collected the first hit off Gibson, a drive down the left field line.

Good fielding in that inning prevented base runners from advancing.

Mike Shannon left the game in the fifth with an aggravated injury in a leg. He pulled a muscle in spring training and reinjured it in the fifth.

Dal Maxville was the batting star for the Birds with a three for four performance.

Julian Javier scored twice and collected two hits for the Cardinals. Brock, Flood, Maris and McCarver, each collected two hits. Gagliano collected one.

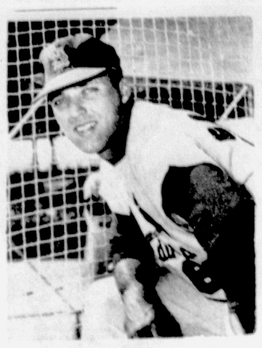
LOU BROCK sparked the Cardinals 6-0 victory over San Francisco in St. Louis last night. Brock's three-run homer was the big blast for the Cards, who pounded Juan Marichal for 14 hits, the most he has ever given up in one game.



THE CARDINALS Phil Gagliano, who came into the game in the fifth inning when third baseman Mike Shannon aggravated a pulled muscle, slammed a solo homer to give the Cards a 5-0 lead in the seventh. The Birds won, 6-0.

RED SCHOENDIENST, whose St. Louis Cardinals opened its 1967 baseball campaign with a 6-0 shutout victory over the San Francisco Giants and Juan Marichal, smiles and hopes for bigger things to come.

FIREBALLER, Bob Gibson, struck out the first five men he faced, tying a National League record, and fanned 13 Giants in the Cards 6-0 opening game victory.

Two games are scheduled for Monday. Bell City and Richland open action at 1 p.m. followed at 3:30 p.m. by the Matthews - Scott County Central game.

Sikeston drew a first round bye and is in the top bracket and will meet the winner of Tuesday's 3:30 p.m. game between Bloomfield and Advance.

One game is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday with the finals Friday, these games are scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

THE TWO - TIME 20 -game winner, Bob Gibson struck out the first five men to face him in the National League opener for the two clubs, tying a league record, and went on to post a 6-0 victory.

"I like to beat any club, but I always pitch good against them (the Giants) and get beat," Gibson said. "It's refreshing to beat them."

The record supports Gibson's comment. He pitched three times against the Giants last year and lost each game despite a 2.35 earned run average.

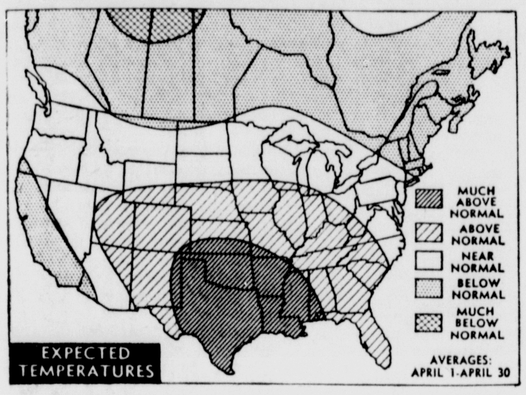
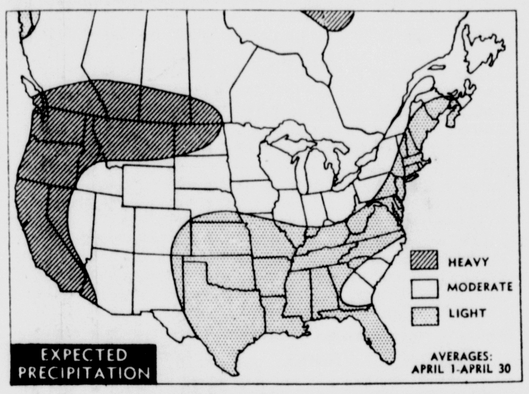
April A-Go-Go

Maps show Weather Bureau's estimated forecasts of average temperature, precipitation through April 30.



Normal to much-above temperatures can be expected by much of the nation. Exceptions will be California and the north Atlantic Coast states.



Subnormal precipitation is the prospect for most of the East, the South and the Central Plains while totals should be above normal in the West.

Private Enterprise And Public Responsibility In A Free Economy

Yet education is an area where business has tremendous resources and could contribute effectively to the learning process. By some estimates, corporations spent more than $4½ billion last year on their educational efforts. Taken as a whole, U.S. companies are far ahead of those anywhere else in the world in the training of staff and line people at all levels. If this accumulated know-how could be channeled beyond the individual companies and out to meet the general public needs, the results could not be anything but beneficial.

General Electric alone teaches more people than any other institution in New York State, public or private. Now G. E. is working with Time Inc., in a fascinating new enterprise to blend electronic capability with editorial and educational materials. Similarly, other electronics firms are joining with publishing houses to create and market educational materials incorporating new texts, audio-visual aids, language laboratories, classroom television and other advanced features.

Some idea of the vast potential here were suggested not long ago when RCA assigned fifteen of its top scientists and engineers to deliver weekly classroom lectures at four Brooklyn high schools. They discussed and illustrated the latest developments in nuclear physics, jet propulsion and space technology. The idea caught on quickly and now eight other industrial companies have pooled their resources with RCA to conduct regular lectures and demonstrations on contemporary science for New York City high school students. Outstanding scientists, coming directly from the laboratory, bring to the classroom an element that cannot be duplicated in the experience of even the most dedicated teacher -- a glimpse of activities at the frontiers of sciences and an insight into the scientist's private world of exploration.

This, of course, is only one experiment. But imagine the good that might be accomplished if businesses from coast to coast made their talent and techniques available to schools in their own communities. What a resounding response this could be to those critics who are forever complaining that business is luring the most promising teachers away from the classroom.

A third factor that should be considered in this creative competition with government is personal involvement.

In my view, businesses, small and large, should actively set an example of good citizenship and do everything possible to encourage more of their people to participate in civic and political activities. Each of us here today should try to persuade our business associates to take a more active role in the affairs of the local community.

I was distressed to read in The Wall Street Journal a while back about one businessman who openly boasted of his ability to evade his civic and political responsibilities. "I find," he told the interviewer, "that a $1,000 donation will get practically anybody off your back."

Those of us who have taken on fund-raising chores would be happy, I'm sure, to get the $1,000. But, actually, no amount of money can substitute for the personal involvement of a dedicated man or woman in a local project. The French philosopher Rousseau said it well when he remarked: "As soon as public service ceases to be the chief business of the citizens, and they would rather serve with their money than with their persons, the State is not far from its fall."

Perhaps I'm inclined to exaggerate local problems these days. My fellow New Yorkers and I have recently lived through a water shortage, a dock strike, a newspaper blackout, a power failure and a transit tieup!

Yet by any reckoning, state and local problems are becoming increasingly important. The phenomenal growth of our cities is reflected in the fact that today 70 per cent of our people live on only 1 per cent of our land area. Public spending by state and local governments has more than doubled in the past decade, a much sharper rise than even that of the Federal budget. These government units are already spending more than $70 billion a year, and the figure is expected to top the $100-billion mark by 1970.

Share the Wealth -- The way the U.S. is scattering money (originally yours and ours) around over the world -- and succeeding only in losing friends and winning trouble -- reminds us of this:

"Let's buy Junior a bicycle," suggested Mother.

"Do you think it will improve his behavior?" asked Father.

"No," answered Mother, "but it will spread his orneriness over a wider area.'"

Briant Sando.

Sharp Drop In Cotton Ginnings

WASHINGTON -- Cotton ginnings in Missouri from the 1966 crop were less than half of those in 1965, the department of commerce, bureau of census, reported today.

The totals were 164,573 and 393,091.

An even sharper drop in production of cotton was reported in Scott county, Mo., and other Missouri Bootheel counties.

Ginnings in Scott county totaled 3,663 bales, more than a four fold decline, compared with 15,879 bales in 1966.

The comparative figures for other Missouri counties:

Butler 4,969 and 18,581, Dunklin 44,249 and 90,442, Mississippi 8,467 and 33,018, New Madrid 39,931 and 99,527, Pemiscot 54,255 and 106,635, Stoddard 7,823 and 27,024 and all other 1,216 and 1,985.

Rehearsal of Musical in Third Week

Sikeston's Little Theater is in the third week of rehearsal for its presentation of "South Pacific."

The play will be staged April 21-22 and 28-29 at the junior high school.

The musical production of James Michener's Pulitzer Prize winning, "Tales of the South Pacific" is set to the music of Rodgers and Hammerstein.

On its New York opening critics proclaimed it "One of the greatest musical plays in the history of the American Theatre."

"South Pacific" holds the record for the longest run on Broadway.

The action takes place on two islands of the South Pacific and the time is a lull during the fighting in the war with Japan. The colorful characters are marines, seabees, nurses, sailors and islanders.

The plot is formed of two romantic themes. Most important is the love affair between Ensign Nellie Forbush, played by Patsy Mitchell, a charming and high-spirited young nurse from Little Rock, Ark., and the gallant middle-aged French planter, Emile de Beque, played by Jim Moore III.

Nellie and Emile fall in love, and the varying moods of their affection are represented in such songs as "A Wonderful Guy", "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair", and "Cockeyed Optimist".

Nellie has another ardent admirer, a Seabee named Luther Billis (Doug Morrison), a wheelin-dealin comic who is Nellie's "Honey Bun" in the G. I.'s Thanksgiving show.

The tragic subplot of South Pacific is the touching romance between Lt. Joseph Cable (Dan Norton) and the lovely Tonkinese girl, Liat (Linda Norton). The romance is engineered by Liat's mother, the shrewd, scheming Bloody Mary (Vivian Boyer). She has her daughter's marriage in mind as she sings, "Happy Talk."

Cable and Liat are sincerely in love, but Cable feels their lives are too different for them to be happy together. He leaves Liat and the island, but he is always haunted by the memory of "Bali Hai".

Nellie's love for the planter cools on learning Emile had married a Polynesian woman on first coming to the island and that he has two children by her. Seeing that Nellie is avoiding him, he volunteers to go on a dangerous spy mission with Lt. Cable. Emile feels he has lost everything as he sings, "This nearly Was Mine".

Lieutenant Cable is killed on the mission, but Emile returns to find Nellie caring for his young native children. The happy conclusion is their romantic reunion in "Some Enchanted Evening."

Seniors Will Present 'Here Comes Charlie'

MATTHEWS -- "Here Comes Charlie" is the play that will be presented by the senior class of Matthews R-5 high school Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

The role of Nora Malone will be played by Kathy Morris; Officer Tim McGrill by Joe Buchanan; Larry Elliott by Danny Lape . Sidney Fraley plays Ted Hartley; Paula Huffstutler plays Vivian Smythe-Kersey; and Charles Conrad portrays Uncle Aleck Twiggs. Charlie Hopps is played by Rita Burch; Mrs. Caroline Smythe - Kersey by Marlene Davidson; Mortimer Smythe-Kersey by Joe King; and Mrs. Farnham by Jeanice Griffin.

Prompters are Barbara Johnson, Peggy Lathum, Nancy Mydlowski, James Stobaugh and David Schnieder. Entertainment between acts will be given by member of the senior class.

The high school band, directed by Harold Smith, received a II (excellent) rating at the Southeast Missouri District music contest at Cape Girardeau April 1. The band participated in the parade at the New Madrid County 4-H barrow show and sale at New Madrid April 8. That evening band members enjoyed a party at the community center.

Members of the senior class, accompanied by Supt. Lester M. King, went to Memphis, Saturday and saw "Holiday on Ice."

The annual honors banquet sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association, will be held in the cafeteria Tuesday evening. Guest speaker will be the Rev. James Hackney of the Sikeston First Baptist church.

Mt. and Mrs. Herschel Yates spent the weekend at Jefferson City where he attended a meeting of industrial arts instructors.

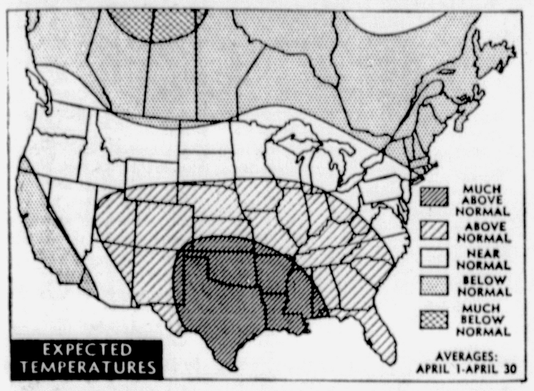
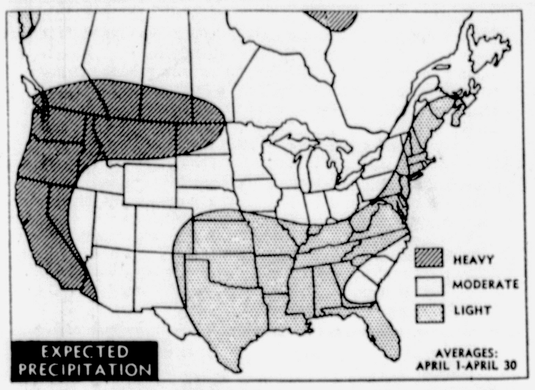
April A-Go-Go

Maps show Weather Bureau's estimated forecasts of average temperature, precipitation through April 30.



Normal to much-above temperatures can be expected by much of the nation. Exceptions will be California and the north Atlantic Coast states.



Subnormal precipitation is the prospect for most of the East, the South and the Central Plains while totals should be above normal in the West.

Private Enterprise And Public Responsibility In A Free Economy

Yet education is an area where business has tremendous resources and could contribute effectively to the learning process. By some estimates, corporations spent more than $4½ billion last year on their educational efforts. Taken as a whole, U.S. companies are far ahead of those anywhere else in the world in the training of staff and line people at all levels. If this accumulated know-how could be channeled beyond the individual companies and out to meet the general public needs, the results could not be anything but beneficial.

General Electric alone teaches more people than any other institution in New York State, public or private. Now G. E. is working with Time Inc., in a fascinating new enterprise to blend electronic capability with editorial and educational materials. Similarly, other electronics firms are joining with publishing houses to create and market educational materials incorporating new texts, audio-visual aids, language laboratories, classroom television and other advanced features.

Some idea of the vast potential here were suggested not long ago when RCA assigned fifteen of its top scientists and engineers to deliver weekly classroom lectures at four Brooklyn high schools. They discussed and illustrated the latest developments in nuclear physics, jet propulsion and space technology. The idea caught on quickly and now eight other industrial companies have pooled their resources with RCA to conduct regular lectures and demonstrations on contemporary science for New York City high school students. Outstanding scientists, coming directly from the laboratory, bring to the classroom an element that cannot be duplicated in the experience of even the most dedicated teacher -- a glimpse of activities at the frontiers of sciences and an insight into the scientist's private world of exploration.

This, of course, is only one experiment. But imagine the good that might be accomplished if businesses from coast to coast made their talent and techniques available to schools in their own communities. What a resounding response this could be to those critics who are forever complaining that business is luring the most promising teachers away from the classroom.

A third factor that should be considered in this creative competition with government is personal involvement.

In my view, businesses, small and large, should actively set an example of good citizenship and do everything possible to encourage more of their people to participate in civic and political activities. Each of us here today should try to persuade our business associates to take a more active role in the affairs of the local community.

I was distressed to read in The Wall Street Journal a while back about one businessman who openly boasted of his ability to evade his civic and political responsibilities. "I find," he told the interviewer, "that a $1,000 donation will get practically anybody off your back."

Those of us who have taken on fund-raising chores would be happy, I'm sure, to get the $1,000. But, actually, no amount of money can substitute for the personal involvement of a dedicated man or woman in a local project. The French philosopher Rousseau said it well when he remarked: "As soon as public service ceases to be the chief business of the citizens, and they would rather serve with their money than with their persons, the State is not far from its fall."

Perhaps I'm inclined to exaggerate local problems these days. My fellow New Yorkers and I have recently lived through a water shortage, a dock strike, a newspaper blackout, a power failure and a transit tieup!

Yet by any reckoning, state and local problems are becoming increasingly important. The phenomenal growth of our cities is reflected in the fact that today 70 per cent of our people live on only 1 per cent of our land area. Public spending by state and local governments has more than doubled in the past decade, a much sharper rise than even that of the Federal budget. These government units are already spending more than $70 billion a year, and the figure is expected to top the $100-billion mark by 1970.

Share the Wealth -- The way the U.S. is scattering money (originally yours and ours) around over the world -- and succeeding only in losing friends and winning trouble -- reminds us of this:

"Do you think it will improve his behavior?" asked Father.

"No," answered Mother, "but it will spread his orneriness over a wider area.'"

Sharp Drop In Cotton Ginnings

WASHINGTON -- Cotton ginnings in Missouri from the 1966 crop were less than half of those in 1965, the department of commerce, bureau of census, reported today.

The totals were 164,573 and 393,091.

An even sharper drop in production of cotton was reported in Scott county, Mo., and other Missouri Bootheel counties.

Ginnings in Scott county totaled 3,663 bales, more than a four fold decline, compared with 15,879 bales in 1966.

The comparative figures for other Missouri counties:

Butler 4,969 and 18,581, Dunklin 44,249 and 90,442, Mississippi 8,467 and 33,018, New Madrid 39,931 and 99,527, Pemiscot 54,255 and 106,635, Stoddard 7,823 and 27,024 and all other 1,216 and 1,985.

Rehearsal of Musical in Third Week

Sikeston's Little Theater is in the third week of rehearsal for its presentation of "South Pacific."

The play will be staged April 21-22 and 28-29 at the junior high school.

The musical production of James Michener's Pulitzer Prize winning, "Tales of the South Pacific" is set to the music of Rodgers and Hammerstein.

On its New York opening critics proclaimed it "One of the greatest musical plays in the history of the American Theatre."

"South Pacific" holds the record for the longest run on Broadway.

The action takes place on two islands of the South Pacific and the time is a lull during the fighting in the war with Japan. The colorful characters are marines, seabees, nurses, sailors and islanders.

The plot is formed of two romantic themes. Most important is the love affair between Ensign Nellie Forbush, played by Patsy Mitchell, a charming and high-spirited young nurse from Little Rock, Ark., and the gallant middle-aged French planter, Emile de Beque, played by Jim Moore III.

Nellie and Emile fall in love, and the varying moods of their affection are represented in such songs as "A Wonderful Guy", "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair", and "Cockeyed Optimist".

Nellie has another ardent admirer, a Seabee named Luther Billis (Doug Morrison), a wheelin-dealin comic who is Nellie's "Honey Bun" in the G. I.'s Thanksgiving show.

The tragic subplot of South Pacific is the touching romance between Lt. Joseph Cable (Dan Norton) and the lovely Tonkinese girl, Liat (Linda Norton). The romance is engineered by Liat's mother, the shrewd, scheming Bloody Mary (Vivian Boyer). She has her daughter's marriage in mind as she sings, "Happy Talk."

Cable and Liat are sincerely in love, but Cable feels their lives are too different for them to be happy together. He leaves Liat and the island, but he is always haunted by the memory of "Bali Hai".

Nellie's love for the planter cools on learning Emile had married a Polynesian woman on first coming to the island and that he has two children by her. Seeing that Nellie is avoiding him, he volunteers to go on a dangerous spy mission with Lt. Cable. Emile feels he has lost everything as he sings, "This nearly Was Mine".

Lieutenant Cable is killed on the mission, but Emile returns to find Nellie caring for his young native children. The happy conclusion is their romantic reunion in "Some Enchanted Evening."

The Prayer
From The Upper Room

Whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. (Colossians 3:17)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, but for the promise of Thy presence and sustaining power, we would be overwhelmed by the consciousness of our responsibility. To live aright, to fulfill Thy commandments, to do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, we ask Thee to help us. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: Where do you get off saying all 16-year-old boys are interested in sex? I am 16 and I am interested in lots of things, but sex is not one of them.

I am getting sick and tired of hearing you tell girls to be careful because every boy is out to get whatever he can. I'm not, and I am sure there must be other guys around just like me.

Females make up about one half of the world's population and there must be some awfully nice people in this group. One of these days I'd like to get to know some of these people better, but I am in no hurry.

There are plenty of interesting things fellows my age can do besides chasing girls. So please stop telling people that every 16 - year - old boy is trying to trap some innocent chick in the back seat of a car. As a matter of fact, some guys I know have had to fight off girls. Please set the record straight. And you can print my name and city if you want to. -- KANSAS

Dear Kansas: I wouldn't dare print your name and city. You'd be deluged by calls, fella. Not from girls, but from their mothers! You sound like the kind of guy every teen-age girl's mother is looking for.

It would be foolish to say ALL 16-year-old boys are interested in sex. What I said was, "Most teen - age boys are not thinking about love. The juices are flowing and they are becoming mighty curious." That statement still stands.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has taken a job with a fine organization. It means more money and an opportunity for advancement. The only problem is the plant is located in a small town which I hate. I have told my husband I am not moving.

The major factor in my decision not to pull up stakes is my parents. I am an only child and my folks are very dear to me. They are in good health and I want to enjoy them as long as I can.

I know many women whose husbands travel during the week and come home weekends. My husband could do this, too. But he is stubbornly opposed to my staying here. Who is wrong? -- BLUE GRASS TROUBLE

Dear Trouble: You are.

If your parents were ill and you had to help care for them it would be a different matter, but refusing to move to the city where your husband makes his living because you want to enjoy mama's and papa's company is not only selfish, it is childish.

Wives like you are the first to scream "The louse" when a husband becomes involved with another woman. Hang onto my address, I think you may be writing again soon with another kind of problem.

Confidential to Scared To Death: No one can force you to marry the girl against your will. Furthermore, if I understand your letter correctly, you are still married to "Mona Lisa." From the description you give of "Mudfence's" father you would be lucky if the parole officer got to you first. You need a lawyer.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's Right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE
By Jack Strass L.L.D.

THE CASE OF THE BIG BONANZA

Albert was a pushover for any salesman. Consequently, he was loaded with insurance policies. And, as it turned out, owning so much insurance was the best policy for him, since he dreamed one night that he was out with a beautiful blonde and fell out of bed while lunging for her. With eight different accident and health policies, the accident took on all the happy aspects of a windfall. Albert filed claims to collect on all eight of them.

"Not so fast," responded the insurance companies. "Under the law, insurance policies are legal only so long as there is no element of gambling. In your case, there is. While accident and health policies are merely intended to compensate a person for medical expenses and loss of wages, with eight policies you stood to make a bundle if you got hurt. That's gambling! Therefore, the policies are illegal and void."

"Nonsense," was Albert's answer. "I never gambled in my life. The fact is, I get nervous when I have to select an hors d'oeuvre."

Demanding payment on all eight policies, Albert took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Albert to reap a financial bonanza on his accident?

This is how the judge ruled: Albert collected on all eight policies. The judge held that in the absence of a clause in an insurance policy to the contrary, a person has the right to insure himself for as much as he wants and with as many insurance companies as he can find.

The Prayer
From The Upper Room

Whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. (Colossians 3:17)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, but for the promise of Thy presence and sustaining power, we would be overwhelmed by the consciousness of our responsibility. To live aright, to fulfill Thy commandments, to do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, we ask Thee to help us. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: Where do you get off saying all 16-year-old boys are interested in sex? I am 16 and I am interested in lots of things, but sex is not one of them.

I am getting sick and tired of hearing you tell girls to be careful because every boy is out to get whatever he can. I'm not, and I am sure there must be other guys around just like me.

Females make up about one half of the world's population and there must be some awfully nice people in this group. One of these days I'd like to get to know some of these people better, but I am in no hurry.

There are plenty of interesting things fellows my age can do besides chasing girls. So please stop telling people that every 16 - year - old boy is trying to trap some innocent chick in the back seat of a car. As a matter of fact, some guys I know have had to fight off girls. Please set the record straight. And you can print my name and city if you want to. -- KANSAS

Dear Kansas: I wouldn't dare print your name and city. You'd be deluged by calls, fella. Not from girls, but from their mothers! You sound like the kind of guy every teen-age girl's mother is looking for.

It would be foolish to say ALL 16-year-old boys are interested in sex. What I said was, "Most teen - age boys are not thinking about love. The juices are flowing and they are becoming mighty curious." That statement still stands.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has taken a job with a fine organization. It means more money and an opportunity for advancement. The only problem is the plant is located in a small town which I hate. I have told my husband I am not moving.

The major factor in my decision not to pull up stakes is my parents. I am an only child and my folks are very dear to me. They are in good health and I want to enjoy them as long as I can.

I know many women whose husbands travel during the week and come home weekends. My husband could do this, too. But he is stubbornly opposed to my staying here. Who is wrong? -- BLUE GRASS TROUBLE

Dear Trouble: You are.

If your parents were ill and you had to help care for them it would be a different matter, but refusing to move to the city where your husband makes his living because you want to enjoy mama's and papa's company is not only selfish, it is childish.

Wives like you are the first to scream "The louse" when a husband becomes involved with another woman. Hang onto my address, I think you may be writing again soon with another kind of problem.

Confidential to Scared To Death: No one can force you to marry the girl against your will. Furthermore, if I understand your letter correctly, you are still married to "Mona Lisa." From the description you give of "Mudfence's" father you would be lucky if the parole officer got to you first. You need a lawyer.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's Right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE
By Jack Strass L.L.D.

THE CASE OF THE BIG BONANZA

Albert was a pushover for any salesman. Consequently, he was loaded with insurance policies. And, as it turned out, owning so much insurance was the best policy for him, since he dreamed one night that he was out with a beautiful blonde and fell out of bed while lunging for her. With eight different accident and health policies, the accident took on all the happy aspects of a windfall. Albert filed claims to collect on all eight of them.

"Not so fast," responded the insurance companies. "Under the law, insurance policies are legal only so long as there is no element of gambling. In your case, there is. While accident and health policies are merely intended to compensate a person for medical expenses and loss of wages, with eight policies you stood to make a bundle if you got hurt. That's gambling! Therefore, the policies are illegal and void."

"Nonsense," was Albert's answer. "I never gambled in my life. The fact is, I get nervous when I have to select an hors d'oeuvre."

Demanding payment on all eight policies, Albert took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Albert to reap a financial bonanza on his accident?

This is how the judge ruled: Albert collected on all eight policies. The judge held that in the absence of a clause in an insurance policy to the contrary, a person has the right to insure himself for as much as he wants and with as many insurance companies as he can find.

Dark Bourbon:
It's not the kind of whiskey you learn on.

This isn't beginner's whiskey.
This is dark, deep-flavored Bourbon. Bourbon the way it used to be. Prime, copper-stilled whiskey.
Fixed with lots of handwork. And nothing but pure, fresh goods. With more of the small grains. And a sour mash that goes back more than 75 years.
Hill and Hill Preferred. It isn't beginner's Bourbon.
But it is an education.

But in a speech at Ironton last week, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said he had received information that 8,000 new employes would be added which might bring the payroll to something like $60 million.

Based on the Pilot Knob expansion and the Governor's pay roll estimate, that would bring the total to something over $400 million—a big shot in the arm for one of the poorest areas of the state and a shot that would affect the economy of the state as a whole through increased sales and other taxes.

An Ironton businessman's comment reflected the fact that the impact is already beginning to be felt.

"It's already getting hard to find help around here," he said.

Wharton put it this way in his discussion of the economic effects:

"The impact of the new mining developments on a number of small and somewhat isolated communities in southeast Missouri is perhaps the most interesting factor of all. The creation of so many jobs in the sparsely populated areas is bound to give a strong impetus to the regional economy.

"An urgent need is anticipated for new housing, schools, medical facilities, roads, goods and services in some of the expanding communities.

"The imaginative role of the St. Joseph Lead Co. in establishing the new town at Viburnum is well documented. Principal expansions henceforth are expected to take place near Pilot Knob, Ironton, Salem, Viburnum, Bixby, Bunker, Reynolds and Ellington.

"At the same time that money is being pumped into these small communities for goods and services, other monies are being siphoned off in the form of county, state and federal sales, property and income taxes.

"Tax revenue from the area includes major shares from the mining companies themselves. Funds are thereby supplied for expanding newly required public services, not only in these communities, but for the region as a whole."

He estimated that refunds from collections in the Clark National Forest, where many of the developments are located, might mean as much as $250,000 to the counties by 1970.

With the boom comes the need for better highways -- as a prime concern in the area as heavy ore trucks move over the existing hill country roads.

In his speech last week, the Governor assured the people of Ironton that he and the State Highway Commission are well aware of the need. But he cautioned that everything can't be done overnight, particularly with the current shortage of highway funds.

It gave him a chance to put in a new plug for the need of toll turnpikes to supplement the money available for improvement of existing state roads.

Highway Commission Chairman Jack Stapleton Sr. of Stanberry was there and the Governor said he had warned Stapleton not to promise more than he could deliver.

Add it all up and it comes to this:

The mineral boom is going to be a tremendous thing for all of Missouri. No one knows yet how big the impact will be because expansion and further exploration are still going on.

The area has been called the Rhur Valley of America. It might turn out even bigger than that.

nouncing the signing, also said it had sent out telegrams requesting the unions to cancel their strike authority. The board said the effect of the resolution is that no walkout can be called before May 3.

Even before formally receiving the resolution for signature, Johnson had called on management and the workers to make maximum use of the new 20-day period to avoid "the terrible consequences" of a nationwide rail stoppage.

He praised Tuesday's swift and overwhelming passage of the resolution in both houses. The Senate vote was 81 to 1 after a 90-minute debate. The House debated just 20 minutes before its 396-8 vote of approval.

The resolution was shipped by air to Uruguay for the President's signature.

The 20-day breather would extend a current 60-day truce that has blocked a strike by six railroad shopcraft unions which would hamstring railroads which account for 95 per cent of the nation's rail freight.

Johnson, asking Congress for the extension, had warned of the catastrophic effect of a prolonged rail strike on the nation's economy.

He said it could boost unemployment as high as 15 per cent, force nearly immediate layoffs of 40,000 coal miners and cripple attempts to supply U.S. fighting forces in Vietnam.

group's board of directors had met nearly three and a half hours.

"We are notifying all our associations and carriers around the country, requesting that they go back to work," Gordon said.

An exception, he said, is the Chicago area, where Teamsters are on strike and the trucking firms are not represented by TEI.

In calling the lockout last Saturday at midnight, TEI had broadly hinted that President Johnson should invoke the Taft-Hartley Act with an 80-day cooling-off injunction.

But high government officials made it clear they wouldn't recommend an injunction unless the lockout effects became more severe. The contract announcement quickly followed.

Gordon said the industry policy committee will meet Thursday. The board of directors of TEI will recommend to its policy committee that it accept the contract agreement, he said.

"This has been a real case of collective bargaining. This has been no case of government pressure," said chief federal mediator William E. Simkin, who worked for weeks with fellow mediators Walter Maggiolo and Gilbert Seldin to win the settlement.

In Chicago, one of the hardest hit cities during the lockout, a wave of panic buying stripped some supermarket shelves of canned goods and produce.

More than 20,000 auto workers in numerous cities were laid off at least part of a day because of a shortage of parts. A Boston food chain switched to rail shipment for its perishables and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce had predicted "a complete breakdown in our distribution system."

There was little effect in the New York City-New Jersey metropolitan area where trucking contracts do not expire until next August. But numerous drivers in upstate New York were laid off as were about 4,000 auto workers at Ford Motor Co's Mahway, N.J., assembly plant.

Shortages in some other ma- and Miami, were negligible because of the lockout's short duration.

ulent and misleading advertising. The substitute, based on a model consumer protection law recommended by the Council of State Governments, will be considered next week.

Another committee approved a bill to require absentee ballots to be counted along with regular ballots.

A House committee approved a bill to permit any city to adopt a model traffic ordinance and another to tighten the point system on drivers' licenses.

The House debated a bill to prevent job discrimination because of age. Jobs where health and safety require age consideration would be exempt. The bill was moved into position for passage.

Also moved forward was one to set up a board of medico-legal examiners to investigate mysterious deaths. Only a qualified person could determine the cause of death.

The House also argued but took no action on a bill that would raise the legal driving age from 16 to 18. But youths over 16 could get limited permits if they were taking an approved driver training course or if they were accompanied by a qualified adult driver.

Another bill put into position for passage would allow Missouri to exchange employes with other states and the federal government.

But in a speech at Ironton last week, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said he had received information that 8,000 new employes would be added which might bring the payroll to something like $60 million.

Based on the Pilot Knob expansion and the Governor's pay roll estimate, that would bring the total to something over $400 million—a big shot in the arm for one of the poorest areas of the state and a shot that would affect the economy of the state as a whole through increased sales and other taxes.

An Ironton businessman's comment reflected the fact that the impact is already beginning to be felt.

"It's already getting hard to find help around here," he said.

Wharton put it this way in his discussion of the economic effects:

"The impact of the new mining developments on a number of small and somewhat isolated communities in southeast Missouri is perhaps the most interesting factor of all. The creation of so many jobs in the sparsely populated areas is bound to give a strong impetus to the regional economy.

"An urgent need is anticipated for new housing, schools, medical facilities, roads, goods and services in some of the expanding communities.

"The imaginative role of the St. Joseph Lead Co. in establishing the new town at Viburnum is well documented. Principal expansions henceforth are expected to take place near Pilot Knob, Ironton, Salem, Viburnum, Bixby, Bunker, Reynolds and Ellington.

"At the same time that money is being pumped into these small communities for goods and services, other monies are being siphoned off in the form of county, state and federal sales, property and income taxes.

"Tax revenue from the area includes major shares from the mining companies themselves. Funds are thereby supplied for expanding newly required public services, not only in these communities, but for the region as a whole."

He estimated that refunds from collections in the Clark National Forest, where many of the developments are located, might mean as much as $250,000 to the counties by 1970.

With the boom comes the need for better highways -- as a prime concern in the area as heavy ore trucks move over the existing hill country roads.

In his speech last week, the Governor assured the people of Ironton that he and the State Highway Commission are well aware of the need. But he cautioned that everything can't be done overnight, particularly with the current shortage of highway funds.

It gave him a chance to put in a new plug for the need of toll turnpikes to supplement the money available for improvement of existing state roads.

Highway Commission Chairman Jack Stapleton Sr. of Stanberry was there and the Governor said he had warned Stapleton not to promise more than he could deliver.

Add it all up and it comes to this:

The mineral boom is going to be a tremendous thing for all of Missouri. No one knows yet how big the impact will be because expansion and further exploration are still going on.

The area has been called the Rhur Valley of America. It might turn out even bigger than that.

nouncing the signing, also said it had sent out telegrams requesting the unions to cancel their strike authority. The board said the effect of the resolution is that no walkout can be called before May 3.

Even before formally receiving the resolution for signature, Johnson had called on management and the workers to make maximum use of the new 20-day period to avoid "the terrible consequences" of a nationwide rail stoppage.

He praised Tuesday's swift and overwhelming passage of the resolution in both houses. The Senate vote was 81 to 1 after a 90-minute debate. The House debated just 20 minutes before its 396-8 vote of approval.

The resolution was shipped by air to Uruguay for the President's signature.

The 20-day breather would extend a current 60-day truce that has blocked a strike by six railroad shopcraft unions which would hamstring railroads which account for 95 per cent of the nation's rail freight.

Johnson, asking Congress for the extension, had warned of the catastrophic effect of a prolonged rail strike on the nation's economy.

He said it could boost unemployment as high as 15 per cent, force nearly immediate layoffs of 40,000 coal miners and cripple attempts to supply U.S. fighting forces in Vietnam.

group's board of directors had met nearly three and a half hours.

"We are notifying all our associations and carriers around the country, requesting that they go back to work," Gordon said.

An exception, he said, is the Chicago area, where Teamsters are on strike and the trucking firms are not represented by TEI.

In calling the lockout last Saturday at midnight, TEI had broadly hinted that President Johnson should invoke the Taft-Hartley Act with an 80-day cooling-off injunction.

But high government officials made it clear they wouldn't recommend an injunction unless the lockout effects became more severe. The contract announcement quickly followed.

Gordon said the industry policy committee will meet Thursday. The board of directors of TEI will recommend to its policy committee that it accept the contract agreement, he said.

"This has been a real case of collective bargaining. This has been no case of government pressure," said chief federal mediator William E. Simkin, who worked for weeks with fellow mediators Walter Maggiolo and Gilbert Seldin to win the settlement.

In Chicago, one of the hardest hit cities during the lockout, a wave of panic buying stripped some supermarket shelves of canned goods and produce.

More than 20,000 auto workers in numerous cities were laid off at least part of a day because of a shortage of parts. A Boston food chain switched to rail shipment for its perishables and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce had predicted "a complete breakdown in our distribution system."

There was little effect in the New York City-New Jersey metropolitan area where trucking contracts do not expire until next August. But numerous drivers in upstate New York were laid off as were about 4,000 auto workers at Ford Motor Co's Mahway, N.J., assembly plant.

Shortages in some other mand Miami, were negligible because of the lockout's short duration.

ulent and misleading advertising. The substitute, based on a model consumer protection law recommended by the Council of State Governments, will be considered next week.

Another committee approved a bill to require absentee ballots to be counted along with regular ballots.

A House committee approved a bill to permit any city to adopt a model traffic ordinance and another to tighten the point system on drivers' licenses.

The House debated a bill to prevent job discrimination because of age. Jobs where health and safety require age consideration would be exempt. The bill was moved into position for passage.

Also moved forward was one to set up a board of medico-legal examiners to investigate mysterious deaths. Only a qualified person could determine the cause of death.

The House also argued but took no action on a bill that would raise the legal driving age from 16 to 18. But youths over 16 could get limited permits if they were taking an approved driver training course or if they were accompanied by a qualified adult driver.

Another bill put into position for passage would allow Missouri to exchange employes with other states and the federal government.

COFFEE CORNER
by Cherie

I was far luckier than most children, for not only have I enjoyed my four grandparents, but I can also remember two of my great-grandparents well. Not long ago I lost a grandfather, and now this past week in an unfortunate car accident, I lost a good friend and a wonderful grandmother. I don't know quite how to describe her, except perhaps to say she was always busy, always pushing and prodding the rest of us, always helping and remembering others, and always in love with life and the living of it. I thought today, who will drop in for just a minute with a bagful of apples for the great grandsons, advice on their up - bringing for the mother, the latest score she and her partner had made at duplicate bridge, and just that quickly leave with another bagful of apples and advice for another child. She was my whirlwind grandmother, all helter-skelter, full of fun and giving, and going places, and I feel that Heaven must have been sorely in need of a good organizer when they called her -- if not, they're going to be quite surprised, for I feel sure that in record time, even for that Celestial Timekeeper, reorganized they will be! I will miss her, and the only good that has come to me from these recent losses is the realization that we are all here for such a short time. Let us live, as she did, this time to the fullest, and appreciate each other while we are together.

Lee has called them, "the car driving grandmother", and "the one who only knows how to drive a horse and buggy." I still have the buggy driver left. She is our gentle, calm, and comforting grandmother, the one who has always mended my clothes and my hurts. And, until the day that Heaven needs just such a gentle lady to alter the robes of it's Angels -- and I pray that that day be far off-we still have her with us to enjoy and to love, and we shall do so both freely and fully. Yes, I was luckier than most children, for I knew all my grandparents. I have remained so, for I still have two wonderful ones with me. And although this has been a hard and painful lesson to learn, I do know now, that instead of grieving for those who are gone, we must rejoice with those we have left, not only grandparents, but mothers, fathers, children, aunts, uncles and friends. And I hope, when something displeases me in the future, and a sharp retort comes to my lips, that I stop and think of just these things. I remember with deep regret other such incidents for which I can now never ask forgiveness and, perhaps, if all of us would stop and do just this, the world would truly be a better place to live in and God would indeed be Love.

TOTE BAGS FOR AUTO TRIPS

A tote bag is ideal on automobile trips, according to the American Oil Company Women's Representative. "It can pass for a handbag," she says, "yet it's roomy enough to hold extra shoes, overnight, gear--even a change of clothes. Carried in tote bags en route essentials are far easier to get to than if they were packed away in the luggage. The bags come plain -- in solid - color vinyl, plastic, or simulated leather, for example -- or you can choose fancy needlepoint and tapestry styles. Tote bags are lightweight, sturdy, and easy to keep clean. Most of them are plastic-lined, accommodating anything from wet watchcloths to just-used bathing suits."

Missouri Press Report

New housing for Missouri's senior citizens is moving ahead with assistance from the U. S. Housing and Urban Development Department, according to the latest report.

In recent years, 38 Missouri projects have received Federal assistance to provide 3,731 living units for the elderly.

Under the program of direct loans to aid housing for the elderly and the handicapped, Missouri has received $8,414,000 to provide 724 units. Each of these projects was sponsored by a private non - profit organization.

Missouri also received approval for $12,929,000 in mortgages to provide 944 senior citizens units at 5 different projects.

The Housing and Urban Development Department also reports approving loans for 28 projects including 3,836 units of which 2,063 are designed for the elderly. Total cost of developing these 28 projects is $65,582,000.

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman has just signed agreements to provide assistance to two more Missouri and water conservation districts. The districts are in Laclede and Bollinger counties.

Missouri now has 77 districts serving over 35,000 landowners. Eight more are today in the process of forming, according to Harold Owens, Executive Secretary of the Missouri State Soil and Water Districts Commission, University of Missouri, Columbia. Mr. Owens and Howard Jackson, Missouri Conservationist, were both in Washington recently reporting on the outstanding progress Missouri is making in soil and water conservation.

In Washington, D. C.,

cently were Dean and Mrs. Earl English, of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Brown, Editor of the CASS COUNTY DEMOCRAT - MISSOURIAN, Harrisonville. Dean English and Mr. Brown were judges of the "Newspaper Safety Writing Competition" sponsored by the American Trucking Association. Also on the judges panel was Hamilton Thornton, Editor of the Editorial Page of the ST. LOUIS GLOBE DEMOCRAT.

MAY WILL BE NATIONAL SENIOR CITIZENS MONTH

As a member of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, want to take this opportunity to congratulate all Missourians working to provide better health and living opportunities for our senior citizens.

Our Committee this year has been reviewing all problems facing the elderly in search of ways in which our Federal, state and local programs can be improved. We have a new subcommittee on which I am serving to study retirement problems and how to make the retirement dollar go further.

"HE PROVIDES"

I'm lonely in the wintertime
When all the flowers have gone
The trees are green no longer
The bird sings not his song.

As sweetly as in spring time
When he's busy as can be
Working making preparations
For the nest up in the tree.

They bill and coo and work away
And sing throughout the day
Knowing that our Lord above
Will provide - for them a way.

For food each day and rest at nite
They never worry for
They know that he will care for them

And where they are.

Should we but trust him just as they

For happiness and health
Our life would be much richer Here
Without a world of wealth.

Washington Report
Sen. Stuart Symington

ACTION NEEDED TO REVERSE TREND ON FARM PRICES

Along with the farmers in Missouri and nationally, members of the Senate from agricultural states are concerned about the drop in farm prices since August of last year.

The fact that realized net income in 1966 averaged $5,024 per farm, a 70 per cent increase over 1960, is no reassurance for the farmer who has seen his prices in the market place go down from 81 percent of parity last August to 74 percent on February 15, the lowest level since 1939.

In that period, wheat dropped from $1.70 per bushel to $1.49; corn from $1.34 per bushel to $1.26; soybeans (Missouri's biggest cash crop last year) from $3.49 per bushel to $2.71; and hogs from $24.50 per hundred - weight to $18.80. At the same time costs of production were going up.

The vice - like pressure of increased costs and lower selling prices is nowhere more evident than on milk producers.

Last week, here in Washington, Secretary of Agriculture Freeman told visiting farmers of steps he had taken in recent months to try and meet the dairyman's economic problem. He also announced a series of regional hearings, one of which is being held in St. Louis Wednesday, April 12, to consider price increases in the fluid milk markets of the nation.

A bill to limit importation of milk and milk products, of which I am sponsor, is now awaiting Senate Agriculture Committee hearings.

At the Secretary's request, the President has already asked the Tariff Commission to hold hearings on this same problem. I am urging that the Administration also take immediate steps, under authority previously granted, to impose quotas while the Commission conducts its hearings. I am also requesting that consideration be given to increased loan rates for wheat export certificates and increased loan rates for feed grains.

With farm surpluses at the lowest levels in many years, effective steps must be taken now to assure the farm people of Missouri and the nation that we are not trying to feed and clothe the world at their expense, and that we do not expect the farmers to accept sub - standard incomes in order to subsidize the best-fed, most prosperous nation in the world.

MAY WILL BE NATIONAL SENIOR CITIZENS MONTH

As a member of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, want to take this opportunity to congratulate all Missourians working to provide better health and living opportunities for our senior citizens.

Our Committee this year has been reviewing all problems facing the elderly in search of ways in which our Federal, state and local programs can be improved. We have a new subcommittee on which I am serving to study retirement problems and how to make the retirement dollar go further.

"HE PROVIDES"

I'm lonely in the wintertime
When all the flowers have gone
The trees are green no longer
The bird sings not his song.

As sweetly as in spring time
When he's busy as can be
Working making preparations
For the nest up in the tree.

They bill and coo and work away
And sing throughout the day
Knowing that our Lord above
Will provide - for them a way.

For food each day and rest at nite
They never worry for
They know that he will care for them

And where they are.

Should we but trust him just as they

For happiness and health
Our life would be much richer Here
Without a world of wealth.

ACTION NEEDED TO REVERSE TREND ON FARM PRICES

Along with the farmers in Missouri and nationally, members of the Senate from agricultural states are concerned about the drop in farm prices since August of last year.

The fact that realized net income in 1966 averaged $5,024 per farm, a 70 per cent increase over 1960, is no reassurance for the farmer who has seen his prices in the market place go down from 81 percent of parity last August to 74 percent on February 15, the lowest level since 1939.

In that period, wheat dropped from $1.70 per bushel to $1.49; corn from $1.34 per bushel to $1.26; soybeans (Missouri's biggest cash crop last year) from $3.49 per bushel to $2.71; and hogs from $24.50 per hundred - weight to $18.80. At the same time costs of production were going up.

The vice - like pressure of increased costs and lower selling prices is nowhere more evident than on milk producers.

Last week, here in Washington, Secretary of Agriculture Freeman told visiting farmers of steps he had taken in recent months to try and meet the dairyman's economic problem. He also announced a series of regional hearings, one of which is being held in St. Louis Wednesday, April 12, to consider price increases in the fluid milk markets of the nation.

A bill to limit importation of milk and milk products, of which I am sponsor, is now awaiting Senate Agriculture Committee hearings.

At the Secretary's request, the President has already asked the Tariff Commission to hold hearings on this same problem. I am urging that the Administration also take immediate steps, under authority previously granted, to impose quotas while the Commission conducts its hearings. I am also requesting that consideration be given to increased loan rates for wheat export certificates and increased loan rates for feed grains.

With farm surpluses at the lowest levels in many years, effective steps must be taken now to assure the farm people of Missouri and the nation that we are not trying to feed and clothe the world at their expense, and that we do not expect the farmers to accept sub - standard incomes in order to subsidize the best-fed, most prosperous nation in the world.

To The Editor:

ALL 50 STATES' LEGISLATURES ALLOWED OF OUR U.S. CONSTITUTION DESTRUCTION

Starting in 1913 - and increasingly since 1932 (the so-called NEW DEAL), ALL States' Legislatures - who - under our U. S. Constitution - were hired (elected) TO BOSS and CONTROL - the Constitutionally - LIMITED, Federal Government - which the States created - after successfully eliminating the monarchical tyranny of King George III - spinelessly and treasonably - betrayed their people who elected them - by meekly allowing - the formation in Washington - of a new - BUT AGE OLD - Federal - Centralized Monarchy - to usurp ALL Constitutional powers of the Sovereign States - and CONTROL over ALL possessions, earnings, education and freedoms of their people - in their respective States.

Never - has there been a larger number, of irresponsible, history-ignorant politicians - thousands of States' Legislators, since 1913 - fiddling with petty local politics - WHILE AMERICA BURNED.

How - the thousands of our States' Legislators, can sleep at nights - with no remorse about ignoring their promise to God, with their hands upon His Holy Bible - to "uphold and defend the Constitution of our United States" - Betraying All of the people in their respective States - and thoughtlessly condemning our and their own descendants - to bondage - or slavery - is beyond comprehension.

Let us look at their ignominious, careless, immoral record. Their FIRST big mistake - was - three fourths of the States Legislatures ratified the 1913 income tax - sixteenth amendment - which they knew - or should have known - that our learned Founding Fathers refused to even consider. Why? Because our forefathers were familiar with ALL history. They knew - that from the days of Jesus Christ - down to the flight of the Pilgrims - ruthless State-Church tyrants, enslaved the masses, with the income tax - which always was increased to confiscation - of everything - the people owned.

The second freedom - destroying, devastating uneconomic, inexcusable Blunder - was Unconstitutional. And - our States' Legislatures NEVER asserted their RIGHTS - of three fourths of them agreeing thereto - in accordance with Article V of our Constitution. It is the so-called "Federal Reserve System."

Under our Constitution-ONLY our U.S. Congress - is charged with handling our MONEYS. Our U. S. Congress unconstitutionally ABDICATED their DUTY AND TRUST - and handed upon a platter - to a group of wealthy individuals - the control of ALL money - of our millions of people. This Goliath of money - changers - since 1913 - has milked untold billions of dollars - from ALL of our people.

And - our elected Presidents - 535 Congressmen and 50 States' Legislatures - never even ask these money-changers - for periodical reports of their billions of dollars in profits - at the expense of you and me - all taxpayers.

The third, freedom-destroying mistake - was ratification of the 17th Amendment to our Constitution - by three fourths of our States' Legislatures. Our original Constitution - wisely provided - that our Congressional Senators be selected by our Sovereign States' Legislatures. ONLY the Congressional Representatives - were to be elected by popular vote - every two years.

Our States' Legislatures, meekly gave up their control over their two Congressional Senators - by three fourths of the States' agreeing thereto. The result - our Congressional - now uncontrolled Senators - with six years tenure - sold our people DOWN THE RIVER - by doing everything demanded - by our new, Washington - controlled monarchy - even to subordination of our U. S. Constitution - our freedoms - and the lives of our military men and boys - to the dictates of an ungodly conglomeration of a hundred odd, atheist, neutral, illiterate, scheming countries - and their self - interest - only politicians - all over the world - the so-called United Nations.

The fourth "Breach of Trust" - by our States' Legislatures - ignoring their promise to God - and the people in their respective States - was their failure to YELL TO HIGH HEAVEN - when our U. S. Congress, unconstitutionally rammed through the 14th Amendment - which was never ratified by three fourths of our States' Legislatures. This Unconstitutional Amendment has been blatantly - and satanically used - by our Presidential, purposely - appointed, atheist - thinking, politicians - on our so-called Supreme Court - as a basis - for many of their unconstitutional decisions.

The fifth Breach of Trust - by our States' Legislatures - was playing dead - and saying nothing - when President Roosevelt - and his VASSAL majority of Congress - destroyed our Gold-Standard in 1934 - and even repudiated America's printed promise in its Government bonds - to redeem them in gold at maturity.

The result - elimination of Government obligation to escrow 30% to 40% of gold in America's vaults - for guaranteed payment of our currency and maturing U. S. Bonds. This allowed unlimited printing of fiat Government Bonds - to be used as money - in deficit - spending our America - into national bankruptcy.

The sixth - and ON AND ON - up to hundreds of States' Legislatures "breaches of trust" - are the MANY, unconstitutional Federal Bureaucracies - set up by our new, monarchical dynasty in Washington - to CONTROL - EVERY FACET of the possessions, incomes, lives and FREEDOMS - of EVERY man, woman and child in EVERY State. Not one word in our Constitution - ALLOWS ANY OF THEM. And - our States' Legislatures did not say "boo" - and don't even peep today - about their right - to first ratify all constitutional changes.

President Johnson - in practically every television broadcast - insults the intelligence of all of us - by telling of new unconstitutional Bureaucracies, Commissions and Boards - that HE has appointed - to do all things - for all of us - because we - are too dumb and ignorant to take care of ourselves - as we did in our respective sovereign states - over our first 130 years - after winning our independence - from the socialist - state - monarchy - of King George III.

All of this leads up to a ray of hope - toward saving our Christian, Constitutional America - from going down into slavery and oblivion.

For the FIRST time - since 1787 - some of our States are petitioning for a "Constitutional Convention" - to protest the Supreme Court's unconstitutional decision on "legislative apportionment."

Never - since our Declaration of Independence - have our people been so completely controlled - by a scheming, centralized, power and tyrannical hungry - oligarchy - generally, unthinkingly, ignorantly and worshiply - called our Federal Government. Throughout all history - centralized - Government - has been the worst enemy of the Peoples - by usurpation of their possessions and freedoms.

TODAY - for the second time in American history - we must have a resurrection of our original "Declaration of Independence". Our people must demand from their once Sovereign - States' Legislatures - A Constitutional Convention - not just to protest one or two unconstitutional, Supreme Court decisions -- but to resurrect our U. S. Constitution in its entirety. It is the ONLY, slavery - preventing - man - made laws - IN ALL HISTORY.

Number ONE on the agenda for the Constitutional Convention - is Repeal of our Income Tax - 16th Amendment - with the LIBERTY AMENDMENT - already passed by seven States' Legislatures.

Number TWO on the agenda - is the exercise of U. S. Government option - to purchase from the MONEY CHANGERS - ALL stock of the unconstitutional Federal Reserve banks - for approximately three hundred million dollars - thereby liquidating them - and demand that Congress take back their power and trust of the peoples' moneys - subject to the DEMANDS of our Sovereign - States' Legislatures.

Number three - repeal the 17th Amendment - and return to the Sovereign - States' Legislatures - their Constitutional Rights to select their own two Senators in our originally - intended - limited, Federal Congress.

Number four - demand resubmission of the 14th Amendment - to our 50 States' Legislatures - for approval or rejection. This amendment was never ratified by three fourths of our States' Legislatures - even though our power - hungry, Federal Government - forcibly ousted the Legislatures of a number of Southern States - and replaced them with vassal Carpetbaggers.

Number five - demand a stop - to deficit spending - at home and all over the world - except - if necessary - only for National Defense. Demand - working back - to balanced budgets - return to the gold-standard - and paying off our national debt - which is one and one-half times the amount - owned by all the rest of the world - instead of loading it upon the shoulders of our children - grand and great-grandchildren - and millions of the unborn.

Number six - elimination entirely - of all unconstitutional, Federal Bureaucracies - and return to each and every State - their Sovereign-States' rights to handle their own problems.

Our nearly two hundred million people don't know - can't know - are lied to - and purposely kept in the dark - about most everything our new, scheming, Federal Monarchy is doing - to enslave all of us. The people in their respective, fifty, once-sovereign States - are close to their States' Legislatures - and can keep tab on - and know - what they are doing - quickly vote out those who ignore the wishes of the people.

Let our people - by the millions - demand their respective State Legislatures - to convene a "Constitutional Convention" - to nullify all of the foregoing - including replacing the majority of satanic politicians on our Supreme Court - with experienced, Constitution - believing, God-fearing Judges - selected by our States - with instructions to rescind all past, Supreme Court unconstitutional decisions.

And - all States must reject the ungodly United Nations - which they never had a chance to ratify - and each state Legislature - working with their people - select and elect - new congressional senators and representatives - to replace all spineless, vassal congressmen - who have sold American and our People - down the river - into bondage.

The sixth - and ON AND ON - up to hundreds of States' Legislatures "breaches of trust" - are the MANY, unconstitutional Federal Bureaucracies - set up by our new, monarchical dynasty in Washington - to CONTROL - EVERY FACET of the possessions, incomes, lives and FREEDOMS - of EVERY man, woman and child in EVERY State. Not one word in our Constitution - ALLOWS ANY OF THEM. And - our States' Legislatures did not say "boo" - and don't even peep today - about their right - to first ratify all constitutional changes.

President Johnson - in practically every television broadcast - insults the intelligence of all of us - by telling of new unconstitutional Bureaucracies, Commissions and Boards - that HE has appointed - to do all things - for all of us - because we - are too dumb and ignorant to take care of ourselves - as we did in our respective sovereign states - over our first 130 years - after winning our independence - from the socialist - state - monarchy - of King George III.

All of this leads up to a ray of hope - toward saving our Christian, Constitutional America - from going down into slavery and oblivion.

For the FIRST time - since 1787 - some of our States are petitioning for a "Constitutional Convention" - to protest the Supreme Court's unconstitutional decision on "legislative apportionment."

Never - since our Declaration of Independence - have our people been so completely controlled - by a scheming, centralized, power and tyrannical hungry - oligarchy - generally, unthinkingly, ignorantly and worshiply - called our Federal Government. Throughout all history - centralized - Government - has been the worst enemy of the Peoples - by usurpation of their possessions and freedoms.

TODAY - for the second time in American history - we must have a resurrection of our original "Declaration of Independence". Our people must demand from their once Sovereign - States' Legislatures - A Constitutional Convention - not just to protest one or two unconstitutional, Supreme Court decisions - but to resurrect our U. S. Constitution in its entirety. It is the ONLY, slavery - preventing - man - made laws - IN ALL HISTORY.

Number ONE on the agenda for the Constitutional Convention - is Repeal of our Income Tax - 16th Amendment - with the LIBERTY AMENDMENT - already passed by seven States' Legislatures.

Number TWO on the agenda - is the exercise of U. S. Government option - to purchase from the MONEY CHANGERS - ALL stock of the unconstitutional Federal Reserve banks - for approximately three hundred million dollars - thereby liquidating them - and demand that Congress take back their power and trust of the peoples' moneys - subject to the DEMANDS of our Sovereign - States' Legislatures.

Number three - repeal the 17th Amendment - and return to the Sovereign - States' Legislatures - their Constitutional Rights to select their own two Senators in our originally - intended - limited, Federal Congress.

Number four - demand resubmission of the 14th Amendment - to our 50 States' Legislatures - for approval or rejection. This amendment was never ratified by three fourths of our States' Legislatures - even though our power - hungry, Federal Government - forcibly ousted the Legislatures of a number of Southern States - and replaced them with vassal Carpetbaggers.

Number five - demand a stop - to deficit spending - at home and all over the world - except - if necessary - only for National Defense. Demand - working back - to balanced budgets - return to the gold-standard - and paying off our national debt - which is one and one-half times the amount - owned by all the rest of the world - instead of loading it upon the shoulders of our children - grand and great-grandchildren - and millions of the unborn.

Number six - elimination entirely - of all unconstitutional, Federal Bureaucracies - and return to each and every State - their Sovereign-States' rights to handle their own problems.

Our nearly two hundred million people don't know - can't know - are lied to - and purposely kept in the dark - about most everything our new, scheming, Federal Monarchy is doing - to enslave all of us. The people in their respective, fifty, once-sovereign States - are close to their States' Legislatures - and can keep tab on - and know - what they are doing - quickly vote out those who ignore the wishes of the people.

Let our people - by the millions - demand their respective State Legislatures - to convene a "Constitutional Convention" - to nullify all of the foregoing - including replacing the majority of satanic politicians on our Supreme Court - with experienced, Constitution - believing, God-fearing Judges - selected by our States - with instructions to rescind all past, Supreme Court unconstitutional decisions.

And - all States must reject the ungodly United Nations - which they never had a chance to ratify - and each state Legislature - working with their people - select and elect - new congressional senators and representatives - to replace all spineless, vassal congressmen - who have sold American and our People - down the river - into bondage.

Key Club Treasure Steaks

Treasures as good as the steaks are the fresh mushrooms filled with a blue cheese stuffing and the gay little cherry tomatoes that are used for the garnish. Swift's Premium ProTen Key Club Steaks (or you might use Key Strip, Imperial, Porterhouse, or Sirloin) cut 1 to 1¼ inches thick assure tender, juicy steaks for charcoal or ovenbroiling. The rich blue cheese flavor in the unique stuffing of the mushrooms comes from Treasure Cave Blue Cheese.

The stuffed mushrooms on skewers are placed in the broiler about 5 minutes before the steaks are done. The cherry tomatoes are served chilled on skewers because tomatoes only fall off during broiling. To make Blue Cheese Stuffed Mushrooms combine 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine with 1 tablespoon blue cheese, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and 1 cup soft bread crumbs. Wash 14 to 16 large fresh mushrooms and remove the stems. The stems may be chopped fine and added to the stuffing. Fill half of the mushroom caps with stuffing, cover with another mushroom cap and place on skewers, alternating with small squares of green pepper. Brush all with melted butter and place on broiler rack with steaks. ProTen steaks 1¼ inches thick will require about 15 minutes to bring to rare. Add 5 minutes for medium and 10 minutes for well-done steaks.

BEEF BURGERS A LA BLUE

Yield: 4 servings

4 ounce package Treasure Cave Blue Cheese
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine ground beef, salt, and pepper. Shape into 4 thick patties and broil until rare, medium, or well done. Just before serving, top hot beef burgers with crumbled blue cheese.

Variation: Shape ground beef into 8 patties. Place a spoonful of crumbled blue cheese on each of 4 patties. Top with remaining beef patties and seal edges. Broil.

TURKEY SALAD SANDWICHES

Yield: 8 sandwiches

2 packages (4 ounces each) Treasure Cave Blue Cheese, crumbled
2½ cups cooked, cubed turkey
2 cups finely chopped celery
½ cup chopped blanched almonds
½ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
8 slices of toast

In a large bowl combine turkey, celery, almonds, green pepper, pimiento, onion, salt, and lemon juice. Add mayonnaise and blend well. Spread salad mixture on 8 slices toasted bread. 8 toasted English muffin halves or 8 toasted buns. Sprinkle about 2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese over each sandwich. Serve cold. Or, to serve hot, place under broiler for 2 to 3 minutes, or until cheese bubbles.

'NEVER UNDERESTIMATE. . .'

We all remember the story of the strapping boy who helpfully held the lantern while his mother chopped the wood. And many of us have felt, when seeing pictures of women doing hard labor on the streets of Russian cities, that Soviet officialdom was too much like the inconsiderate son.

But things are changing. The newspaper Evening Moscow has urged its readers to remember that legal equality of the sexes does not mean that women should be treated just like men. It ran an article by the well-known author Vladimir Nemtsov, in which he expressed indignation at seeing women workers in a factory carrying heavy loads while a husky young man nearby was merely tending the snack bar.

This reaction is in line with many others of a similar nature in Russia. In recent years weddings, which used to be quick and drab affairs, have again been given romantic color. Women's fashions, formerly more suitable for tractor work, have now become feminine and attractive. Lipstick has even been encouraged in Communist publications.

We should like to think that all these improvements began with men's seeing on their own that things needed changing. But we suspect that they came about primarily through that irresistible pressure which women -- single or en masse -- know how to utilize when their hearts are set on something.

April Is Citrus Value Time

Come spring, a gal's mirror often reflects the need for a little calorie counting. Losing pounds needn't be a chore when you discover how many foods are not only low in calories but good tasting and good for you. High on the list are juicy Florida citrus fruits — oranges and grapefruit.

April is Florida citrus value time. Richly-flavored oranges and plump pink and white grapefruit offer healthful eating at low prices, so it makes good "cents" to enjoy them at least once every day. Both oranges and grapefruit are listed as plentiful foods by the U.S. Department of Agriculture this month.

Luscious Valencia orange slices and juicy grapefruit sections combine with shrimp and cottage cheese for a colorful, appetizing low-calorie salad. A perfect dressing for this, or any, fruit salad uses frozen Florida orange juice concentrate for tart-sweet, refreshing flavor.

Dressing For Citrus Salad

¼ cup frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
¼ cup plain yogurt
1 tablespoon honey
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon minced fresh tarragon leaves, or ½ teaspoon dried tarragon

In medium size bowl, combine undiluted orange concentrate, yogurt, honey and salt; blend until smooth. Add tarragon; refrigerate at least one hour until flavors blend. Pour 1 tablespoon per serving over salad.

CUT STATE PROPERTY TAX 3 CENTS

Senator T. D. McNeal's bill to repeal the state tax of 3 cents on real and personal property for general revenue purposes deserves strong support.

Property owners now carry by far the greatest load in supporting local governments and schools. In recent years they have had one increase after another. Now, at a time when Missouri has a surplus of more than $35,000,000, property owners should be given relief.

As Senator McNeal points out, the federal and state governments have pre-empted nearly all tax sources except the property tax. The state wants to recover part of the lost tax sources from the federal governments the same consideration its hopes to receive from Washington.

Reducing the present 6-cent state property tax to 3 cents (the state uses the other 3 cents of the tax to pay for pensions to the blind), will cost $2,500,000 in revenue. But it is apparent Missouri can well afford the cut at the time.

(CHICAGO) - HEAD NODDING L. J. writes: My girl friend, in her fifties, has started to nod her head. I know she doesn't do it intentionally but wonder what could cause it.

Reply: It may be habit or an early sign of Parkinsonism. There is a possibility, also, that she finally is saying yes.

'NEVER UNDERESTIMATE. . .'

We all remember the story of the strapping boy who helpfully held the lantern while his mother chopped the wood. And many of us have felt, when seeing pictures of women doing hard labor on the streets of Russian cities, that Soviet officialdom was too much like the inconsiderate son.

But things are changing. The newspaper Evening Moscow has urged its readers to remember that legal equality of the sexes does not mean that women should be treated just like men. It ran an article by the well-known author Vladimir Nemtsov, in which he expressed indignation at seeing women workers in a factory carrying heavy loads while a husky young man nearby was merely tending the snack bar.

This reaction is in line with many others of a similar nature in Russia. In recent years weddings, which used to be quick and drab affairs, have again been given romantic color. Women's fashions, formerly more suitable for tractor work, have now become feminine and attractive. Lipstick has even been encouraged in Communist publications.

We should like to think that all these improvements began with men's seeing on their own that things needed changing. But we suspect that they came about primarily through that irresistible pressure which women -- single or en masse -- know how to utilize when their hearts are set on something.

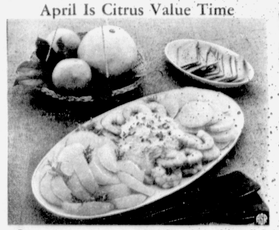
April Is Citrus Value Time



Come spring, a gal's mirror often reflects the need for a little calorie counting. Losing pounds needn't be a chore when you discover how many foods are not only low in calories but good tasting and good for you. High on the list are juicy Florida citrus fruits — oranges and grapefruit.

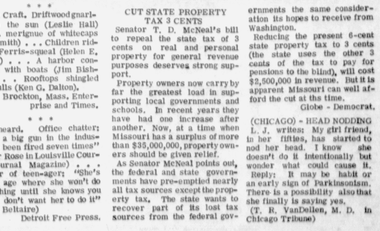
April is Florida citrus value time. Richly-flavored oranges and plump pink and white grapefruit offer healthful eating at low prices, so it makes good "cents" to enjoy them at least once every day. Both oranges and grapefruit are listed as plentiful foods by the U.S. Department of Agriculture this month.

Luscious Valencia orange slices and juicy grapefruit sections combine with shrimp and cottage cheese for a colorful, appetizing low-calorie salad. A perfect dressing for this, or any, fruit salad uses frozen Florida orange juice concentrate for tart-sweet, refreshing flavor.

Dressing For Citrus Salad

¼ cup frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
½ cup plain yogurt
1 tablespoon honey
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon minced fresh tarragon leaves, or ½ teaspoon dried tarragon

In medium size bowl, combine undiluted orange concentrate, yogurt, honey and salt; blend until smooth. Add tarragon; refrigerate at least one hour until flavors blend. Pour 1 tablespoon per serving over salad.



Beach Crab, Driftwood garling in the sun (Leslie Hall) . . . A merigune of whitecaps (Red Smith) . . . Children riding a Ferris-squeal (Helen E. Jacobs) . . . A harbor confetted with boats (Jim Bishop) . . . Rooftops shingled with gulls (Ken G. Dalton).

CUT STATE PROPERTY TAX 3 CENTS

Senator T. D. McNeal's bill to repeal the state tax of 3 cents on real and personal property for general revenue purposes deserves strong support.

Property owners now carry by far the greatest load in supporting local governments and schools. In recent years they have had one increase after another. Now, at a time when Missouri has a surplus of more than $35,000,000, property owners should be given relief.

As Senator McNeal points out, the federal and state governments have preempted nearly all tax sources except the property tax. The state wants to recover part of its lost tax sources from the federal governments the same consideration its hopes to receive from Washington.

Reducing the present 6-cent state property tax to 3 cents (the state uses the other 3 cents of the tax to pay for pensions to the blind), will cost $2,500,000 in revenue. But it is apparent Missouri can well afford the cut at this time.

Drew Pearson Special

DREW PEARSON SAYS: John F. Kennedy is hero throughout Latin America; Colombia generally friendly to USA.

(Editor's Note: On the eve of the summit conference, Drew Pearson reports further on the likes and dislikes, the problems and policies of South Americans re the United States.)

WASHINGTON -- In December, 1961, when I accompanied President John F. Kennedy to Colombia, he dedicated a small cinder block foundation as the start of a new Alliance for Progress housing project. The Colombia government didn't tell him, but the fact was that the foundation had been laid only a few days before. It was a rush job to show that Colombia had done at least something toward the Alliance for Progress.

Today that lone cinder - rock foundation has expanded into a thriving suburb of 70,000 people on the outskirts of Bogota, now named "Ciudad Kennedy" in honor of the man who laid its cornerstone.

There are rows and rows of brick apartment houses built under a uniform design supplied by the Colombia government. There are also rows and rows of individual homes, built according to the owner's own design. But they are not shacks or makeshift tin-roofed slum dwellings. They are neat and orderly, and the people who live in them are proud of their homes.

I inspected a new schoolhouse where several hundred children swarmed over the playground playing soccer and shooting basketballs.

In the heart of the city, and rather difficult to locate because so many homes have been built up around it, is the house whose cornerstone Kennedy laid in 1961. It bears a plaque marking that memorable occasion.

As you walk down the main street, you pass a "Jacqueline Drugstone" and a "Jacqueline Panificadora," which means, "Jacqueline's Bakery."

There are green shrubs planted outside the buildings, curtains in the windows, and the lawns, though scanty in size, are neat and orderly, which is rare in any government housing project whether in Manhattan, San Juan, or Lima.

John F. Kennedy is a hero throughout Latin America. The Alliance For Progress he started did not get too far, but he is credited with good intentions. In Ciudad Kennedy, however, the late President is more than a hero, he is a saint. On the anniversary of his assassination, November 22, his picture is shown in the windows of Ciudad Kennedy, sometimes alongside the picture of Christ.

HATE - LOVE AMERICA

Bogota is a city where for many years the populace threw stones through the windows of the American Embassy on July 4 to punctuate their hatred of the United States over Teddy Roosevelt's seizure of Panama and the canal route.

Today Colombians have forgiven us most of our sins, and the atmosphere generally is friendly. We are both loved and hated, admired and envied, lauded and cussed. The United States is also imitated, both our good traits and our bad, which is the sincerest form of flattery.

In the heart of downtown Bogota is the "Centro Colombo-Americano," the largest Colombian - American student center in Latin America. It was built with money left in Colombia from the sale of surplus American wheat, and today four thousand Colombian students are members.

At its lunch counter you can buy "the largest hotdogs in Colombia" or "Hamburgers Pan American" or "Chile Con Carne, Texas style."

You can also read several thousand volumes of American books, study English, or just relax and get acquainted with your student neighbors. These English - language centers are maintained by the U. S. Information Service all over Latin America, are almost self-supporting, and are one of the most effective jobs the USIA has done. Even Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., the super - critical economizer, has been happy over them.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Bogota is preparing to welcome Pope Paul and the Eucharistic congress in 1968. As a result, Mayor Virgilio Barco, the very progressive executive of Bogota, is sprucing up the city. He is sodding the avenue of the Americas and planting new trees. Lady Bird would be pleased. . . . President Lleras is now preparing to resume diplomatic relations with the Sovet Union. This gripes some of the Colombian aristocracy, including Senora Zuleta, charming wife of the former Ambassador to Washington and former foreign minister. She says, "My husband broke relations with the Russians after the Communist riots in 1948. He wrote the Russians a strong letter saying we had no reason for relations with Russia anymore. We still don't have any reason for such relations--unless it's to irk the United States.". . . Lauchlin Currie, a former White House aide under FDR, is now living in Colombia, where he's become a citizen. Sen. Joe McCarthy staged a bitter campaign against Currie, as a result of which Currie found it more pleasant to become a Colombian citizen. He drafted farsighted plans for Colombia's successful economic progress and is now head of the economics department of the University of Bogota.

Five Cairo Taverns Named

CAIRO (AP) - A Dram shop suit against five Cairo tavern operators was filed Monday by a sixth tavern owner who was wounded in a shooting in his establishment a year ago.

Charlie D. Thompson, 51, owner of the Hub Lounge, alleged in a circuit court suit that the five taverns sold liquor to Paul Baykowski, 34, of St. Louis, prior to the shooting April 13, 1966.

David Caughlin, 37, of Cairo, was killed and Thompson was wounded in the shooting.

Baykowski and Vincent Gendron, 32, of East St. Louis, are serving identical 10 to 15 year prison terms. They were convicted of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the shooting.

Named in the suit are the Turf Club, Dover's Taver, Kentucky Tavern, Club 18 and the Tic Toc Club.

Water District Petition Filed

KENNETT -- A petition was filed in the office of Dunklin County Circuit Clerk Brydon Ross, calling for the formation of a public water supply district in the North Dunklin area.

The district, to be known as Public Water Supply District No. 1 of Dunklin County, would involve 60 miles of water line and would have three storage tanks to serve about 350 users.

Water will be purchased from the City of Malden to serve the district, which will include all of Union and Cotton Hill Townships, except Campbell and Malden.

Metz Skelton, engineer for the project, is now working on plans and specifications and hopes to have them ready by July 1.

Sketon said a tentative commitment has been received from the Farmers Home Administration for a $440,000 loan on the system. It would be financed through a 35-year revenue bond issue.

The district also would include about 80,000 acres.

The Circuit Court has been asked to set a hearing on the petition for May 22 at 10 a.m. in the Circuit Court room in Kennett. Exceptions to the formation of the proposed district or to the boundaries outlined must be filed not less than five days prior to the date set for the hearing.

The court will then set a date for an election on the issue.

If approved, a corporation will be formed. Another election will then be called to vote on the bond issue to finance the system.

EGGS:
PLENTY AND THRIFTY

This spring's abundance of eggs - already obvious to alert shoppers - is expected to stay with us awhile - and at increasingly attractive prices.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman recently pointed out that supplies of eggs now and during the coming months will make it possible to offer consumers this highly nutritious and outstanding protein food at bargain prices. Wholesale prices recently hit the lowest level in almost two years, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. Egg output, running some seven percent more than a year ago, will continue to provide larger than normal supplies at least through July.

As a result of all this abundance, eggs are at the top of USDA's Plentiful Foods List for April. And consumers should be finding prices on eggs increasingly attractive.

When considering the cost of eggs, remember that a carton weighs more than a pound (except for Peewees). For example, a dozen large size eggs - USDA graded - will weigh at less a pound and a half.

If these large eggs are selling for 60 cents a dozen, you are actually paying only 40 cents per pound - very reasonable for a pound of high protein food. At current prices, your egg purchase is even thriftier.

WHAT IS AN EGG?

What is an egg? Besides good eating and a cooking ingredient few homemakers would be without . . .an egg is a capsule of valuable nutrients.

Nature's "pre-packaged" food product is especially valued as a source of high quality protein, points out the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In fact, egg protein often is used as a standard to measure the value of protein in other foods.

The amount and quality of this protein make eggs a good alternate for meat. They can readily be "chalked up" as one of the two or more meat-type foods we should eat daily. And two eggs will supply as much as 20 percent of the high quality protein needed by an adult.

They also supply significant amounts of vitamin A, iron and riboflavin. Furthermore, eggs are one of the few foods that contain natural vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin.

Easily digested eggs make a valuable contribution to the food needs of growing children, adults and older people as well. For children, of course, growth promoting protein is essential; for older folks the same nutrient helps in repairs.

Even weight-reducers count on the capsule of nutrition. One large egg contains 80 calories - a reasonable "cost" for the food value supplied. More than half these calories, by the way, are in the yolk.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

EGGS IN HIDING

Eggs are indispensable to good cooking. Indeed, as those on special diets have found out, it is hard to cook without them.

Eggs may appear on breakfast, brunch, lunch, snack or dinner menus. Then again, the egg may be in these meals . . . but not appear.

They have the amazing ability to perform different jobs in different situations and many times it is a hidden role, explains the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In cakes, breads, souffles and omelets, eggs do the LEAVENING. That is, they make these food creations lighter and fluffier.

Clear soups and consummes gain a crystal-like appearance by the addition of an egg just before serving. In this case, the egg plays a CLARIFYING role, driving unwanted particles to the bottom.

The THICKENING in custards, puddings and many sauces is another job performed by eggs.

To retard CRYSTALLIZATION in candies and icings. . . look to eggs again.

Naturally eggs make a popular GARNISH for canapes, salads and main dishes.

How do you keep the COATING on breaded poultry, meat and fish? Beaten egg! Likewise, it helps BIND TOGETHER croquettes, meat loaves and similar dishes.

And, for that tricky job of holding together oil and vinegar -- in mayonnaise and salad dressings -- an egg in hiding is the emulsifier.

Wheat Crop Estimated

WASHINGTON AP -- The Agriculture Department estimated this year's drought-plagued winter wheat crop at 1,162,348,008 bushels.

This compared with last year's crop of 1,056,821,000 bushels and the 1961 - 65 average of 969,971,000. But it falls short of the record 1,282,860,000 bushels indicated last December after the crop had been seeded on an acreage 26 per cent larger than for the 1966 crop.

The largest winter wheat crop ever produced was 1,173,538,000 bushels in 1958.

The indicated production of winter wheat by states included Missouri 56,970,000 bushels.

Stocks on farms April 1 in bushels included:

Missouri 70,531,000 bushels.

Soybeans -- Missouri 5,980,000 bushels.

EGGS:
PLENTY AND THRIFTY

This spring's abundance of eggs - already obvious to alert shoppers - is expected to stay with us awhile - and at increasingly attractive prices.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman recently pointed out that supplies of eggs now and during the coming months will make it possible to offer consumers this highly nutritious and outstanding protein food at bargain prices. Wholesale prices recently hit the lowest level in almost two years, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. Egg output, running some seven percent more than a year ago, will continue to provide larger than normal supplies at least through July.

As a result of all this abundance, eggs are at the top of USDA's Plentiful Foods List for April. And consumers should be finding prices on eggs increasingly attractive.

When considering the cost of eggs, remember that a carton weighs more than a pound (except for Peewees). For example, a dozen large size eggs - USDA graded - will weigh at less a pound and a half.

If these large eggs are selling for 60 cents a dozen, you are actually paying only 40 cents per pound - very reasonable for a pound of high protein food. At current prices, your egg purchase is even thriftier.

WHAT IS AN EGG?

What is an egg? Besides good eating and a cooking ingredient few homemakers would be without . . .an egg is a capsule of valuable nutrients.

Nature's "pre-packaged" food product is especially valued as a source of high quality protein, points out the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In fact, egg protein often is used as a standard to measure the value of protein in other foods.

The amount and quality of this protein make eggs a good alternate for meat. They can readily be "chalked up" as one of the two or more meat-type foods we should eat daily. And two eggs will supply as much as 20 percent of the high quality protein needed by an adult.

They also supply significant amounts of vitamin A, iron and riboflavin. Furthermore, eggs are one of the few foods that contain natural vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin.

Easily digested eggs make a valuable contribution to the food needs of growing children, adults and older people as well. For children, of course, growth promoting protein is essential; for older folks the same nutrient helps in repairs.

Even weight-reducers count on the capsule of nutrition. One large egg contains 80 calories - a reasonable "cost" for the food value supplied. More than half these calories, by the way, are in the yolk.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Eggs may appear on breakfast, brunch, lunch, snack or dinner menus. Then again, the egg may be in these meals . . . but not appear.

They have the amazing ability to perform different jobs in different situations and many times it is a hidden role, explains the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In cakes, breads, souffles and omelets, eggs do the LEAVENING. That is, they make these food creations lighter and fluffier.

Clear soups and consummes gain a crystal-like appearance by the addition of an egg just before serving. In this case, the egg plays a CLARIFYING role, driving unwanted particles to the bottom.

The THICKENING in custards, puddings and many sauces is another job performed by eggs.

To retard CRYSTALLIZATION in candies and icings. . . look to eggs again.

Naturally eggs make a popular GARNISH for canapes, salads and main dishes.

How do you keep the COATING on breaded poultry, meat and fish? Beaten egg! Likewise, it helps BIND TOGETHER croquettes, meat loaves and similar dishes.

And, for that tricky job of holding together oil and vinegar -- in mayonnaise and salad dressings -- an egg in hiding is the emulsifier.

EGGS IN HIDING

Wheat Crop Estimated

WASHINGTON AP -- The Agriculture Department estimated this year's drought-plagued winter wheat crop at 1,162,348,008 bushels.

This compared with last year's crop of 1,056,821,000 bushels and the 1961-65 average of 969,971,000. But it falls short of the record 1,282,860,000 bushels indicated last December after the crop had been seeded on an acreage 26 per cent larger than for the 1966 crop.

The largest winter wheat crop ever produced was 1,173,538,000 bushels in 1958.

The indicated production of winter wheat by states included Missouri 56,970,000 bushels.

Stocks on farms April 1 in bushels included:

Missouri 70,531,000 bushels.

Soybeans -- Missouri 5,980,000 bushels.

PRESIDENT RENE BARRIENTOS ORTUNO OF BOLIVIA and Drew Pearson embrace in the traditional Latin American manner when Pearson arrives at Santa Cruz, Bolivia, on a swing around Latin America preceding President Johnson's trip to the Summit Conference at Punta del Este. The white flecks are confetti.

CHARLESTON -- S. C. -- A U. S. Air Force automotive repairman from Bernie, Mo., is a member of an airlift wing cited for setting an unofficial world's record for low-altitude airdrops by C-141 Lockheed Starlifter aircraft.

Airman Second Class Guy A. Brigman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brigman of Bernie, supported the 437th Military Airlift Wing at Charleston AFB, S. C., in its recent test airdrop of 34 tons of cargo.

The payload, a string of 28 loaded pallets connected by cables, was paradropped from a 500-foot altitude at 160 miles per hour. The cargo hit a 120-foot square bullseye on the Starlifter's initial flight over the target zone.

Wing members conducted the test - part of a demonstration for a Military Airlift Command (MAC) headquarters inspection team -- to prove the vast potential of the huge new C-141. The test, combined with other capabilities demonstrated by the airman's unit, brought the wing a successful rating from MAC headquarters observers.

Airman Brigman's wing was the first unit on the East Coast to fly the C-141 on operational missions.

The airman is married to the former Karen S. Zieg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zieg of Marshal, Minn.

BILOXI, Miss. -- Airman Second Class Johnny M. Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gardner of 707 Troy St., Sikeston, Mo., has been graduated at Keesler AFB, Miss., from the training course for U. S. Air Force navigation equipment repairmen.

The airman, a graduate of Matthews (Mo.) High School, is being assigned to Sewart AFB, Tenn., for duty with the Tactical Air Command.

Pearson Visit Precedes LBJ Latin Call

WASHINGTON -- The fact that Drew Pearson and Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren visited Latin America together preliminary to President Johnson's trip there for the summit conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay, focuses attention on the fact that Pearson is the most widely read columnist in the world.

Drew Pearson's column not only appears in almost 700 newspapers in the United States, twice as many as in any other Washington columnist, but also in 30 newspapers in foreign countries. While figures on the usage of other American columnists abroad are not available, it is believed that no other columnists matches the foreign circulation of the Merry-Go-Round by Drew Pearson and his associate, Jack Anderson.

The widespread publication of the column in Latin America caused Pearson to be recognized as a celebrity by officials, journalists and readers wherever he traveled.

The column appears in newspapers in La Paz, Bolivia; Santiago, Chile; Bogota and Cali, Colombis; Santo Domingo, the Republic of Santo Domingo; Guayaquil, Ecuador; Guatemala City, Guatemala; San Pedro Sula, Honduras; Laredo, Juarez, Merida, Obregon, Monterrey and Mexico City, Mexico; Panama; San Juan, Puerto Rico; San Salvador, El Salvador; Maracaibo and Caracas, Venezuela, all in Latin America.

In Mexico City and Caracus, his column appears in two papers, one in Spanish and one in English.

The Merry-Go-Round column always appears in Weisbaden, Germany; Saloniki, Greece; Shizuoka and two papers in Tokyo, Japan; Manila; Philippines; Geneva, Switzerland; and Luanda, Portuguese West Africa. It also appears in Spanish language newspapers in Miami and Los Angeles, which are widely circulated overseas.

In addition, Pearson and Anderson are frequently quoted in newspapers in Britain, France, Italy and other European countries and Israel.

UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES

The month of April, a time of beauty as spring breaks over the American landscape, this year may be marred by ugly political realities. At midmonth, for example, it is expected that anarchists and "peaceniks" in the Northeast will coverage on New York City to conduct massive demonstrations at the gates of the United Nations building against U.S. defense of freedom in South Vietnam.

According to reliable reports, these demonstrations are likely to be the largest ever carried out by radical elements in the nation. Among the prominent participants, it is believed, will be the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., who is shifting his attention from "civil rights" strife campaigns to the anti-Vietnam campaign.

The worsening of the battlefield situation of the communists in Vietnam lies behind the new urgency with which domestic radicals are approaching the April demonstrations. The homefront leftists realize that the communists troops in Vietnam are facing annihilation and that public pressure is mounting for stepped-up air and naval attacks against Communist North Vietnam. Thus they clearly intend to pull out all the stops in demonstrations inside the U. S. A. They are reported to be seeking bloody clashes with police authorities. In particular, they want a real clash at the gates of the U.N. building, in order to make the Vietniks here appear as martyrs. They also believe that massive anti-Vietnam demonstrations in the U.S.A. will produce even stronger anti-American declarations by the Afro-Asian bloc in the U.N. and by U Thant, Secretary-General of the U.N. U Thant already has clearly indicated that his sympathies lie with Hanoi, not Saigon.

The demonstrations planned for New York City are only part of a new drive by the pro-communist forces to gain power in the United States and to eliminate anti-communist activities on the part of the U.S. government.

Insufficient attention has been paid to what is known as "The States. Reference here is to the ultra-leftwing sheets which have begun to appear in several cities and on a number of campuses. These small newspapers have as their principal target the stopping of American efforts in Vietnam. To this end, they endorse every conceivable assault on public authority and public decencies. They approve the flight of young peaceniks to Canada, where they have a safe harbor as draft-dodgers. They recommend films produced by or in behalf of the Viet Cong. Among their various editorial proposals are projects that are utterly obscene and perverted, which cannot be described in family newspapers, but which are in effort to degrade public officials.

It should be realized, too, that "The Underground Press" stresses "free speech campaigns" involving filthy language and recommends the showing of pornographic films. Realistic observers of these gutter sheets understand that the endorsement of pornography in print and on film is a calculated effort to undermine the morality of the American people. In an effort to weaken the fabric of our nation, these journals and their sponsors hope to turn loose a flood of pornographic material.

In this connection, the national public should know that in recent months one of these "underground" papers distributed 70,000 copies of one of its filthiest issues to elementary school children on New York City's East Side. Now, it is obvious that printing and distribution of 70,000 copies of a gutter sheet is a costly proposition. Public agencies and private citizens should inquire as to the source of the money for this project. Indeed it is time that the House Committee on Un-American Activities, or other suitable agencies of Congress, conduct a full-scale investigation of the actions and financial backing of "The Underground Press". Some well informed journalists, who have devoted years to the study of Communists Party operations in the United States, are certain that the money for both the upcoming demonstrations and the continuing and accelerated pornography campaign is coming from communists sources.

The danger is that the public will imagine that the war in Vietnam is a one-front war. The truth is that the front is everywhere, including here on the home front. Among the targets of the communists are not only soldiers in the Pacific but the youth people of our nation, the students who will be the leaders of tomorrow. This is why it is imperative that there be an immediate investigation of what lies behind these new un-American activities.

UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES

The month of April, a time of beauty as spring breaks over the American landscape, this year may be marred by ugly political realities. At midmonth, for example, it is expected that anarchists and "peaceniks" in the Northeast will coverage on New York City to conduct massive demonstrations at the gates of the United Nations building against U.S. defense of freedom in South Vietnam.

According to reliable reports, these demonstrations are likely to be the largest ever carried out by radical elements in the nation. Among the prominent participants, it is believed, will be the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., who is shifting his attention from "civil rights" strife campaigns to the anti-Vietnam campaign.

The worsening of the battlefield situation of the communists in Vietnam lies behind the new urgency with which domestic radicals are approaching the April demonstrations. The homefront leftists realize that the communists troops in Vietnam are facing annihilation and that public pressure is mounting for stepped-up air and naval attacks against Communist North Vietnam. Thus they clearly intend to pull out all the stops in demonstrations inside the U. S. A. They are reported to be seeking bloody clashes with police authorities. In particular, they want a real clash at the gates of the U.N. building, in order to make the Vietniks here appear as martyrs. They also believe that massive anti-Vietnam demonstrations in the U.S.A. will produce even stronger anti-American declarations by the Afro-Asian bloc in the U.N. and by U Thant, Secretary-General of the U.N. U Thant already has clearly indicated that his sympathies lie with Hanoi, not Saigon.

The demonstrations planned for New York City are only part of a new drive by the pro-communist forces to gain power in the United States and to eliminate anti-communist activities on the part of the U.S. government.

Insufficient attention has been paid to what is known as "The States. Reference here is to the ultra-leftwing sheets which have begun to appear in several cities and on a number of campuses. These small newspapers have as their principal target the stopping of American efforts in Vietnam. To this end, they endorse every conceivable assault on public authority and public decencies. They approve the flight of young peaceniks to Canada, where they have a safe harbor as draft-dodgers. They recommend films produced by or in behalf of the Viet Cong. Among their various editorial proposals are projects that are utterly obscene and perverted, which cannot be described in family newspapers, but which are in effort to degrade public officials.

It should be realized, too, that "The Underground Press" stresses "free speech campaigns" involving filthy language and recommends the showing of pornographic films. Realistic observers of these gutter-sheets understand that the endorsement of pornography in print and on film is a calculated effort to undermine the morality of the American people. In an effort to weaken the fabric of our nation, these journals and their sponsors hope to turn loose a flood of pornographic material.

In this connection, the national public should know that in recent months one of these "underground" papers distributed 70,000 copies of one of its filthiest issues to elementary school children on New York City's East Side. Now, it is obvious that printing and distribution of 70,000 copies of a gutter sheet is a costly proposition. Public agencies and private citizens should inquire as to the source of the money for this project. Indeed it is time that the House Committee on Un-American Activities, or other suitable agencies of Congress, conduct a full-scale investigation of the actions and financial backing of "The Underground Press". Some well informed journalists, who have devoted years to the study of Communists Party operations in the United States, are certain that the money for both the upcoming demonstrations and the continuing and accelerated pornography campaign is coming from communists sources.

The danger is that the public will imagine that the war in Vietnam is a one-front war. The truth is that the front is everywhere, including here on the home front. Among the targets of the communists are not only soldiers in the Pacific but the youth people of our nation, the students who will be the leaders of tomorrow. This is why it is imperative that there be an immediate investigation of what lies behind these new un-American activities.

(G0720) USS ENTERPRISE (CVAM - 65) (FHTNC) -- Machinist's Mate Third Class Richard G. Holt, UNS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Holt of Route 1, Dexter, Mo., is at sea off the coast of North Vietnam as a crewman aboard the world's largest warship, the nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier USS Enterprise.

With her angled flight deck four and a quarter acres in area, the mighty "E" has a complement of 120 officers, and nearly 3,000 men. As part of the ship's crew, he helps to launch and recover the approximate 100 planes attached to the various air squadrons. These planes are flying round-the-clock air strikes over enemy targets in support of U.S. and allied forces.

As their primary targets, pilots are attacking the railroads, bridges, troop concentration areas, and supply routes which are so vital to the enemy's war effort.

The Enterprise is homeported in Alameda, Calif.
